HOUSE LEADERS LAY PLANS FOR TAX BILL DRIVE

Substitute Program to Balance Budget Is Due Today.

GARNER WILL SPEAK IN SUPPORT OF PLAN

Committee Conceals Details to Prevent Protests by Affected Interests.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

House leaders yesterday developed plans for a last intensive drive to whip through the rebellious House, which has repeatedly overthrown them, a budget-balancing tax bill to raise more than a billion dollars in the next fiscal year.

The program is expected to be submitted today and Speaker John N. Garner (Democrat), of Texas, is to take the floor in an effort to drive through the program which will be offered by the ways and means committee as a substitute for the $600,000,000 sales tax section which was knocked out of the original committee bill.

The strategy of the leaders was indicated by the secrecy with which they surorunded their various conferences and meetings through yesterday and last night.

Would Act Before Protests.

Although the special subcommittee headed by Representative Heartsill Ragon (Democrat), of Arkansas, completed draft of its substitute program last night, no details were disclosed. Leaders said the program would not be made public until it is submitted by the full committee on the floor of the House. They are tired of the belaboring they have received from every interest or industry it has been proposed to tax to get the required revenue to balance the budget. They intend to submit the substitute program to the House before the various interests have time to deluge members with protests.

The substitute program will comprise various special taxes and various changes in the administration provisions of the tax law. Representative Ragon said that it would raise adequate revenues to replace the manufacturers' sales tax.

One of the important changes the committee has decided on is a change in the provision permitting consolidated tax returns. There is considerable strength on both sides of that argument in the House membership and a sort of a Solomon substitute has been drafted.

Tax on Stock Transactions.

It is aimed against consolidated tax returns, but they will permit consolidated returns by large holding companies if they are willing to pay a higher tax rate on the consolidated return than they would have to pay if they submitted individual returns for their various units.

Another provision calls for increased levies on stock exchange transactions. The Ragon subcommittee discussed this with representatives of the New York Federal Reserve Bank and the counsel and economist of the New York Stock Exchange at their meeting which did not end until 11 o'clock last night.

Other provisions of the substitute program are understood to include increased postage charges, including increase from 2 to 3 cents in the first-class postage rate; a percentage tax on the f. o. b. price of passenger automobiles, trucks and parts; tax on radios and phonographs; on cos-

Harris Undergoes Blood Transfusion

Georgia Senator Reported Stronger; Is Declared Seriously Ill.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Harris, of Georgia, was reported stronger last night after a blood transfusion to which physicians resorted when he suffered complications from a recent operation.

The senator is seriously ill and weak, but his temperature was declared normal and physicians were hopeful of a turn for the better. Intestinal complications have developed, following an abdominal operation.

The attending physician described the illness as a recurrance of intestinal trouble suffered by the 64-year-old Georgian prior to his operation.

The blood transfusion was made at the senator's home here to which he was removid last week from the hospital when apparently well on the road to recovery. The name of the person supplying the blood was not disclosed.

Close House Vote Is Seen On Pay Slash

While the House economy committee again delayed action on Federal pay cuts, a labor poll of House sentiment yesterday pointed to a "close vote" on any bill reported out by the committee, Edward R. McGrady, legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor, made known last night.

He said the poll has not proceeded to the point where he can predict defeat of pay cut legislation. The count will be finished some time tomorrow. Meanwhile labor representatives have assurances that no action will be taken by the House for three or four days.

"I don't see very well how anything can be done by the House within that time," said Appropriations Chairman Joseph W. Byrns. "The revenue bill probably will take all week."

The economy committee will meet again today for the first time since Friday, but there is no assurance that pay cuts will be discussed.

It was made clear, however, that the group has by no means abandoned the pay cut project, despite the trend in House opinion away from salary reduction. Leaders again expressed the opinion that members of the committee "will agree on some bill."

Chairman Byrns is one member of the committee who has not been won over to the Bureau of Efficiency's plan of a 11 per cent reduction in pay, with $1,000 exemption. Despite Director Herbert D. Brown's contention that the plan provides in effect a graduated scale of reduction, it is still a "flat cut" in Mr. Byrns' estimation. He wants reductions grad-

RAIL LOAN PRESSURE CHARGED IN SENATE

Couzens and Borah Attack Awarding of $12,800,000 to Missouri Pacific.

(Associated Press.)

A railroad loan "reluctantly" approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission stirred up a storm in the Senate yesterday and brought charges that pressure had been brought to bear upon the transportation tribunal.

Senators Couzens (Republican), of Michigan, and Borah (Republican), of Idaho, authors of the accusations, denounced the $12,800,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the Missouri Pacific Railroad, $5,850,000 of which was intended for payments on notes held by New York banking houses.

When Couzens, who is chairman of the interstate commerce committee, said he would speak today on the results of an inquiry he is making, Senator Johnson (Republican), of California, suggested that he discuss "government of, for and by the international bankers." Couzens replied:

"What I have in mind is not so much the international bankers as it is the Van Sweringens and the treasurer of the Republican national committee (J. R. Nutt, of Cleveland), who have been more effective in this matter than the international bankers."

Senator Borah brought up the subject, calling attention to the fact that nearly half the loan was to go to the bankers and noting that the commission had said it approved the advance with reluctance and "yielded its views" to those of the Reconstruction Corporation.

"I am informed that every form of pressure within reason and perhaps decency was used to bring about this decision on the part of the Interstate Commerce Commission," Borah said. "I think an effort to control the commission in this way is worthy of note."

Couzens observed that newspaper stories said at least one member of Chemical Society Gives Medal to Dr. Parsons

New Orleans, March 28 (A.P.).—Award of the Priestly Medal of the American Chemical Society to Dr. Charles L. Parsons, of Washington, D. C., was announced tonight. Dr. Parsons is one of the best-known chemists in the United States. He is a native of New Marlboro, Mass., a Cornell graduate and for 25 years secretary of the American Chemical Society. He is credited with much of the work in building it to its 19,000 membership.

Dr. Parsons lives at 3414 Newark street northwest.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, March 28 (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin, en route from Brazil to its home port here, flew over Malaga, Spain, at 9 p. m., central European time (3 p. m. Eastern standard time).

ADKINS' RULING TO UPHOLD CAB METERS TODAY

Prolonged Litigation Over P. U. C. Order Due to Come to End.

DECISION WILL TAKE EFFECT IN 60 DAYS

Slightly Increased Rates Are Provided; Blanton Raps Taxi Concessions.

The prolonged litigation over the Public Utilities Commission's order requiring all taxicabs in Washington to be equipped with meters will be ended today when Justice Jesse C. Adkins, of District Supreme Court, sustains the order as legal and fair. Justice Adkins completed his decision yesterday, it was learned on good authority, but was not prepared to announce it until today.

Announcement of the court's decision will not mean that all cabs will be required to install meters at once, however, because the commission had previously stated that the effective date of the order was postpond until 60 days after the court ruling, providing, of course, it was sustained.

Justice Adkins' decision not only overrides the contentions of People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech, the Federation of Citizens Associations and the appeals of the City and Bell cab corporations, but it also rises above the resolution of the House of Representatives asking the commission to revoke the order.

Is Victory for Roberts.

The court's ruling is an especial victory for William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, who fought almost single-handed for the order through the several hearings. His final brief in defense of the meter requirement comprised more than 130 mimeographed pages.

The legal fight over the meter order began late last fall and resulted in several postponements of its effective date, which was at first set for January 10. The City and the Bell Cab corporations, leaders in the zone system and active in the rental cab business, led the industry's onslaught, while the people's counsel attacked the proposed reversion to meter operation in behalf of the riding public, which has appeared largely in favor of the present zone system.

The rates set forth in the order are as follows: 25 cents for the first 2 miles and 5 cents for each additional third of a mile with registration based entirely on a distance measurement. The only charge allowed for time is 10 cents for each five minutes a cab waits at the request of the patron. No charge is permitted for waits of less than five minutes. No charges are allowed for additional passengers.

Better Livelihood for Drivers.

The commission contends that the meter system will provide a better livelihood for the drivers without greatly raising the cost to the public.

Priest to Rally Million Jobless

Father Cox Plans Parley in Blue at St. Louis on August 17.

Pittsburgh, March 28 (A.P.).—The priest who led the jobless march on Washington, announced tonight after a Nation-wide survey that "a million unemployed" will gather in St. Louis in August for a national convention. Every individual will wear the shirt of blue adopted by the jobless party.

His Easter services at an end, the Rev. James R. Cox, fiery pastor of old St. Patrick's Catholic Church, delved into stacks of letters and reports from his lieutenants in all sections of the country and explained that groups of men and women are organizing everywhere. These groups are formed into bands of 50, with a captain and two lieutenants.

The convention of the jobless, which will be held in the open air, will begin Wednesday, August 17. However, the march to St. Louis will begin the first week in August.

Prison Guards to Fire On Low-Flying Planes

McAlester, Okla., March 28 (A.P.).—Guards at the State penitentiary here have been ordered by Warden Sam Brown to fire on airplanes that fly over the prison at an altitude of less than 1,500 feet. Special long-range rifles have been given to the guards. The weapons, however, are not anti-aircraft guns.

Warden Brown said warnings sent to airports over the State that planes should not fly over the prison led to erroneous reports today that a plot existed to bomb the penitentiary.

Wood Calls Shouse Slanderer of Hoover

Democratic Chairman Charged Over Radio With Misrepresenting President in Three Statements Regarding Budget and Tax Bill.

(Associated Press.)

Charging slander and misrepresentation to Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, Representative Wood (Republican), Indiana, last night made a vigorous denial of accusations against President Hoover by the Democratic spokesman in a recent radio address.

"Mr. Shouse made three utterly false charges against the Chief Executive of the United States," Mr. Wood, also speaking by radio, said. "First, that it was not until last Saturday that President Hoover made any appeal to the Congress or to the American people to balance the budget. Second, that the existing deficit was created by this Republican administration. Third, that President Hoover introduced partisan politics into the present effort upon the part of the House of Representatives to pass the tax bill."

Taking the charges one by one, Mr. Wood said the record shows President Hoover "uttered his first warning against increasing and unwarranted Federal expenditures which would, if persisted in, unbalance the budget, as early as December 9, 1930, nearly two years ago."

Mr. Wood went on to say that the President made a similar plea in addressing the American Legion last September, and also in his annual message to Congress at the beginning of the present session, and in the budget message which followed it by a few days.

"In a special message to Congress on January 4, this year," Mr. Wood added, "he (the President) renewed his appeal, stating that 'the country must have confidence that the credit and stability of the Federal Government will be maintained by drastic economy in expenditures' * * *

DELEGATES PLEDGED TO REED IN ST. LOUIS

Missouri Democrats Solid in Backing Former Senator for Presidency.

St. Louis, March 28 (A.P.).—The Missouri State Democratic convention tonight "whole-heartedly and unqualifiedly" indorsed former United States Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, for the presidential nomination, but did not instruct its delegates to support him "until personally released" by Mr. Reed, as was the case four years ago.

The indorsement, while lavish in praise of the fiery Missourian, was regarded as a compromise between his friends and those who were opposed "to the last ditch" instructions.

Members of the "big eight" to the national convention, who were put through by Thomas J. Pendergast, Kansas City organization leader, are decidedly friendly to Mr. Reed, as are the district delegates.

The resolution indorsing Reed was the only one reported out by the resolutions committee. It said the Republican party has "proven its unfitness in the administration of government" and that a Democratic victory "means a return to honest, economic and popular government."

An effort to put through an anti-prohibition resolution met with failure. Other controversial issues likewise were ignored.

The "big eight" named to the national committee are former Gov. Frederick D. Gardner, of St. Louis; Frank C. Niles, of Kansas City; Judge William T. Ragland, of Paris, a mem-

Snipers at Ohio Mine Renew Labor Troubles

New Philadelphia, Ohio, March 28 (A.P.).—Several rifle shots, fired from ambush, penetrated the tipple of the Wolford mine, south of Newport, late today in a renewal of labor troubles in the Tuscarawas County field.

Mine guards, manning machine guns, did not reutrn the fire nor could they locate the position of the snipers.

REBELS SWEEP ON TOWARD CHANGCHUN

Japanese Suffer Heavily in Fighting Near Nungan With Chinese.

Changchun, Manchuria, (Thursday), March 29 (A.P.).—Rebellious Chinese troops in Eastern Kirin Province were threatening today to march on Changchun, the capital of the new Manchurian state, and strong Japanese forces including bombing planes were sent out to stop them.

Japanese forces from Mukden and Changchun, including most branches of the military service, were en route to Nungan, some 35 miles northeast of Changchun, where Chinese rebels under Li Hai Tsing, some 7,000 strong, were about to capture the city.

The rebel headquarters were at Puyu, and they controlled the nearby territory south of Nungan. If they captured Nungan they would be in a position to attack Changchun.

Li Hai Tsing's insurgents apparently had defeated Hsi Hsia's Kirin regulars outside the town, which was reported on the verge of surrender. The small Japanese detachments previously sent from Changchun to Nungan radioed for help today, and said they had suffered many casualties in desperate fighting.

The insurgents apparently had suffered desperately as well, especially from Japanese aerial bombings.

Nanking, March 28 (A.P.).—Protection of China's territorial and administrative integrity must be a condition of any settlement of the Sino-Japanese conflict, Lord Lytton, chairman of the League of Nations inquiry commission, told a group of

$30,000,000 to Be Paid By Britain to U.S. Today

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Announcement was made today that the British treasury would repay tomorrow $30,000,000 of the $200,000,000 credit obtained last summer from an American banking syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co.

Great Britain recently made a payment of $150,000,000 on this account, so that only $20,000,000 will remain outstanding. The credit was obtained for support of the pound sterling.

11,000 Brave Weather to Go To White House Egg Rolling

President and Mrs. Hoover Are Wildly Applauded by Children; Dances and Band Concert Add to Entertainment of Visitors.

Soggy ground and a stiff breeze did not deter a crowd of more than 11,000, most of whom were children, from making the best of the annual Easter egg-rolling party at the White House yesterday.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover helped save the day by mingling with the crowd, representing a cross section of the Capital's children, distributing colored eggs from a basket and greeting boys and girls who will probably remember the occasion with pride the remainder of their lives.

Many of the young guests also saw the President, who appeared after luncheon on his way to his office. Standing beside Mrs. Hoover on the South Portico, the Chief Executive waved to the youngsters on the lawn below, while the First Lady waved a handkerchief to the children to whom she had given Easter eggs.

Tiny hands clapped excitedly as the Chief Executive made his appearance, and happy boys and girls forgot the wet ground and the uncomfortable wind.

Only some 3,000 braved the rainy morning to roll their eggs on the sloping White House lawns, but by afternoon, when the skies cleared, thousands poured through the south gates, accompanied by mothers and fathers. An official check by White House guards revealed that 11,240 grown-ups and children had been present.

A party inside the White House was attended by 708 invited guests consisting of about 300 children of Government officials and their parents. The children filed by Mrs. Hoover in the green room, who presented each of them with a colored egg. After that they were entertained with colonial dances by children in the east room. The party was com-

POLICE SHIELD YOUNG IN FOUR SOCIETY HOMES

Inspector Burke Brands Demands for Money Vicious Hoaxes.

PROTECTION IS HELD ROUTINE NECESSITY

Glassford Says 15 Threats Have Been Delivered by Mail and Phone.

Guards have been placed over the children of at least four socially prominent families which have been the recipients of demands for money under threat of harm to their children, Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, announced last night. Their names are being withheld by police.

Though Inspector Frank S. W. Burke frankly labels the threats as "hoaxes of the most vicious character performed by persons with a badly perverted sense of humor," the police, as a routine procedure, are shielding the children.

Conclusions of Experts.

In all, Gen. Glassford said, there have been at least fifteen threats, both telephonic and by mail, to prominent Capital families, threatening violence. In all cases except the attempt to extort $1,500 from Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, there have been threats against children.

Expert analysis of the two notes sent to Mrs. Longworth, the two notes sent to Sir Wilmott Lewis, Washington correspondent for the London Times, and those sent to Edward L. Hillyer, vice president of the Union Trust Co., and Ben Lyon, movie actor, showed that none of the notes had been written on any of the 35 typewriters which have been scrutinized by police.

In declining to make public the names of the families receiving the latest threats, Gen. Glassford said he is adhering to requests of the families, and is likewise following his own belief that publicity serves only to activate the sender of the threats.

Conclusions of Experts.

The conclusions of the Bureau of Standards experts who examined the several notes are: 1. That the two notes to Mrs. Longworth were written on the same typewriter. 2. The notes to Sir Willmott, threatening his child, Willmott, jr., were written on the same typewriter. 3. The notes written to Mr. Hillyer and Ben Lyon were written on the same typewriter. 4. Experts were unable to link the Longworth to the Lewis case by the typing, nor were they able to link either of these cases with the Lyon and Hillyer cases.

A 24-hour vigil is still being maintained at the home of Sir Willmott and of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Porter Davidson, whose 6-year-old daughter, Daisy, has been the object of two telephonic threats. Other homes are be-

Trophy Explosion Costs Boy's Hand

Member Amputated After Being Mangled by Old Shell.

A cartridge that exploded in his hand while he was playing with it yesterday afternoon caused James Scott Appleby, 10, of 2501 Thirtieth street, to lose his right hand in an amputation operation at Emergency Hospital.

The boy, son of a wealthy real estate dealer, was playing with the shell in his father's trophy room when the explosion occurred. It was part of a collection of old shells and guns his father had gathered.

He was alone in the room at the time, and his mother, in another part of the house, ran to him when she heard the explosion and immediately rushed him to the hospital. A window in the trophy room was cracked and part of the shell pierced the ceiling.

Dr. John Lyon performed the operation and later pronounced the boy's condition as "fairly good." The child's hand was so badly lacerated that it was impossible to save it.

$100,000,000 Treasury Issue Is Oversubscribed

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Mills announced yesterday that applications totaling $360,198,000 had been received for the Treasury tender of $100,000,000 in 91-day bills dated March 30, and $102,169,000 accepted.

The highest bid made was 99.545, equivalent to an annual interest rate of about 1.80 per cent. The lowest bid accepted was 99.459.

Arms Parley Succeeding, Davis Reports

(United Press.)

A hopeful report on the work of the world disarmament conference was given the State Department yesterday by Norman Davis, American delegate, here to give and receive advice on the arms problem.

Secretary Stimson was confined to his estate, Woodley, yesterday by a tenacious cold and was unable to talk with Davis, so the latter made his report to Undersecretary Castle. Stimson hopes to confer with Davis today or at least before he sails to rejoin his colleagues in Geneva on April 11.

Davis declined to discuss the Geneva conference for publication, but from various advices reaching Washington it appears the statesmen in Geneva are basing hopes of success largely on three developments:

1. France and Great Britain are making a serious effort to foster a tariff union among the Danubian states—Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Jugoslavia. While the primary purpose of the union is to relieve economic and financial distress among these states, torn from their natural trade moorings by the Versailles treaty, it also has salient political implications. For, observers believe, the union would end the threat of an economic "anschluss," or union, between Germany and Austria, feared by France.

2. A tabulation of disarmament offers by various countries, while revealing the desire of each nation to discard only the weapons it can not use, also has revealed a general willingness to stabilize weapons at their present level. Such an agreement, although disappointing to disarmament enthusiasts, would be regarded by

VIRGINIA GALE KILLS ONE; MANY INJURED

Stores, Residences, Barns and Mills Demolished in Three Counties.

Loretto, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Leslie Dishman, 8, was fatally injured and his parents and two brothers were seriously hurt when their Essex County home was demolished by a twisting windstorm here today.

The Dishman home collapsed as the storm swept through the village, blowing the roof off the chapel, smashing windows and blowing down telephone lines and trees. The boy died within a few hours.

Centerville, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Violent wind with a cyclonic twist swept this village today, destroying at least half of its buildings and injuring four persons.

Preceded by a heavy rain the twister spun through a half-mile path in lower Goochland County, leaving in its wake damage estimated at $100,000.

Leaving wrecked homes, barns and mills here, it struck again with equal violence at Casco in Hanover County, 8 miles away, where the home of Mrs. Daisy Tiller was damaged and her outhouses were demolished. Most of its force was spent before it reached Ashland, Richmond, on the outer edge of the gale's course was reported to have escaped with minor wire difficulties.

Susie and George James were injured when their house here collapsed. The man suffered severe leg injuries, and the woman was hurt internally.

Members of Walter S. Ellis' family narrowly escaped serious injury when the boarding of a nearby barn was blown through the side of their residence. The roof was blown from the house and the windows were shattered.

During the fury of the storm which killed 3,000 baby chicks and 400 hens on his poultry farm, the wind blew over one of the brooders and it im-

Senate in New Jersey Defeats Repeal Bill

Argentine Congress Convenes on Budget

Buenos Aires, March 28 (A.P.).—The Congress of Argentina met in special session this afternoon to join its efforts with those of the cabinet to balance the budget and put Argentina's financial affairs on a sound basis.

One of the first tasks will be to authorize a loan of 500,000,000 pesos ($125,000,000) to meet pressing indebtedness, and to put the internal taxation program inherited from the recent de facto government into a permanent form.

NORFOLK DEAN MAKES REPORT TO LINDBERGH

Contact With Kidnapers Described by Him at Hopewell.

CLERGYMAN BRAVES STORM IN AIRPLANE

Tells Reporters That Intervenors Are Optimistic Over Progress.

Hopewell, N. J., March 28 (A.P.).—On a mission he considered so important that he flew nearly 300 miles through storms which had grounded most other planes, the dean of a Norfolk (Va.) church came here today to tell Col. Charles A. Lindbergh of a "contact made with the kidnapers" of the famous flier's son.

After an hour behind closed doors with the colonel the clergyman, the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, started back home with the statement there probably would be another conference with Lindbergh within three or four days.

He declined to discuss the information he had passed on to the father of the child who was stolen 27 days ago from his crib, but twice he spoke of the "optimism" he and two other prominent Norfolk residents, acting with him as intermediaries, have that the missing baby will be returned to his parents.

Holds "We Are Optimistic."

"The conference was the result of a contact made with the kidnapers," he said.

"Did Col. Lindbergh receive your information with optimism?" he was asked.

"I can not speak for Col. Lindbergh," he replied. "All I can say is that we are optimistic."

He apparently referred to himself, John H. Curtis, Norfolk boat builder, and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, who have been associated since March 9 in efforts to secure the return of the child.

Over the week-end Curtis made a mysterious airplane trip for the purpose of meeting the abductors. His associate, however, did not make it clear this afternoon whether the "contact" to which he referred had been made by Curtis on this trip or at some earlier time.

Denies Carrying Ransom.

He did, however, deny three reports in saying he was not taking back any ransom money, that he had not seen the kidnaped child, and that he had not brought to the Lindbergh home a piece of the baby's clothing as proof of the identity of the child held by those with whom the negotiations have been conducted.

Although Lieut. Richard Richard frowned when asked about the airplane trip and said the weather had been "pretty rough," Dean Dobson-Peacock said they were going to return immediately the way they had come, by car, to Philadelphia; by plane to Norfolk. He shook his head when asked if any ransom demands had been discussed at the conference.

Several hours after Dean Dobson-Peacock departed a formal police bulletin reiterated: "Col. Lindbergh does not believe the information obtained at Norfolk to be of specific significence in this case."

Curtis Has Never Seen Baby.

Norfolk, Va., March 28 (U.P.).—A telephonic message from the Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, to John H. Curtis late today said that Dean Dobson-Peacock was very optimistic after his conference with Col. Lindbergh. Curtis, on the other hand, declined to say whether he still shares the same optimism, previously expressed, that

COPPER DUTY URGED AS VITAL IN SENATE

Vandenberg Hits Democratic Bill to Curb President's Powers on Tariff.

(Associated Press.)

An insistent demand for a duty on copper was injected yesterday into the Senate's debate over the Democratic bill to revoke the President's power to change tariff rates.

Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, described the proposal for a tariff on copper "as a matter of life and death" and told the Senate "it would be nothing short of criminal neglect for Congress to adjourn" without providing for it.

Senator Vandenberg attacked the Democratic tariff plan on the ground it would give less flexibility while he said the country wants more. He proposed a substitute to give the President and the Tariff Commission more power instead of less. Under his proposal the present flexible tariff law would be amended to include provision for transfers to and from the free list by Congress after receiving the commission's findings and the President's recommendations.

The Democratic bill was strongly supported by Senator Walsh (Democrat), of Massachusetts, who said it would "do away forever with log rolling, that evil of tariff making."

Senator Walsh said that if the bill were approved there would never again be a general revision of the tariff, which, in the past, has been marked, he said, by "a series of swapping and exchanging of votes that has been shameful and has made the tariff bills filled with injustice."

Senator Austin (Republican), Vermont, in his first Senate speech, denied the bill would cure log rolling, and asserted it would provide "a cause for log rolling."

The present law, Senator Austin said, provides for a scientific correction of errors resulting from "log rolling" and the Democratic bill would return the flexible system to "the log rolling process of Congress."

Held Unemployment Down.

Defending the Hawley-Smoot law, Senator Vandenberg said unemployment would have been greater in this country without it and warned that "we can not escape further tragedy without additional tariffs."

"This may be true of oil," he said. "I know it is true of copper. It is true of copper under both Republican and Democratic tariff philosophy."

Asserting that nothing but a tariff would save the copper industry, Senator Vandenberg said Democrats who voted for it could not be criticized and there was "no excuse" for Republicans who did not.

The Michigan senator said the prices in copper had arisen from African competition arising since enactment of the Hawley-Smoot law and asserted it was "a shining example" for the need of a law to allow changes in the free list.

Telegrams Back Argument.

Senator Vandenberg read numerous telegrams to support his argument that unemployment would have been worse in this country without the protection afforded by the Hawley-Smoot law.

"The universal response," he said, "is that unemployment, far from being traceable to the tariff, would have been an infinitely greater burden on the American people without the tariff."

He also contended that the legislation had no chance to become law, because of President Hoover's opposition and that Congress therefore was only "shadow boxing."

WOOD CALLS SHOUSE HOOVER'S SLANDERER

"In view of this record, then, it is an exhibition of political mendacity for the official spokesman of the Democratic national committee to make the public charge that the President of the United States did not until last Saturday raise his voice in an effort to balance the budget."

Mr. Wood then took up what he termed "the second charge of Mr. Shouse, that the existing deficit is a Hoover deficit." He went into an analysis of Federal revenues outlining their decrease with the business slump. He blamed this as the principal factor behind the deficit, mentioning also increased appropriations which he said were necessary and supported by Democrats and Republicans alike.

He accused the Democrats of seeking to increase the deficit by exorbitant appropriations.

"Democratic members of the present Congress, * * * are already boasting of the fact that they are going to add another $2,000,000,000 to the existing deficit by the passage of another bonus bill," he said.

Mr. Wood said Mr. Shouse's charge of partisanship was based upon a statement of a third person, who, coming from the White House after the defeat of the sales tax last week, said the President characterized the tax measure as a Democratic bill.

"The President may or may not have so designated the bill," Mr. Wood continued. "He probably did not, as he had urged, Republicans to support the bill as a necessity because of the great crisis, even if they did not like this bill. If he did, he spoke the truth, and merely repeated what the Democratic leaders sponsoring the bill had already repeated on the floor of the House."

In conclusion, Mr. Wood said the Democrats, by deserting their leaders on the sales tax and other provisions of the revenue bill, had shown themselves unfit to govern the country.

"The leadership of the American people has been furnished by President Hoover for the last three years," he said. "It has been courageous and constructive."

TO RECEIVE MERIT REWARDS

The three firemen and three policemen selected to receive the gold, silver and bronze medals awarded each year to members of both services for meritorious service. Upper row, left to right: Acting Inspector R. G. Robert, Fire Department bronze medal, who discovered the author of two incendiary fires; Private Frank Neuman, Fire Department gold medal, who rescued a small boy from the path of fire apparatus; Capt. Chris D. Bartelmes, silver medal, burns caused him to lose his grip on a ladder and fall while attempting to rescue two women, but he returned and completed the rescue despite his injuries. Lower, left to right, are the three policemen: Private E. L. Baker, bronze medal, who captured an irate suitor holding a detail of police at bay by threatening the life of a young woman; Private Talmage C. Lewis, gold medal, who shot and killed a burglar in a gun fight, and Private F. B. Ashe, silver medal, who captured a man who had killed another.

RASKOB DESIGNATES CONVENTION GROUP

Arrangements Committee to Convene at Chicago Next Monday.

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Raskob, of the Democratic national committee, yesterday named the arrangements committee for the national convention and summoned it to meet next Monday in Chicago.

Selection of a temporary chairman for the convention who will deliver the keynote address is one of the main functions of the committee, which will be headed by Jouett Shouse, executive director of the national committee.

Shouse and Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, have been among those prominently mentioned for the keynote speaker. Barkley recently declared for Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, for the nomination.

Members of the committee will include the five vice chairmen: Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia; Frank Hague, of New Jersey; Scott Ferris, of Oklahoma; Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, of Wyoming, and Mrs. Florence Farley, of Kansas, and Robert Jackson, of New Hampshire, the secretary of the national committee. Other members are: J. Bruce Kremer, Montana; Norman E. Mack, New York; Isidore B. Dockweiler, California; Archibald McNeil, Connecticut; W. T. Kemper, Missouri; Arthur F. Mullen, Nebraska; George A. Collins, Colorado; John S. Cohen, Georgia; Vincent M. Miles, Arkansas; Joseph Wolf, Minnesota; Horatio J. Abbot, Michigan; Thomas D. Taggart, Indiana; Mrs. Bernice S. Pyke, Ohio; Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier, Texas; Mrs. Anna Struble, South Dakota, and Mrs. John Greenway, Arizona.

POLICE GUARD YOUNG IN 4 SOCIETY HOMES

ing guarded, according to Gen. Glassford, and he is unwilling to give the names of the persons concerned.

Since the first threat was received on Saturday, the Davidson child had not left the house until yesterday when she was taken for an automobile ride under guard of a detective. Her father is inclined to brand the threat as "ridiculous."

Both Gen. Glassford and Inspector Burke regard the incident of a telephone call by a newspaperman to the Davidson home, before the Davidsons had discussed the case with any one, as an odd circumstance. They incline to the belief that the "newspaperman may have been acting in good faith."

Mrs. Davidson received a second call on Sunday night which, she said, the voice said she would hear from him "further." The voice was higher pitched than the one which made the original demand for $2,000 when she was in a florist shop on Saturday afternoon.

Call Tracing Hampered.

What is giving the persons who are sending the threats the advantage over the police is that there is no way by which calls from dial telephones may be traced. Engineers from the telephone company, called into consultation by police, were unable to aid.

It is believed that an attempt was made yesterday to communicate with Mrs. Davidson. She was at the home of relatives and last night she denied that she had received a call.

Sam Lee, a cashier in the Lotus Restaurant, received a threat in the mail yesterday that he would be killed at 10 o'clock last night unless he discharged a colored dishwasher. So far as could be learned Lee was still alive at that hour.

GOVERNORS REFER STUDENTS TO COURT

Leaders of Tennessee and Kentucky Hear Protests on Mine Treatment.

Frankfort, Ky., March 28 (A.P.).—A group of travel-weary college students were told by Gov. Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky tonight he had no authority to redress alleged wrongs suffered by them at the hands of officers in Bell and Harlan Counties where they were ejected on their sociological research trip.

"You are applying to the wrong person," said the governor, after listening to charges of spokesmen of a delegation of 70 students they had been deprived of their constitutional rights in Kentucky. "I do not even have authority to issue a warrant, but the courts are open to you."

"You have my permission to have any one arrested," he remarked. "And if any one is convicted I'll not extend them any benefits of this office, I'll promise you that."

Gov. Laffoon remarked, "You're too easily bluffed," after one of the students said they had been forcibly ejected from Bell County.

Nashville, Tenn., March 28 (A.P.). The group of Eastern college students, who have been rebuffed in attempts to enter Kentucky for investigation of coal field conditions, today laid before Gov. Henry H. Horton their complaints of mistreatment by Tennessee officers in the border section.

After hearing the students' protest and discussing their motives in making the inspection tour, the governor advised them to seek court action if they desired redress.

the Interstate Commerce Commission was in conference with the railroad executives and the officers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation before the loan was agreed upon. "Senators may draw their own inference," he added.

The reconstruction corporation formally announced the loan yesterday. In approving it last week the Interstate Commerce Commission said the private loan to the railroad was held by the firms of J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the Guaranty Trust Co.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, joined in the discussion to express wonder that the interstate commerce committee had apparently disapproved the loan but had actually approved it.

Couzens was not ready to say last night whether he would ask a Senate investigation.

In bringing up the question, Borah read from the decision of the commerce commission stating it was "not convinced that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation should take up bank loans of this character."

The Missouri Pacific had an $11,700,000 loan from New York banks, including J. P. Morgan, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the Guaranty Trust Co., due April 1. The banks agreed to extend half of this loan and the subsequent loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was to meet the $5,750,000 due the bankers.

"I think it worthy of the attention of those who believe the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was created for certain purposes and not for the purpose of enabling banks to take advantage of the public treasury," Borah commented.

Senator Robinson observed that the law required that all loans to railroads be first approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission and pointed out that the commission had approved this particular loan. He asked that the Senate be informed if pressure was brought to bring about this approval.

Discussion of the case went over when the Senate was forced to resume its unfinished business—the tariff revision bill.

600 Pupils Quit Burning School.

Darlington, S. C., March 28 (A.P.). More than 600 pupils marched to safety today when fire threatened the Darlington Grammar School. Starting in the basement, flames spread to the auditorium and principal's office before they were extinguished in a stiff fight, made more difficult by high winds.

LONG ILLNESS FATAL TO LESLIE M. SHAW

Former Treasury Secretary Under Roosevelt Dies at Age of 84.

After an illness of nearly a month, Leslie M. Shaw, who was Secretary of the Treasury under President Roosevelt and a former Governor of Iowa, died at his apartment in the Wardman Park Hotel yesterday. He was 84 years old.

His death was due to the aftermath of an attack of pneumonia that developed when he made a trip to New York on business several weeks ago. Although he rallied from the initial attack the illness proved too severe for his advanced years.

Funeral services will be held at his hotel this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial will be at his former home at Denison, Iowa.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Leslie M. Shaw; a daughter, Mrs. John McMillan, and a son, Earl B. Shaw, of Milwaukee, Wis.

Known for his geniality and ready wit, Mr. Shaw was called to the post of Secretary of the Treasury following the succession of Roosevelt to the Presidency in 1901. He occupied the seat until 1907, when he left Washington to become president of the Carnegie Trust Co. of New York.

Twice Governor of Iowa.

Before coming to Washington he had served two terms as Governor of Iowa. He had previously practiced law and banking in various Iowa cities.

During his early years in banking, Mr. Shaw made a study of finance and was a leader for the gold standard when free silver was a political issue. This stand brought him the governorship and his knowledge of finance later resulted in the Treasury post.

Gov. Shaw had been mentioned as a possible successor to President McKinley, but these rumors were silenced when the President died. Later the possibility of a financial crisis brought his appointment to the secretaryship.

A native of Vermont, he was educated there and in Cornell College, Iowa. In 1876 he was graduated from Drake University with a law degree. He was born in Morristown, Vt.

Devoted to Church.

Following his retirement in 1925, he had resided at Wardman Park Hotel. Although retired, he kept in active touch with national affairs. On his eightieth birthday he delivered a campaign speech for President Hoover in Paterson, N. J.

His fatal illness was the result of a trip he made to attend the meeting of the board of the Cities Service Corporation of which he was a director. When he died he was writing a book on the tariff which he had titled the "American Payroll."

Two other of his books which had been published previously were: "Current Issues" and "Vanishing Landmarks." He also had served as a member of the Republican National Committee and was a delegate to the convention which nominated William Howard Taft.

Characteristic of Mr. Shaw was his devotion to the affairs of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Several times he served as delegate to the general conference of the church. He had been active in the refinancing of the Wardman Hotel property.

Friendship House Is Busy for Easter

Events for Boys and Girls Crowd Week at Settlement.

An ambitious program for Easter week has been mapped out for the various clubs of Friendship House, according to a program made public yesterday by Miss Lydia Burklin, head resident. A special Easter Monday square dance started the festivities at the Settlement House last night.

The Girls Adventure Club will have an outing to Great Falls today and the Mothers Club of Friendship House will enjoy a trip to Mount Vernon tomorrow. On Thursday the Day Home and club members will go to the Y. W. C. A. to see the "Pied Piper of Hamelin."

A special Easter dance and social for the Social Club members will be the entertainment on Friday evening and on Saturday there will be a party and entertainment for the Saturday Play Club and in the evening the Girls Annual Interclub spring banquet which will be followed by stunts by the various club members.

The week's program will conclude with a musicale from 5 to 6 next Sunday at which numbers by the Sing Song Glee Club and the Lucky Friday Glee Club boys will be given.

Crew Back in Port After Losing Ship

Had Narrow Escapes When Storm Lashed Them Across Ocean.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, March 28 (U.P.).—The crew of the Lunenburg schooner Mildred Adams arrived today aboard the liner Melita, after a voyage that began on New Year's Day and ended only after the sailors had been driven for days before a raging storm, shipwrecked and carried thousands of miles off their scheduled route from Newfoundland to Sydney.

The Mildred Adams left Newfoundland on a 250-mile voyage, but three days out she was struck by the storm, her canvas was ripped to shreds as she ran helplessly before the gale and the crew was fighting to keep the vessel afloat. With the leaking craft half full of water, Capt. Ernest Collett, of Gloucester, piloted her to within 7 miles of Corvo, most northerly island of the Azores group, and there she sank within sight of land.

The crew hauled out their one remaining dory and pulled for the shore. The surf capsized their boat and they were in danger of drowning on the coast until fishermen came to their aid and pulled them ashore.

HARVARD SCIENTISTS OBTAIN RARE PELTS

Dr. Donald S. Wees Writes of Giant Wolf and Huge Ant-Bear Bagged.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, March 28 (A.P.).—Up in the grand desert of Paraguay roamed a wolf five feet long with a black mane, and Dr. Donald S. Wees, exploring the area for the Harvard University Museum, is bringing back his pelt.

He also has the hide of a giant ant-bear with an enormous bushy tail and powerful forelegs tipped with three-inch claws. He is bringing back butterflies with six-inch wings and dragon flies with bodies an eighth of an inch wide and six inches long.

He reported bagging these trophies today in a letter to the Associated Press, dated February 11, from his camp on the Yguazu River, where he and two companions broke their journey in a hand-sawed cedar canoe. They are exploring the headwaters of the Parana River in a territory seldom visited by white men.

"The wolf," he wrote, "measured five feet. It is a soft brown pelt with a heavy black mane.

Ant-Bear Rare Species.

"We had quite a time with the ant-bear. It is a rare species and this one was a giant.

"We got in a shot that wounded him and trailed him into a thicket when he turned on us. We had to use a revolver, for the undergrowth was too thick to bring a rifle up to the shoulder. He was not more than an arm's length away, rearing on his hind feet with that enormous bushy tail to support him when the last shot dropped him.

"Even as he fell he was trying to reach me with those powerful forearms tipped with 3-inch claws, one clutch of which would have snapped every rib in my body.

"On the way up here we found the skeletons of another enormous ant bear and a South American tiger locked in a combat which had been fatal to both of them.

"Canoeing is at once easy and very difficult. A swift current carries the boat along, but we have to be very careful because we do not know when some submerged menace to navigation will leave us struggling in the water. We spend a great deal of time making motion pictures of the water wolves, the boars and the tapirs along the river.

Other Specimens Obtained.

"We have three skins of the dyakuafuti, which is the wild turkey of Umpau; an 8-inch beetle and a dragon fly whose body is 6 inches long and one-eighth of an inch wide. We also have some long butterflies, blue, green and white, which measure 6 inches across the wings.

"Sometimes the temperature is 104 degrees Fahrenheit with 90 per cent humidity."

Dr. Wees is from Elkins, W. Va.

In a previous letter he told about his troubles with insects—the polvorine and the yatebui and a brilliant butterfly which bites like a horsefly. He told about spider webs so big and so strong that they trap birds, and about how a man in the jungle learns to eat yellow worms and to consider braised alligator tail a delicacy.

Stranded Liner's Passengers Rescued.

Marseilles, France, March 28 (A.P.). Passengers and cargo were taken off the Fabre steamship Providence today. The vessel ran aground in the Greek Archipelago on Friday but line officials said she would be refloated soon.

Handbook on Marriage Should Be Encyclopedia

By JOHN J. DALY

A NEW handbook on marriage is soon to be published by the British Social Hygiene Council. It is designed for the guidance of the clergy, social workers, bachelors and spinsters, who are called upon from time to time to give advice to young couples.

Spokesmen for the council claim the new book will be the most complete treatise ever published on marriage—a subject dealt with by most of the eminent authors and authorities in all fields since the beginning of time, and which is yet to be exhausted.

If the new handbook lives up to its promises, nothing more need be said, of course—and all will be well with the world.

• • • •

MARRIAGE is the most fascinating of subjects. Those who are married wonder what they would do if they were not married. Those who are not married try to imagine what life would be like if they were married. The thought captivates the human mind, both ways—going and coming.

It has been said that marriage is a 50-50 proposition. It is, and it is not. The percentage runs all the way from 90-10 to 10-90, even 99-1, and 1-99—not to mention a lot of unknown equations, such as x plus y equals z.

Marriage is the alpha and omega of life, the entire multiplication table, the beginning and the end of all human knowledge, the sine qua non—without which there would be no reason for most of life's activities, including butcher shops, bakeries and public utilities. Yes, marriage keeps the street cars moving, with little children going to school.

• • • •

THAT any one, even a council, considers it possible to put all the varying circumstances of married life between the covers of a book—even a novel—proves that there still is an active amount of optimism in the world. A handbook? A five-foot shelf is not adequate.

Marriage, by its very nature, calls for an entire library. Even then the surface would be merely scratched.

Old men, celebrating their golden wedding anniversaries, admit when cornered that they are just beginning to wonder—not know—what it is all about. The only ones sure of themselves are the young couples, announcing their engagements, who even then call on a council for advice.

A handbook on marriage? Make it an encyclopedia.

HOOVER FELICITATES BANK ON REOPENING

Sends Telegram to President of the Institution in Mississippi.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday congratulated F. H. Parker, president of the Canton (Miss.) Exchange Bank upon the reopening of that institution through the aid of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The President made public a telegram from Parker stating the bank was closed November 25, due to heavy withdrawals, although entirely solvent. He reported aid had been given by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, adding:

"We naturally feel very grateful to the board in Washington and want you to know that the remedial legislation which Congress enacted is producing some genuine good."

Reopening Is Gratifying.

The President's telegram in reply follows in full:

"It is extremely gratifying to learn that the Canton Exchange Bank, through the cooperation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the State Banking Department of Mississippi has reopened its doors, resuming a service covering a span of more than 50 years.

"Yours is a community which now realizes how dependent every individual in the town is upon the continuous functioning of our institutions, and in restoring this service to them you are serving the community."

$200,000,000 Brought Out.

Secretary Mills yesterday said more than $200,000,000 has been brought into commercial channels since the administration announced its anti-hoarding campaign.

He reported that money in circulation had decreased $201,000,000 between February 6 and March 26, after making allowance for seasonal adjustments. Money in circulation includes money hoarded.

Mills said this decrease was brought about by a strengthened banking structure and increased confidence as a result of reconstruction loans to business.

WESTERN MARYLAND ROADS ARE BLOCKED

Heavy Snowdrifts Disrupt Traffic and Wire Service; Funeral Postponed.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., March 28.—The National Highway westward from the top of Big Savage Mountain, 2 miles beyond Frostburg to the Pennsylvania line, is closed by drifts and tourists are turning back. A high wind is piling the 15-inch snowfall into drifts 8 and 10 feet and in the face of it the State roads commission plows can make little progress. Work is further hindered by scores of abandoned automobiles buried in snow along the highway.

Many are snowbound in their homes in Frostburg and the snow is so deep that the funeral of Raymond Colegan, World War veteran, which was to have been held this morning was postponed until tomorrow because it was impossible to reach the cemetery on account of the deep snow.

Lonaconing is without electric lights due to the wires being down and telephone communication can not be had with Mount Savage because of broken wires and poles. An all night Easter dance at the Armory, Lonaconing, was canceled. Many poles have been broken down on the Baltimore turnpike between here and Hancock.

Cumberland Snow Melts.

Cumberland had a snowfall of several inches early today but it quickly melted and the streets are clear. Telephone wires are down, delaying both east and west service. The Postal Telegraph reported that it had no wires either east or west out of Cumberland. Both the Baltimore & Ohio and Western Maryland lines report deep snows in the mountains, but traffic has been moving with little delay. A Blue Ridge bus loaded with passengers was reported held up by drifts 7 miles west of Frostburg.

The Potomac River is rising, but not rapidly. The United States Weather Bureau at Washington is being given reports every two hours from here on river conditions.

A quick thaw is bound to bring high water, it was stated. The rain precipitation here was 1.92 inches in 24 hours, the heaviest in months.

New England Suffers.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Blizzards buffeted New England, gales swept the eastern seaboard, snowdrifts marooned Easter holiday motorists as Easter Monday became a belated winter day.

Snow from 7 to 12 inches deep, the heaviest fall of the winter, blanketed New Hampshire. In the Bershires, drifts blocked many highways, and school children were gleeful over unexpected extension of Easter holidays.

Many vacation parties were held snow-bound in the Pocono Mountain resorts in Pennsylvania. Railroads sent out snow flangers for the second time this winter, and snowplows charged the wet drifts on highways.

North of Lowell, Mass., a storm felled 25 telephone poles, cutting the city off from communication to points north. It blew down trees and ripped an advertising sign 20 feet long off a building in Lowell.

FORD WILL DISPLAY NEW V-8 THURSDAY

Model Described as Having 65 Horsepower, Capable of 75-Mile Speed.

Detroit, March 28.—The Ford Motor Co. announced today that its new V-8 will be given a first public showing on Thursday of this week. A detailed description of the new car also was given, but no mention was made of the price.

With a brake horsepower of 65, the V-8 is described as capable of 75 miles an hour, and embodying a number of new features, including a silent synchronized gear shift, down draft carburetor, carburetor silencer, automatic spark control, and a diaphragm pump drawing fuel from a tank in the rear.

The car is described as larger, with double acting hydraulic shock absorbers, flexible transverse cantilever springs and a newly designed rear spring mounted on perches at the rear of the axle housing, to permit a lower frame and body height. Rounded V-type radiator, slanting safety glass windshield and rounded roof lines, with large ventilator in the top of the cowl, are other details outlined. An oval instrument panel and inside sun visors are also part of the standard equipment.

The engine is described as of the 90-degree V-type, having a Society of American Engineers' rating of 30 horsepower and developing 65-brake horsepower. The 65-pound crankshaft is of the 90-degree type, with its four cranks at right angles to each other.

Cylinder blocks and crankcase are cast in one unit, and a cast aluminum cover forms the top of the engine. The distributor operates directly from the front end of the camshaft, eliminating use of interposed gears.

The announcement says that the fourteen body types to be offered will be of streamline design. A new four-cylinder car of 50 horsepower also will be presented, capable of 65 miles an hour. The two cars, it was stated, will differ only in the engines. No details of the four-cylinder motor were given.

The only reference to price was contained in the statement that "while the V-8 will sell at low-price field figures, the 'four' will sell for still less."

WEATHER FAILS TO HALT EASTER EGG ROLLERS

Underwood & Underwood.

The weather yesterday was probably the worst faced by the Easter egg rollers in a number of years, but the annual festival on the south lawn of the White House drew out a good crowd of children. They are shown in one of the group games. The young fellow in the foreground appears to have found one of the eggs left by the Easter rabbit. In the inset, the President and Mrs. Hoover are shown greeting their guests.

CIVIC CLUBS LIKELY TO SELECT CAPITAL

National Headquarters May Be Located in District; J. N. MacLean Elected.

National headquarters of the Association of Civic Service Clubs may be established in Washington, according to a discussion at the group's fourth annual meeting at the Mayflower Hotel yesterday.

The meeting closed with the election of officers for the coming year. The proposal for making this city the headquarters of the association was a part of proposed plans for enlarging the scope of activities of the group, which represents thousands of civic clubs through its affiliated organizations—Civitan, Optimist, Lions, Reciprocity, American Business Clubs and similar organizations.

At the reception at noon yesterday report was made to President Hoover that the association was sponsoring a Nation-wide broadcast known as "America at Work." As a result of this and other activities of the service clubs, 200,000 jobs have been found and millions of dollars diverted from hoarding.

James Nelson MacLean, of New York, was reelected president. Mr. MacLean represents the Civitan Club. Other officers named were secretary, Harlington Wood, representing the Optimist Clubs; vice presidents, Dr. Charles E. Roth, Reciprocity Clubs; Robert L. McKeever, of Washington, Lions Clubs, and Wallace Wright, American Business Clubs.

ANNUAL EGG ROLLING ATTENDED BY 11,000

pleted with refreshments in the state dining room.

Mrs. Hoover expressed regret that space did not permit many of the children outdoors being admitted to the party.

Those in the grounds were entertained with a program of Indian, animal and folk dances, given by members of Neighborhood House, the Girl Reserves and Girl Scouts of the Y. W. C. A. The United States Marine Band gave a two-hour concert in the afternoon.

Many amusing spectacles occurred in the grounds during the day. The rubber Easter egg made its debut, for one thing. This proved to be one way of getting around the unpleasant weather. Instead of rolling, or refusing to roll, these eggs bounced about to the great delight of children who acquired them.

Boy Brings Live Rabbit.

Among the guests was a live rabbit, brought in a cardboard box by a small boy. The little animal escaped from the box, but ran back to it after finding such a miserable welcome from the elements.

Many of the children called for the two grandchildren of the President, Peggy Ana and Herbert 3d, and expressed great disappointment when they were told the popular youngsters were in California.

The Zoo, always a drawing attraction on Easter Monday, was visited by 20,000 persons during the day. All the animal houses were opened.

Better weather is promised for today. The weather man predicts it will be fair, with rising temperature.

P.U.C. HEARS CHURCH PROTEST ON BUSES

Decision It Lacks Authority to Order Other Terminal Expected.

The Public Utilities Commission late yesterday took under advisement the complaint of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church that the establishment of a bus terminal by the Greyhound Lines on New York avenue next to the church property would interfere with its services. The commission today is expected to decide that it is without authority to force the bus line to go elsewhere as the site comes within the requirements of the order requiring all interstate buses to vacate the congested area by April 1.

Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the church; T. D. Martin, superintendent of the Sunday school, and other officials of the church, together with Col. Walter C. Clephane, an attorney, presented their grievances to the commission. A representative of George Washington University Hospital also complained that the presence of the terminal on the north side of New York avenue would constitute a disturbance.

L. C. Major, regional manager of Greyhound Lines, his attorney and a representative of the real estate firm from which the property is being obtained, also participated in the conference, which was behind closed doors. Details of the plans for the new depot, which is also to be used by the Blue Ridge Transportation Co., were revealed only to the conference.

Earl V. Fisher, executive secretary of the commission, yesterday called each of the other interstate bus line operators by telephone and warned them that they must inform the commission that they have selected a site outside the congested area by tomorrow. At a recent closed hearing they were instructed to make this report by yesterday.

Officials of the Short Lines, Inc., embracing a half dozen of the interstate lines, were in Washington yesterday and were understood to be completing negotiations for the establishment of a joint terminal.

Under order of the commission all Class "A" operators must be out of the congested zone by Friday.

Home Loan Bill Praised by Baltz

Declares Associaiton Here Would Get $1,500,000 for Distribution.

The Perpetual Building Association of this city would have $1,500,000 immediately available for loans on small homes if the home loan bank bill becomes a law, Edward C. Baltz, secretary of the association, yesterday told the House banking and currency subcommittee holding hearings on the bill.

"This bill provides a Federal Reserve system for building and loan associations, which has always been needed," Mr. Baltz said. "We desire to join not because we are in distress and need any help at the present time, but because we believe in the system."

He said there is nothing in the measure that would stimulate undue building, branding the "three million homes" argument "an absolute and willful misrepresentation."

Niagara Share Votes To Rearrange Capital

Buffalo, March 25 (A.P.).—A readjustment of the capital structure of the Niagara Share Corporation of Maryland, a holding corporation, to "correct capital impairment," was announced here today.

The announcement said the corporation would call in its common stock and issue one new share in exchange for each five shares of the present stock outstanding. The corporation was listed last year as the second largest investment company of its kind in the country, with approximately 7,000,000 shares outstanding.

STATUS OF WOMAN CONVENTION THEME

Seventh Meeting of Catholic Anthropologists Opens in Capital Today.

The seventh annual meeting of the Catholic Anthropological Conference will open today at the Catholic University of America. The general subject for discussion will be, "The Status of Woman in World Culture."

The first session, in McMahon Hall auditorium at 9 o'clock, will be opened by the Very Rev. Michael A. Mathis, C. S. C., president of the conference. The Rev. John M. Cooper, secretary of the conference since its foundation, will present his yearly report.

At the second session, at 10:30 o'clock, the Rev. Joseph Diehl, S. M., will speak on "The Position of Woman in Samoan Culture;" Dr. Anna Dengel, Catholic medical missionaries, on "The Woman of India at Home," and George E. Noronha, editorial staff of The Bengalese, on "The Changing Outlook of the Women of India."

The third session, at 2:30 o'clock, will be addressed by Miss Regina Flannery on "The Position of Woman Among the Mescalero Apaches;" by J. N. B. Hewitt, Smithsonian Institution, on "The Position of Woman Among the Iroquois," and the Rev. John M. Cooper on "The Position of Woman in Primitive Culture."

The Catholic Anthropological Conference was organized in 1926. Delegates represent religious orders, religious societies, organizations of secular clergy, missionary bodies, scientific societies and the laity. The late Bishop Shahan was the first president. The official journal of the conference is Primitive Man, edited by the Rev. John M. Cooper.

Today's sessions are open to all who are interested in anthropology and related subjects.

Catholic U. Willed $250,000 by Duval

Testament of New Yorker Admitted to Probate Following Fight.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—The Catholic University at Washington, D. C., receives one-fourth of the estate of the late George L. Duval, wealthy head of Wessel, Duval & Co., whose will was admitted to probate today. He died March 15, 1931.

The will, accompanied by three codicils and more than 80 marginal notations, left many bequests to friends and relatives and disposed of the residue, estimated at more than $1,000,000, by giving it to nine Catholic institutions. Chief among these was the university at Washington.

A sister, Mrs. Anna Duval Chadwick, and a niece, Alice Duval Pierce, contested the will, but it was held valid in a directed verdict January 29.

Burtram Hood, one of the executors, received $10,000 under the will. A similar bequest also was made to each of five other partners, Guillermo E. Purcell, of Valparaiso, Chile; Edmundo Eastman, of Santiago, Chile; Paul Alexander, of Greenwich, Conn.; Thomas F. Baker and George W. Spring, both of New York.

New Hearing Set In Property Sale

Ballard's Dual Capacity Created "Infirmity," Court Holds.

The District Court of Appeals yesterday sent back to the District Supreme Court for a new hearing the case of Georgia M. Spruill against William T. Ballard and Abram R. Serven, to set aside the sale of a piece of property belonging to the woman.

The court pointed out that Ballard, who had obtained the loan for Miss Spruill, had acted both as a trustee of the loan, which was secured by her property, and as lender. This, the court said, placed him in the position of endeavoring to make a sale of the property in the dual capacity of creditor and trustee.

This relationship created an infirmity that the court held was sufficient to set aside a sale of the property, which sale had been attacked before its consummation by the owner of the property in a bill that was dismissed in the District Supreme Court. The dismissed bill will now be subject to another ruling by the District Supreme Court.

Louise Brooks Wed To W. R. Howard 3d

Granddaughter of Stotesbury Married in Florida to Baltimorean.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—Miss Louise Brooks, granddaughter of E. T. Stotesbury, Philadelphia and Palm Beach social leader, and William Ross Howard 3d, of Baltimore, were married today in a quiet ceremony.

Late this afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Stotesbury surprised a hundred guests at tea with the announcement of the marriage. Mrs. Stotesbury announced the engagement several days ago, but kept the marriage date and place secret.

Members of the Stotesbury family and servants witnessed the ceremony at the Church of Bethesda by the Sea. Bishop Nathaniel Seymour Thomas officiated. Miss Brooks was dressed in white lace, but wore no wedding veil. She was given in marriage by Mr. Stotesbury. Lawrence A. Balliere, of Baltimore, was best man. Mrs. Stotesbury, Mrs. Balliere, Jamas H. R. Cromwell, of Philadelphia, and the Stotesbury servants completed the party.

80-Mile Nevada Gale Halts Air Schedules

Reno, Nev., March 28 (A.P.).—An 80-mile gale over the high Sierra grounded westbound mail and passenger planes of the United Air Lines here today.

Ray Little, veteran air mail pilot, tried three times this morning to put his trimotored ship over the "hump" and finally was forced to return to the airport here to await diminishing of the wind. He reported that the gale was so fierce over the Truckee Canyon, near Verdi, Nev., that he could make no headway.

Ward Company to Drop Groceries.

Chicago, March 28 (A.P.).—The mail order division of Montgomery Ward & Co., will discontinue the sale of groceries after May 1.

DE VALERA FINISHES ANSWER TO LONDON

Will Pursue His Announced Policies Regradless of Consequences.

Dublin, March 28 (U.P.).—President Eamon de Valera tonight completed the drafting of a reply to Great Britain's stand in the Anglo-Irish controversy and it was understood the Republican leader had declared his intention of pursuing his announced policies regardless of the consequences.

The reply, which the cabinet is scheduled to approve tomorrow, is to the British note upholding the oath of allegiance to the king and demanding the Irish Free State continue payment of the land annuities to Britain.

De Valera was understood to have reiterated, in his message, his intention of abolishing the oath and of retaining the land annuity payments, on the ground that such action has been sanctioned by the Irish people as a result of the recent election.

The president made a pilgrimage to the graves of his former comrades, who were executed after the 1916 Easter rebellion which was commemorated yesterday by many Irish Republican army demonstrations hostile to Britain.

Kneels at Prison Graves.

He knelt for several minutes in silence beside the graves in the middle courtyard of gloomy Arbour Hill Military Prison, where the rebels faced a firing squad and from which political prisoners recently were liberated by order of the new president.

De Valera was the only leader of the rebellion who escaped execution, although at one time he was under sentence of death and for years there was a price on his head.

The present controversy between the Irish Free State and the British government over the payment of annuities does not involve in any way the interest payments on the bonds of the Dublin government, Michael MacWhite, Minister from the Free State government, declared here yesterday.

Ireland's credit has been of the very best in international financial markets, and would not be affected by any outcome of the present situation, he said. The payment of the annuities by the Free State would amount to approximately $3,000,000 a year, or about 10 per cent of the total budget of the government.

How Misunderstanding Arose.

The minister announced that a certain amount of misunderstanding had arisen over the declaration of President de Valera with regard to the question of the annuities. He referred back to the act of the British Parliament passed in 1920 by which Great Britain surrendered the annuities to Ireland and assumed the obligation to meet the dividends.

This, he said, constituted authority for the statement of J. H. Thomas, British secretary for the Dominions, that the Irish Free State was bound "by the most formal and explicit undertaking" to pay the land annuities to Great Britain.

When the treaty with Ireland was signed a year later in 1921 no mention of the annuities was made. Great Britain in the previous treaty had offered to reimburse Ireland for overtaxation which had been collected from the Irish taxpayers, the minister declared, and the land annuities in question were consequently assumed by the British as an earnest of their good faith for past overtaxation.

Bacon Rind, Osage Chief, Dies at 84

Cancer and Pneumonia Are Fatal to Noted Indian; Rites Tomorrow.

Pawhuska, Okla., March 28 (A.P.).—Chief Bacon Rind, venerable leader of the Osage Nation, has joined his fathers. The 84-year-old Indian died at his home in the tribal village here today of cancer and pneumonia.

He was one of the last of the imperious old figures among the American Indians who made grudging concessions to the ways of white civilization.

Catholic funeral services will be held Wednesday at the Church of the Immaculate Conception and afterward the Osages will bear the former chief of the Wah-ti-an-kah band of their tribe to the cemetery for native burial services.

During winter months Bacon Rind lived in the modern home, but he spent his summers in a deerskin teepee on the grounds.

Although he understood much English, Bacon Rind did not deign to speak it often. While on his frequent trips to Washington in behalf of his tribe his resonant voice intoned the sing-song syllables of his native tongue, and they were translated by an interpreter.

Smith and Davis First On Pennsylvania Ballot

Harrisburg, Pa., March 28 (A.P.).—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York today scored a victory over Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York by drawing first position on the Pennsylvania Democratic preferential ballot to be used in the primary April 26.

Under Pennsylvania law, positions on the ballot are drawn by lot. In the balloting for position on the Republican ballot for United States senator, first place was drawn by Senator James J. Davis, with Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, who is opposing him for the nomination, in second place.

Woman Gets 200 Records Of Seminole Tribal Songs

Tribal songs of the Seminole Indians used in weird ceremonies among the redmen of the Florida Everglades are recorded in more than 200 phonograph records collected by Miss Frances Densmore, Smithsonian Institution ethnologist, who recently returned from the swamp lands after completing a study of Indian customs.

Through the years following the Seminole wars the swamp dwellers have been a very suspicious people, constantly alert against any interference by the white man. Tribal leaders have given out edicts that their people must not learn to speak English, and only a very few men are allowed to make outside contacts with whites by means of language even for the purpose of necessary transactions.

This resistance to being Americanized, according to Miss Densmore, has been the constant policy of the mysterious elders who lead the tribes, and who seek to maintain the racial integrity of their tribesmen. Despite the distrust of white men by the Indians, long experience with their customs enabled her to obtain transcriptions of music.

The songs are used only at two great gatherings each year. One of these is the corn dance in the summer, and the other is the ceremony preceding the hunting season in the fall. They also use music in the treatment of the sick.

Unlike the majority of Indian tribes, the Seminoles make little use of the drum. Their instrument is the coconut shell rattle, which is handled with great skill. In the old days a flute of cane stalk was used, and only in one dance is drum music produced.

A majority of the songs obtained were in an obsolete language not understood by the singers. Miss Densmore found some resemblances to the Yuma and certain Pueblo music and even to the music of the San Blas people, the famous white Indians of Panama. These may be only a coincidence she points out, but they suggest interesting possibilities of prehistoric cultural contact.

The Seminoles still wear their picturesque native costumes, and depend almost entirely on native foods. The women wear dresses of gray patchwork, and the same material forms the blouses of the men, and "dresses" of the old men. A man wears the knee length dress when over 50 years of age.

Miss Densmore will transcribe and analyze the songs for the purpose of comparison with those of other Indian tribes. Such a conservative people as the Seminoles, she said, approach the limit of conservatism in their music, and the songs sung may extend a long way into the past.

Alabamans on Capitol Hill Told State Unable to Cope With Rehabilitation.

Montgomery, Ala., March 28 (A.P.).—Tornado's fury struck again in Alabama, Georgia and Texas yesterday, added nine names to the list of 362 persons it killed last week and scattered buildings over the countryside like so much straw.

The Easter storm killed seven in Alabama, where 298 perished in twisters a week ago tonight; one in Georgia, where 40 were killed last week, and claimed one life in eastern Texas, where the oil boom town of Shelman was wrecked with injuries to 20 people.

Gov. Miller of Alabama telegraphed congressional representatives of that State today, saying local agencies can not cope with the needs for rehabilitation work. Replying to an inquiry from the members of Congress, the governor said the tornado caused "enormous property loss" and declared, "Any possible plan for Federal aid will be appreciated."

Bank Funds Inadequate.

He said banks in the stricken area of Alabama are unable to "furnish anything like the needed financial assistance" for rehabilitation.

American Red Cross workers already were in the field in Georgia and Alabama following upon last week's storm and they, in cooperation with local agencies, formed groups of relief workers for the newly stricken areas.

Fourth Corps Area Army headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., announced tents, cots and blankets have been sent into three communities stricken by last week's storm. Equipment of the Alabama National Guard has been sent to numerous communities in this State.

Singularly enough, yesterday's storm in Alabama visited some of the communities where lives were lost in last week's twister. Austin Laurence, Perry Hicks and Jane Green were killed in Lawley, Ala., and G. M. Stubbs and a man named Pate lost their lives at Pleasant Grove. Two other members of the Laurence family, Ellen K. Laurence and her father, Walker Laurence, also were fatally injured.

25 Houses Razed.

The number of injured in Alabama was not estimated, but it was known it will run into the scores.

In Georgia, Mrs. Harvey Lewis, of Buchanan, was fatally injured as a tornado destroyed 25 houses in Haralson County. Reports to the Red Cross in Atlanta said 100 were injured in that county alone. The Georgia storm also struck Heard County, injuring three and destroying six houses. The loss in Coweta County, where the damage was less severe, was not estimated in reports to the Red Cross.

mediately caught fire. His store close by was twisted on its foundations, and the windows were smashed.

The store owned by S. D. Alvis was torn from its foundation and tossed against the M. W. Keeton garage, 40 feet away, and wrecked. Part of the building was dropped into a thicket 200 yards distant. His tobacco barn was razed, and his grist mill and machinery damaged beyond repair.

Helen Turner, Negro, and her infant were in a critical condition tonight from shock. Their house was crushed by the wind two hours after the child was born. Both were injured besides suffering from the shock.

the Lindbergh baby would be returned shortly.

The Norfolk boat builder admitted for the first time that he has never seen the Lindbergh baby since the negotiations with his supposed kidnapers were opened. In answer to a direct question on this point, Curtis said:

"I have not seen the Lindbergh child alive."

Curtis said that the dean would not return to Norfolk until tomorrow morning.

Inspector Frank S. W. Burke has relayed information to the New Jersey State Police to the effect that the two men who drove a Maryland automobile into the Lindbergh estate at Hopewell, N. J., last week, are reported to have met a Baltimore man in this city yesterday to discuss the case.

The automobile is listed to Philip G. Barnard, of 114 East Twentieth street, Baltimore, who is reported to have sold the automobile, and declined to say who the purchaser was.

Inspector Burke's information came from a Washington newspaper.

uated and the lower brackets exempted.

The poll of House pay cut sentiment to date shows 154 members pledged to oppose any salary reduction bill, and 111 who are willing to cut their own pay and salaries in the higher brackets, leaving 160 unpolled. An unofficial check on pay cut views by the Federation of Federal Employes, made at the outset of the session, showed a majority committed to vote against pay reduction of any description.

Former Hamtramck Officials Prisoned.

Detroit, March 28 (A.P.).—Rudolph G. Tenerowicz, who resigned last week as mayor of Hamtramck, Detroit suburb, and three others, two of them former city officials, today were sentenced to three and one-half years in prison following conviction ten days ago on charges of conspiracy to protect vice.

Murderer to Get "Relief."

Charleston, W. Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Gov. Conley announced today that he intended to grant "relief" to Frank Pauletta, Coverdale, Pa., miner, sentenced to be hanged April 22, for a murder committed 18 years ago, but that the extent of the relief has yet to be determined.

Post Gallery of Notables

JOHN W. DAVIS.

APRIL 13 will be a great day in Washington. Here will gather Democrats from all parts of the country, 1,000 or more of them, come to celebrate the birthday of Thomas Jefferson.

While they are about it, they might very well whoop it up for another illustrious Democrat—John W. Davis, of West Virginia and New York. For it so happens that Jefferson's birthday is also the birthday of Davis.

With his snow-white hair, his serene and kindly features, John William Davis is one of the truly noble figures in the Democratic party. In nominating him for the Presidency at the San Francisco convention twelve years ago, Gov. Cornwall of West Virginia said that he was "without a blemish." Davis himself probably thought that was laying it on pretty thick.

What the rank and file of the party thought of him, however, was demonstrated four years later when, at the Madison Square Garden convention, the delegates, hopelessly deadlocked over McAdoo and Smith, nominated Davis for President.

Looking back at it, some of his friends regard that selection as one of the great misfortunes of Davis' political career. So far as the election itself was concerned, Davis was beaten before he started. Nor was it altogether a question of there simply being more Republicans than Democrats. The Madison Square Garden convention, with its fight over the Ku Klux Klan and its other brawls, generated such passions and hatreds as to make impossible the election of a Democrat in that year.

His friends would rather Davis had been saved for 1932. As a matter of fact, it is not outside the realm of possibility that he will again be the nominee. After all, Davis will only be celebrating his fifty-ninth birthday when he comes here to honor Jefferson next month. E. T. F.

HOUSE LEADERS LAY PLANS TO PUSH TAX BILL THROUGH

metics, soft drinks and others not listed among the necessaries.

The subcommittee program is to be submitted to the full ways and means committee in executive session called by Representative Charles R. Crisp (Democrat), of Georgia, acting chairman, for 10 o'clock this morning. Representative Ragon said that if his subcommittee's program is accepted by the full committee and the House it would raise a little more than the eliminated sales tax section. If it were not accepted, he said, his group had other proposals which they would submit to replace those particular items which might be rejected.

The meeting of the Ragon subcommittee last night followed meetings held in the late afternoon, at which the first draft of the program was submitted by the Republicans to their colleagues on the full committee and by the Democrats to theirs.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell (Republican), of New York, minority leader, attended the Republican meeting and Speaker Garner took an active and forceful part in the Democratic gathering. The Republican gathering was comparatively brief. Representative Snell and Representative Willis C. Hawley (Republican), of Oregon, ranking minority member of the ways and means committee and ranking minority members of the Ragon subcommittee, said after the meeting that they believed progress had been made and that their party lines were reforming into greater strength than had characterized them in the last few days.

Republicans' "Show Me" Meeting.

The Republican meeting apparently resolved itself into one of "show-me." They decided not to get very excited nor to commit themselves definitely pending the outcome of the meeting of the Democrats.

"We're going along with the Democrats on any reasonable program which will balance the budget," Representative Snell said. "I believe progress has been made. I'm sorry but I can not discuss details."

The Democratic meeting was a warm one, although it ended in a harmonious spirit. Both meetings were begun immediately after the adjournment of the House, a few minutes after five o'clock. It was almost seven before the Democratic meeting adjourned and in the course of it more than one ballot was taken to decide disputed points when important leaders said they could not support a proposition as submitted.

With the outcome of the two meetings fresh in their minds the Ragon subcommittee got together and completed compilation of the list of substitute taxes they would propose for the sales tax, and, apparently, the prediction made by Representative Snell after defeat of the sales tax, will be made good. Mr. Snell ventured the opinion that many manufacturers who had fought the sales tax would find themselves faced with more objectionable taxes and changes in the existing law.

Crisp Describes Meetings.

The party conferences of the ways and means committee members and the Speaker and minority leader were described by Representative Crisp as having been asked by the Ragon-Hawley subcommittee.

"The subcommittee," he said, "has been working for three or four days and had agreed on a tentative report and asked the Republicans to meet with their members and the Democrats to meet with theirs so that each could have the benefit of a frank discussion. On our side, the discussion was harmonious and helpful and I am hopeful that the subcommittee, which is going back into another meeting tonight, will be able to report to the meeting of the full committee which I have called for tomorrow morning."

In his announcement, Mr. Crisp said that the Democratic members were going back to the subcommittee meeting with "certain" proposals approved by their colleagues. Asked if any significance was to be attached to his phraseology, he said he would eliminate "certain." Nonetheless, it was understood that significance did attach to the unconscious phraseology.

and the Democratic objections were considered and accepted at the subsequent meeting of the subcommittee.

The introparty meetings followed a day alternately calm and stormy on the floor of the House. For the first time since the revolt of the rank and file against the leaders began on the bipartisan tax bill, leaders could point to important votes and speeches to back up their estimates that the revolt had about run its course.

The House gave a good licking to Representative Fiorella H. LaGuardia (Republican), of New York, a leader in the fight against the sales tax section, when it voted 123 to 18 against his amendment to give publicity to income tax returns.

Mr. LaGuardia is nobody to fool with when it comes to a fight in the House, and though he has tried graciously to place the oredit for the defeat of the sales tax on the white-fringed brow of Representative Robert L. Doughton (Democrat), of North Carolina, it is commonly agreed that without his drive, dynamic personality and ability on and off the floor the vote against the sales tax would not have been so high, even if the levy had been defeated.

LaGuardia's First Upset.

The vote against his publicity amendment was the first important upset he has met in the tax bill fight, but Representative John J. Boylan (Democrat), of New York, one of the Tammany delegation against which so many Republican business representatives have rallied, tried to rub salt in the LaGuardia wounds. After defeat of his amendment, Mr. LaGuardia made a proforma amendment to strike out the last word and took the floor to point out that Speaker Garner, before he became Speaker, and other Democrats, had believed in publicity for income tax returns.

Mr. Boylan moved to strike out the last six words and proceeded to ask why Mr. LaGuardia didn't take his licking gracefully.

Mr. LaGuardia shouldn't squeal just because the House had stuck the harpoon into him. Besides, such bleating after an amendment had been beaten took up the time of the House. Mr. LaGuardia countered with the suggestion that Mr. Boylan, too, was taking up unnecessary time.

Challenge by O'Connor.

Representative John J. O'Connor (Democrat), of New York, another of the Tammany delegation Republican business leaders have fought, took the floor to challenge members of his party with a declaration that it was time to find out how many Democrats sat on the Democratic side of the dividing aisle. Mr. O'Connor jeered at various tariff proposals, some of which had been included in the tax bill at the instance of Democrats and others of which had been proposed by Democrats. Representative Loring Black took a hand. In brief, the New York Tammany delegation, whose leaders decided before Congress met that they should not be blamed with upsetting the program of the Democratic leaders of the House, plunged once more into the fight.

But the House was sobered by more than the speeches on the floor. They were confronted with another debacle on the stock exchange and by reports from London and elsewhere that the entire world was watching what they did, anxiously hoping that what was done would not send the English pound sterling skyrocketing, beat down prices, force America off the gold standard and various other allied hectic and startling fears.

The House skimmed through more than 50 pages of the lengthy tax bill yesterday, adopting committee amendments to the capital gains and loss provisions to permit taking losses for one year.

Consideration of the bill will be resumed when the House meets at noon today.

Former Bucketshop Head Sentenced.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Augustus C. Kelly, 38, was sentenced to two and a half to five years in Sing Sing Prison today for his part in the bucketshop operations of A. C. Kelly & Co., which failed a year ago with liabilities of more than $1,000,000.

OLD STEEL FAMILY'S SCION ENDS HIS LIFE

Percival Chrystie's Family Had Made Supplies for Every U. S. War.

High Bridge, N. J., March 28 (A.P.).—Percival Chrystie, 63, steel manufacturer, whose family has supplied war materials for every United States conflict, including the Revolution, committed suicide by shooting today. His body was found in the rear of the Taylor-Wharton Iron & Steel Co. power house. He was chairman of that concern's board of directors.

Mrs. Chrystie, the former Priscilla Kingsland, of San Francisco, said she and her husband had played games after breakfast. He left about 11 a. m., intending to shoot sparrows.

Employes of the iron works, a concern which has been engaged in business here for more than 180 years, heard a shot and found the body. A bullet had torn through the chest.

Mr. Chrystie had been in poor health in recent years. He resigned the presidency of the steel business in 1919 and became chairman. He returned a year ago after spending several months in California in an effort to recuperate his health.

He was president of the First National Bank of High Bridge and president of the steel company of William Wharton, Jr., & Co., of Easton, Pa. He was a member of numerous clubs in New York, Philadelphia and Easton.

He represented the fifth generation of his family in the manufacture of steel and iron products.

Baker Advocates All-Year Congress

Former Secretary Dissents From Senate's Policy in Treaty Making.

Philadelphia, March 28 (A.P.).—Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, said today that if he had his way members of both Houses of Congress would be in session all the time, representing the people.

"I think we are getting to be a little afraid to have Congress in session," he told the Women's Democratic Luncheon Club. "Time and again you hear persons breathe a sigh of relief when it adjourns and when the possibility of the President calling a special session arises, countless reasons are advanced why he should not do so.

"I set great store by the Senate, but I want to dissent from the policy that body seems to have adopted toward treaty-making in using itself for a prestige fight between the Senate and the President."

Two Held for Jury On Drug Charge

Washington Men Are Given Preliminary Hearing in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., March 28 (A.P.).—Dennis A. Mahoney and Lawrence McNally, of Washington, charged with transportation and possession of narcotics, were ordered held for grand jury action after a preliminary hearing today before United States Commissioner J. Frank Supplee.

The two, with Julius Beuchert, were arrested last week at Belair by State police. They were taken to the Essex Police Station and Beuchert escaped as his companions were being searched.

Bail for Mahoney, who officers said was at liberty on bond on similar charge, was fixed at $2,500, and McNally's bail placed at $1,500. Unable to post required collateral, they were placed in the City Jail.

TAXICAB METER RULE TO BE UPHELD TODAY

but opponents of the order predict that it will result in a considerable falling off of taxicab patronage and a consequent loss to both drivers and operators.

Taxicab patronage has grown by leaps and bounds within the past two years as a result of the swing to the zone system and the forced withdrawal of the high meter rates. Street car fares were markedly reduced by the cheapness of the taxi rate.

At one time the rivalry of the zone cabs and the older operators went into a rate war, but this finally halted at the present rates of 20-40-60 cents, though the boundaries of zones have varied. Rates were changed at will until the commission issued an order following its public hearing that the fares could not be altered without its consent.

Representative Thomas L. Blanton (Democrat), Texas, yesterday was drafting a bill to abolish taxicab and bus concessions in front of hotels and at the Union Station.

His bill, which is now in the hands of legislative counsel, "would return every inch of curb space to the people," he said.

Representative Blanton, attacking alleged taxicab monopolies at House appropriations hearings recently, told Commissioner Herbert Crosby that if he was in his place he "would shake them from stern to foundation."

"It is something that grates on the nerves of every citizen in Washington, to go down here and see this monopoly around the various hotels in the city. It ought not to exist.

"They charge a tremendous price; that is, these sightseeing buses that get our transients here. They charge tremendous prices because they have a monopoly."

He charged it is an "outrage that only one taxicab company can have 500 taxicabs in front of that station and have them so thick around there that nobody else can go in and out."

Chairman Clarence Cannon said "private automobiles can hardly get in and out," adding: "You can never take an inside track; you must always have your wife and children cross another track before they can get into the station."

Orville Wright Honored In Civitan Medal Award

Dayton, Ohio, March 28 (A.P.).—For the third time in its history, Civitan International awarded its distinguished service medal when it linked the name of Orville Wright, coinventor of the airplane, with those of Thomas A. Edison and Gen. John J. Pershing.

Harold Tschudi, Baltimore, president of Civitan International, presented the award to Wright at the luncheon meeting of the Dayton Club today.

Democrats in Senate Called 'Hitch Hikers'

(Associated Press.)

A new political term was coined in the Senate yesterday by Senator Vandenberg who characterized Democrats who vote for specific tariff rates but oppose the protective tariff theory as "hitch hikers."

"Democratic hitch hikers," the Michigan Republican said, are those "who attach themselves to a Republican measure to get protection for their own products and then thunder at the bill as a whole."

"Hitch hikers," he added, "always are dangerous passengers, liable to assault you, sue for damages and contribute nothing except their dead weight."

RHEEM HOME SOLD FOR $75,000 CASH

Mrs. Leland Harrison, Wife of Former U. S. Official, Buys Residence.

Mrs. Leland Harrison, wife of a former United States Department of State official, is the purchaser of the former home of Edmund D. Rheem, a former vice president of the defunct firm of Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co., it was revealed yesterday. The home is at 2343 S street northwest. Negotiations incidental to the transaction were conducted by the real estate office of Sandoz, Inc. The consideration was $75,000 cash.

The purchaser was revealed yesterday when George C. Shinn, Rheem receiver in the individual bankruptcy proceedings against him, filed a decree directing the sale, as was exclusively published in The Post Sunday.

The receiver is ordered to pay Mrs. Alice W. Rheem for her dower right the sum of $15,000 and to pay Sandoz, Inc., a broker's commission of $2,350 for securing the purchaser.

The claims of all creditors, including one of the United States for $12,080.99 for alleged income taxes in arrears, are transferred by the court's order to the fund, which will remain in the hands of the receiver until the disposition of an appeal by Rheem from the order adjudging him individually bankrupt.

Rheem is represented by Attorneys Tobriner & Graham, while the receiver was represented by Attorney William E. Richardson.

Bills to Increase Judges Defeated

Senate Judiciary Committee Reports Measures Adversely.

(Associated Press.)

Bills providing for additional Federal judges in Michigan, Texas, Missouri, Washington and California were adversely reported yesterday by the Senate judiciary committee. The bills provided for:

Making permanent an additional judgeship in the Eastern District of Michigan;

Creating an additional judgeship in the Southern District of Texas;

Creating an additional judgeship in the Western District of Missouri; making permanent an additional judgeship for the Eastern and Western Districts of Missouri and setting up an additional judgeship in the Eastern District of that State;

Creating an additional judgeship for the Western District of Washington;

Setting up two additional judgeships in the Southern District of California.

many as an ample justification for the conference.

3. The Chinese-Japanese embroglio, while increasing a desire for armed security, also has made the disarmament delegates realize the necessity of safeguarding peace through a world disarmament agreement.

Paris, March 28 (A.P.).—A semi-official statement tonight confirmed that Premier Andrew Tardieu would go to London next week-end to confer with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon on a Danubian rapprochement and reparations.

The definite date of the premier's departure will depend on the French Parliament's action on the French budget.

It was definitely known, however, that the conference of the European big four—Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy—problems of the Danubian states, will not be held until after April 11. It will probably meet at Geneva.

REBELS SWEEP ON TOWARD CHANGCHUN

Chinese officials at a luncheon today.

Wang Cheng-Wei, Chinese premier, and several present and former cabinet ministers attended the luncheon, which was by way of welcoming the commissioners who arrived yesterday from Shanghai.

The premier told them that the Chinese people "have but one hope and aspiration—the maintenance of our territorial and administrative integrity and sovereignty."

"I can assure you at once," Lord Lytton replied, "that the maintenance of China's territorial and administrative integrity would necessarily be a condition of any settlement of Sino-Japanese difficulties effected by the league. The league could not recommend to its members any course inconsistent with their treaty obligations."

After the luncheon the commissioners called on Gen. Chiang-Kai-Shek and a number of other Chinese officials. When they have finished here they will go to Peiping by way of Hankow, observing conditions in the country through which they pass.

Shanghai, March 28 (A.P.).—Today's session of the peace parley which has been going on here for days, adjourned without having made any appreciable progress.

DUNCAN SURRENDERS AND WAIVES HEARING

Clerk of Arlington County Released in $5,000 Bail; Schools Get Loan.

Surrender of William H. Duncan, clerk of Arlington County and the circuits courts, on a charge of larceny of more than $50 of State funds, and authorization of a new loan of $40,000 for the county school board, were the developments in the county's muddled financial situation yesterday.

The county clerk had been sought since Saturday night when Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas issued a warrant for his arrest after the third day of the audit of his accounts. He appeared before Judge B. M. Hedrick yesterday morning with his attorney, Capt. Crandal Mackey.

Duncan waived a preliminary hearing, entered a plea of not guilty and was released on $5,000 bond for his appearance in circuit court on April 18.

Will Not Resign Office.

Capt. Mackey stated definitely that his client would not resign his post as county clerk. It was rumored around the courthouse yesterday that a petition was being circulated asking Circuit Judge McCarthy to appoint Emery N. Hosmer and that verbal requests had been made upon him to appoint Harry A. Fellows, chariman of the county board.

The arrest of Duncan is the third since the start of the audit of accounts of the county at the request of the county board. The two others under arrest are former Treasurer E. Wade Ball, alleged to be short in excess of $250,000, and F. J. Hallock, former clerk of the county school board, alleged to be short in excess of $10,000.

T. Coleman Andrews, State auditor, said at the time of the issuance of a warrant for Duncan, that the county clerk's books under the audit to that time showed a shortage of approximately $15,000.

To Meet Bond Payments.

The new $40,000 school board loan was authorized yesterday at a special meeting of the county board. It is to meet bonds and interest due April 1. The school board's request for an additional $10,000 to meet its April pay roll and other current expenses was denied until an itemized statement covering the needs is presented to the county board.

Chairman Fellows declared the board was authorizing the $40,000 loan to maintain the county's credit but was not willing to entertain requests for further funds until a written statement covering all needs was presented.

Strong objection to the additional loan was made by Mrs. Elizabeth A. Magruder and Fred A. Gosnell, both of whom asserted they were unable to obtain definite knowledge of the financial status of the School Board from the explanation made by Thomas N. DeLashmutt, its chairman.

Mr. Gosnell criticized nonpayment of a bill for $3,000 due the State Penitentiary for school furnishings, which had run for more than a year. He was told this money was to have come from the school bonds.

ALEXANDRIA VOTES ON COUNCIL TODAY

Invitations Sent to Officers of Military Posts for Army Day Dinner.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The voters of Alexandria will go to the polls today in a special election to determine whether the city council shall consist of seven members, all to be elected from the city at large, or nine members, of whom six will be elected as ward representatives and three at large. The term of Mayor Edmund F. Ticer and Councilmen Clyde C. Lamond and Arthur Herbert have two years to run, while Councilmen Michael T. Dwyer and Benedict Weil will be up for reelection.

Not for many years, or since the city manager form of government was inaugurated, has there been so much interest manifested in a local election, proponents of each plan have been actively at work, and both sides appear to be convinced of success.

There are 5,236 qualified voters in the city, of whom 4,987 are white and 249 colored, and the indications are the vote will be unusually heavy. The polls will open at sunrise, 5:56 a. m., and close at sunset, 6:29 p. m.

The folowing are the voting places and officials who will have charge of the polls:

First Ward—Armory Mall; Scott Grimm, registrar and judge; J. Edward Shinn and Louis Poss, judges; Bernard J. Fegan and Charles Sherwood, clerks.

Second Ward—114 North Royal street; Dr. J. Frank Creighton, registrar and judge; J. Frank Gaines and D. E. Robey, judges; Carlin Creighton and Alvin Friedlander, clerks.

Third Ward—Odd Fellows' Hall, 213 North Columbus street; Frank R. Monroe, registrar and judge; H. H. Martin and E. J. Fleming, judges; Robert McDonald and J. R. Kretchmer, clerks.

Fourth Ward—Friendship Engine House, 100 block, South Alfred street; George H. Railing, registrar and judge; Claude W. Fletcher and Vernon Dyson, judges; Howard Fannon and Aubrey Lynch, clerks.

Fifth ward—Rosemont station; J. J. Kiger, registrar and judge; John W. Brookfield, jr., and Harry Hinken, judges; Fred Petitt and Marshall Baggett, clerks.

Sixth Ward: Potomac town hall, J. Frank Moriarty, registrar and judge; James Boltwood and J. R. Elliott, judges; George Jones and W. L. Kirwin, clerks.

Invitations have been extended the commanding officers of the various military posts in this vicinity to attend the second annual Army Day banquet of the Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, to be held at 6:30 o'clock, April 6, in the George Mason Hotel. Acceptances have been received by Dan S. Hollenga, chairman of the banquet committee, from the following: Col. H. N. Cootes, commanding officer at Fort Myer; Maj. H. C. Davison, commanding officer at Bolling Field; Capt. P. S. Rossiter, commanding officer at the United States Naval Hospital, Washington, and also from J. William May, president of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Howard L. Arnold is chairman of reservations.

The congregation of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church met yesterday at noon and elected the following vestrymen: Richard L. Ruffner, Dr. Robert South Barrett, Albert A. Smoot, Urban S. Lambert, Emmett C. Dunn, T. Calvert Perry, Arthur Herbert, C. S. Taylor Burke, James S. Smyth, George H. Evans, Sherman B. Fowler, Wilmer J. Waller, Edmund F. Ticer, C. Philip Heishley and William Lewis Allen.

William A. Smith, 29 years old, giving his address as 528 South Lee street, has given bond in the sum of $1,000 in connection with his arrest on suspicion of the larceny of an automobile belonging to Samuel Berman. Smith will be given a hearing this morning.

Two colored men were taken in custody on Sunday night by Policemen Embrey, Hawes, Hicks, Stover and Butler charged with an attempt to rob the store of Montgomery Ward, 900 block King street. The men gave the names of Harold Coleman, 22, 314 North Henry street, and Thomas Pratt. The former, it is stated, had a pistol in his possession when arrested. A rear window of the store was broken.

The police stated that H. C. Sherer has identified Pratt as the man who robbed him of $46 on Saturday night. Both men will be up for trial this morning.

Arlington to Hear Talks on Road Bill

Two Legislators to Analyze Byrd Measure Tonight in Lyon Park.

Civic leaders from all sections of Arlington County will meet tonight in the Lyon Park Community House to discuss the Byrd road bill passed at the recent session of the General Assembly.

Among the speakers who will explain the provisions of the bill will be State Senator John W Rust, of Fairfax, and Delegate Hugh Reid, of Arlington County.

The notices which have been sent out to civic leaders ask that consideration be given to three questions:

First—Do the voters of Arlington County wish to surrender maintenance of local roads and streets?

Second—Are they willing to have the decision in such matters transferred from a local board elected by themselves to appointive officers of the State Highway Commission, who are not answerable to them at the polls?

Third—Do they approve the possibility of the displacement of free labor residing within the county by the use of convict labor on all county roads, including the possible establishment of permanent convict camps?

2 Held on Liquor Count After Chase

Montgomery Police Shoot Tires Off Pursued Car on Colesville Pike.

Two men were arrested last night by Sergt. D. L. Snyder, of the Takoma Park substation, Montgomery County police, after a chase of about 4 miles on the Colesville pike. Both were charged with possession of intoxicating liquor with intent to sell. The policeman shot both back tires off before the fugitive car was halted, he reported.

The men gave their names as James Shanahan and Harry F. Sweet, both of Baltimore, Md. Sweet is alleged to have been driving.

Sergt. Snyder sighted the car about 4 miles from White Oak, where he stopped the machine. The car was carrying about 120 gallons of alleged liquor, he told Justice of the Peace David Mears, of Silver Spring, Md., who held the men for action of the county police court on bond of $500 each.

Arlington Board Backs Raising of Land Funds

The Arlington County board yesterday, acting on the request of C. Phelps Dodge, director, unanimously adopted a resolution pledging its assistance to the George Washington Parkway Association in raising public funds to purchase lands along the proposed parkway.

The resolution sets forth that the county board commends the efforts of the association in the drive and calls upon organizations and societies in the county to cooperate.

LATIMER QUALIFIES FOR POST AS CLERK

Clark Released Under Bond in Montgomery; System Is Changed.

Charles Y. Latimer, of Takoma Park, Md., yesterday qualified as clerk to the Montgomery County commissioners before Clerk of the Circuit Court Clayton K. Watkins, and assumed his new duties at once. The first new practice he placed in effect was turning over the cash of his office daily to the county treasurer.

Mr. Latimer was appointed Saturday after the commissioners had removed Berry E. Clark as clerk following the presentation of a report by the auditing firm of Rankin & Co. that Mr. Clark's accounts were short approximately $24,000. A warrant alleging embezzlement was served on Mr. Clark, who was released on bond of $5,000 for his appearance in circuit court. Former Representative Charles A. Korbly, who was coauthor of the Federal reserve act, was appointed assistant clerk, but will not take office until later.

In the meantime, State's Attorney Stedman Prescott was preparing the evidence in the case for presentation to the Montgomery County grand jury when it reconvenes after the Easter holidays today. Mr. Clark has retained Thomas L. Dawson and Albert M. Bouic, Rockville attorneys, as counsel.

Lacy Shaw, president of the board of commissioners, yesterday announced that the county commissioners will follow out the six general recommendations made by the auditing firm for the future handling of county funds.

The recommendations urged that the county should maintain its accounts on a basis of double entry bookkeeping, the accounts balanced at the end of each month; employment of an accountant; revise the form of cash records; adoption of a general form of receipt for the treasurer's office; that a voucher check system be installed in the treasurer's office, that a journal be installed with journal vouchers supporting each entry, that but one set of fund ledgers be maintained, and that a regular purchasing order system be installed for the larger purchase and commitments.

Arlington Republicans Pledged for Crupper

J. E. Spaulding, chairman of the Arlington County Republican committee, heads a delegation of 36 delegates and 36 alternates, who will leave this morning for Purcellville, Va., where they will attend the District convention.

The delegation goes pledged to cast the entire vote for Joseph L. Crupper, of Arlington County, former State chairman, as one of the two delegates to the national convention which meets in Chicago in June. They are further pledged to cast their entire vote for Mr. Crupper as national committeeman for the State to fill the vacancy caused by C. Bascom Slemp's refusal to again be a candidate. The election as delegate to national convention and State committeeman will take place at the State convention to be held at Roanoke next Saturday.

Driver Is Bonded On Liquor Charge

Collided With Car and Left Scene, Police Declare After Chase.

King Richardson, of 1424 Chapin street northwest, yesterday was released on bond to appear March 31 in Montgomery County Police Court at Rockville, Md., to answer charges of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested Sunday night in Chevy Chase, Md., by Montgomery County Policeman W. T. DeNell, after a chase from Washington by a Washington policeman.

According to police, Richardson was driver of a car which collided with the rear of the car of Edwin L. Powell, of 5425 Connecticut avenue, an official of the DeForest Radio Co., when the latter halted at Connecticut avenue and Albemarle street for a red light. Richardson then is alleged to have sped from the scene, followed by Mr. Powell and Policeman C. R. Murphy, of the Eighth Precinct. Cornered once, he backed his car into Mr. Powell's car and again escaped, Policeman Murphy reported.

The Washington policeman chased the car to Kirke street in Chevy Chase, Md., where he overtook the man. Policeman DeNell also arrived on the scene and charged the driver with operating while under the influence of intoxicants after he had been examined by Dr. E. G. Bauersfeld, of Bethesda, who treated Richardson for a cut on the head and bruised knuckles received in a fight in Washington, he said. Policeman Murphy told county police he also would swear out warrants in Washington.

LIBERTY LOSING GROUND.

Families that are threatened by kidnapers and business men who are blackmailed by racketeers have discovered that liberty is not exactly a natural blessing, dispensed like air or sunshine. Tens of thousands of Americans are now as effectually robbed of their liberty as if they were behind iron bars. The new tyranny of crime is even more cruel than the rule of despots. Living in a land that pretends to preserve liberty and order, the victims of gangsters and racketeers find no protection. The methods of the law are powerless against the new methods of crime.

The forefathers who fought for liberty discovered that they must fight to retain it. They made such a glorious fight that their descendants had nothing to do but guard their heritage. Like spendthrift heirs, modern Americans have not even kept watch over their chief possession. They have allowed thieves to break through and steal their liberty. To the shame of America it can now be said with truth that thousands of citizens are abject slaves of criminals who hold over them the terror of death. Enormous sums of money are extorted from cowering victims who are paying tribute to murderous racketeers and kidnapers. Walls are erected around private homes and bodyguards are watching over children as if there were no such thing as protection under the law. Small business men are made bankrupt by rackets, and then dare not appeal to the law for fear of being murdered. Crime not only accomplishes its purpose, but makes its victims accomplices by enforcing silence with death.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Modern Americans do not seem to be willing to pay the price. They seem to expect that liberty will be preserved for them by nature; and although they succumb, one by one, to the coils of crime those who are not yet under the death threat refuse to organize to protect themselves.

Investigators are appalled by the inroads of organized crime and by the futility of present-day methods of crime detection. Those who are best informed are most alarmed by the steady disintegration of American individual and community liberty. Legislators are neglectful and incompetent. They do not know how to devise means of checkmating conspirators who utilize all modern aids to crime, and even if they did know, they are too busy with politics to devote their time to public protective measures. Little or no help comes from peace officers. Brave policemen are shot to death because they are forced to employ out-of-date methods of dealing with gunmen. Uniformed policemen are easy prey of gangsters—the law actually sets up the police as a target that can not be mistaken, even in the night.

It is time for citizens to meet and devise means for the protection of the public. If citizens' meetings do not develop sentiment sufficient to bring about improvements in law enforcement, then the citizens should organize vigilance committees to protect their own families and neighborhoods. Crime enforced by murder is active and gaining ground. Liberty lacking defenders is disappearing. The people have the remedy in their own hands, and apparently the remedy is nowhere else except in the hands of citizens vigilant.

LESLIE M. SHAW.

A stalwart partisan and a patriotic American is lost in the death of Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury in President Roosevelt's Cabinet. He had made many a good fight for sound money and sound economics before he became Governor of Iowa and Secretary of the Treasury. He believed in the protective tariff system, and not only believed in it but gave such convincing proofs of its virtue that no opponent of protection dared to challenge him in debate.

Although he had reached the age of 83, Mr. Shaw was completing a work on tariff protection when he was stricken. His preliminary proofs were sent to a few friends for criticism. They discovered that Mr. Shaw had amassed an enormous set of facts drawn from American history, and much of it within his own experience, and from these facts had built up a case that is unanswerable. It will be a pity if this last labor of Mr. Shaw is left unpublished. What he has to say of the depression and its origin and remedy is of the greatest value. He went into the question of Government ownership and operation of business enterprises also, and his summing-up of the objections to this socialistic heresy can not be surpassed.

Mr. Shaw's fruitful activity after the age of 80 is a sufficient answer to those who would fix the limit of man's usefulness at middle age. His mind was a reservoir that accumulated wisdom to the last. He sought truth with the enthusiasm of a young knight. That he was a more devoted apostle of protection as he gathered more truth is a guarantee of the validity of protection to all who knew him; for they know that he not only sought truth, but recognized it when he found it. The writings of Leslie M. Shaw are a valuable heirloom to American citizens.

SPEED UP, CONGRESS!

Leaders in Congress are beginning to look forward to the end of the present session. Congress always attempts to wind up its affairs before the national conventions meet and the campaigns get under way. This year the problem has been unduly complicated by the breakdown of Democratic leadership in the House.

Some senators fear that it will be necessary for Congress to return after the conventions to complete action on the tax bill. That contingency should stimulate both houses to a faster tempo. The thought of a session dragging through the summer, when partisanship will be at a high pitch, is as distressing to the public as it is to legislators themselves. Congress rarely accomplishes anything constructive during such a period. Business always suffers because of the threat of radical legislation.

For several weeks it has been apparent that all the reconstruction legislation that can be expected from the present session has been disposed of, with the exception of a tax bill to balance the budget. Yet an enormous program of legislation awaits action of Congress. Not one of the major appropriation bills has been enacted. If Congress could get these measures out of the way, effecting reasonable economies wherever that is possible without crippling the Government service, and pass a tax bill that will balance the budget before adjourning in the first part of June, the country would be much relieved.

The tax bill is the crux of the whole problem. Increased revenue must be raised, even if Congress has to stay in session all summer. Failure of Congress to balance the budget is unthinkable in view of all that has been said on that subject by the leaders of both parties. Hence, the sooner legislation for that purpose can be enacted the better it will be for both parties as well as for the country as a whole. By every rule of common sense the tax bill should be on the statute books before the national conventions are held.

The urge to dispose of this problem before June must be particularly keen among Democratic leaders. If the Democratic national convention meets in Chicago with the budget unbalanced the failure of the House leadership will completely overshadow the optimism that is being generated in the camps of aspiring candidates. Shall the surrender of a majority of Democratic congressmen to the fanaticism of Republican insurgents be thrown in the face of the national organization?

Fortunately, there is yet time to dispel this cloud of gloom hanging over the national conventions by enacting an adequate tax bill. The House has one more chance to rally behind a rational program. Whether or not it accepts the ways and means committee's new tax program, the bill ought to be sent to the Senate with the least possible delay.

Both houses would do well to subordinate every measure to the appropriation and the tax bills, with a view to adjournment in June.

SELLING OUT TO FOREIGNERS.

Senator Vandenberg brought out into bold relief the vicious character of the Democratic tariff bill in yesterday's discussion on the floor of the Senate. The final paragraph of that measure provides for an international conference for the purpose of reducing exorbitant tariff rates. The very thought of inviting other governments to take a hand in rewriting the United States tariff law is repugnant to American tradition and policy, but the results which could be expected from such a course are still more outrageous.

No formula is offered in this tariff bill by which "excessive" tariff rates would be trimmed down. But Senator McKellar kindly furnished the public with his interpretation of what should be done. First, the Smoot-Hawley act should be repealed. Then the rates of the Fordney-McCumber law would be reduced by 25 per cent. After another 25 per cent reduction this country would be ready to begin bargaining with other nations. Any country increasing its purchases in the United States by 25 per cent would be entitled to another 25 per cent reduction in the tariff. A 50 per cent increase in purchases would bring a like scaling down of American duties. In a few simple steps the protective tariff barrier would be razed and American labor would be reduced to the foreign level. While this is not the formula prescribed in the bill, it may be assumed that the Democratic leaders have some such program in mind or they would not seek to invite foreign nations to help write American tariff legislation.

What would the McKellar formula mean to the people of the United States? Under normal conditions the domestic market absorbs about $50,000,000,000 worth of trade annually. Foreign trade amounts to about $4,000,000,000. In return for a 25 per cent increase in exports, which amounts to $1,000,000,000, the McKellar formula would allow importers a 25 per cent advantage in the American market, which would amount to $20,000,000,000. The odds are 20 to 1 in favor of foreign producers.

Perhaps all Democrats would not be so generous as Senator McKellar in bartering away the American wage standard and destroying American industries for the benefit of competitors. But the bill which they are sponsoring would open the door to even greater liberality to foreigners. No party which carried into effect such a program in the United States could survive a general election in the United States. Obviously, the Democrats do not offer this measure in good faith, but only as a snare for the President. Insincerity, duplicity and partisan politics may be read between every line of that section calling for an international economic conference.

DON'T DISCOURAGE BUSINESS.

The automobile industry is taking the lead in showing its confidence in the return of good times. The courage of conviction is backed by many millions. The Ford Co. announced that it was preparing to support its new production program with an investment of $300,000,000.

The General Motors Corporation now announces that beginning next month it will launch what will probably be the most extensive program to extend and stimulate sales that any industrial enterprise has ever undertaken. In 55 of the leading cities of the United States exhibits of the many products of General Motors will be opened simultaneously. In every one of these cities the largest auditorium available has been reserved for the exhibits. The aggregate space to be used exceeds 1,000,000 square feet, and in connection with the programs to attract visitors 70 bands of music have been engaged.

Not only are the two greatest units in automobile production expanding operation and planning Nation-wide sales drives, but smaller concerns are also joining in the move for renewed activity. The industry is the largest in the country today, and its purchasing power is distributed throughout every State in the Union. Its determination to encourage industrial activity and employment offer an example that may well be emulated by all other industries.

In this connection it may be well for both Congress and State Legislatures to pause before imposing additional heavy burdens upon motorists. A system of direct and indirect taxes has been gradually developed until today the automobile carries a heavier load than any other item in the tax list. The defeat of the sales tax brings before Congress again the proposals to add special Federal imposts on automobiles, the sale of parts, and on gasoline. Automobiles are as much a necessity in every day life as any article of use, and to many persons of modest means it is an indispensable adjunct to their means of livelihood. Congress should not impose another special burden upon motorists.

Senator Norris is sorely disappointed because President Hoover didn't veto his anti-injunction bill. What excuse will Norris have for turning Democratic this year?

Inclement weather almost spoiled the kiddies' White House egg-rolling contest, but the tough kids on Capitol Hill cracked a lot.

Speaker Garner is going to talk on the tax bill. Will that include the proposed tax on beer?

OUR PARTNER, THE CRIMINAL

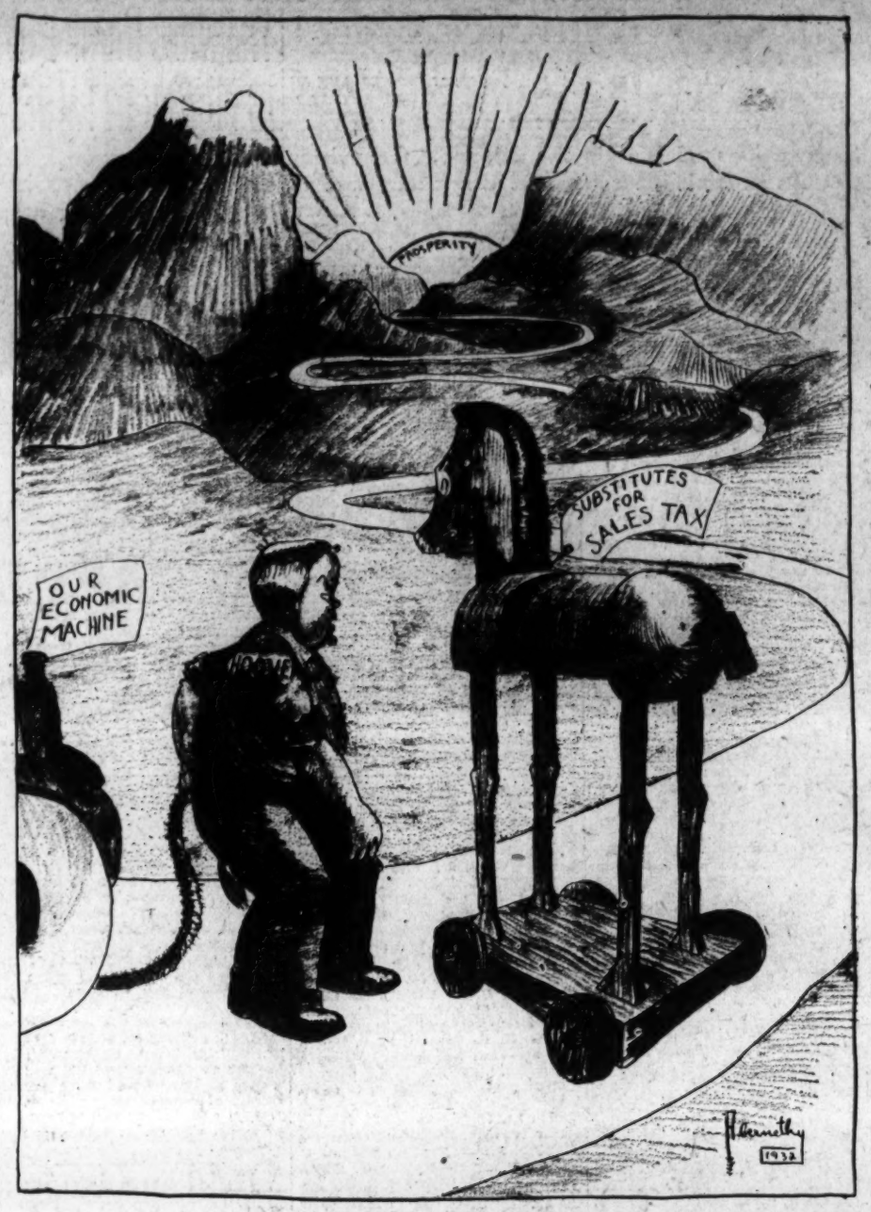
From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

We are a complacent and generous people, tolerant and helpful—especially where the criminal is concerned. We have provided him with the automobile, the telephone, the best there is to be had in firearms and chemical explosives, with the use of the mails. If he by chance happens to be caught our judges are obliging and our juries tenderly considerate of his rights. The Federal Government sees to it that it receives its fair share of his bootlegging profits, is willing to connive at his "assistance" in solving crimes with which it is unable to cope. But it virtuously instructs its faithful officers to shoot hell out of him if he permits himself to be caught making a batch of booze or assisting a case of contraband to reach the hands of an eager and patriotic customer.

Our methods of detection and dealing with the criminal—if caught—are obsolete and moss covered, for which the criminal is grateful. He himself is up to the minute in knowledge and technique concerning modern discoveries, physical and scientific. These he expertly appropriates to his own uses and purposes, while harried and hampered police hunt around in circles. In case of the arrest of a malefactor the police often find that their circumscribed efforts to perform their duty are null and void and are compelled to see Mr. Criminal derisively thumbing his predatory nose at the majesty of the law!

Crime in America is organized, powerfully organized, and society and government are all too helpless properly to cope with it. Crooked lawyers, sob sisters, professional bondsmen, psychiatrist chasers who would deal gently with the poor murderers and kidnapers "who never had a chance" because of evil environment and tangled complexes—all of these nobly are doing their part to make the course of the criminal easier and the cost of crime greater.

Unless society is willing that crime shall sweep away its last barriers of protection it is the imminent duty of Congress and the States to get busy, to provide crime-preventing and crime-punishing machinery and penalties of a nature that will make the enemies of society think twice before entering upon or attempting to apply the arts of their devastating and demoralizing trade. If the powers of government can not do this let's at once turn the country and society over to the criminal and bid him God-speed.



I Can't Get Very Far With That.

POST HASTE.

The House will learn that it can tax the patience of the people so that it will have very positive effect next November.

Embargo tariffs masquerading as revenue taxes, though quite unproductive, are as deceptive as Japanese definitions of "defense."

The league has postponed its next meeting until April 11, without realizing how much that looks like a double April 1.

Senator Nye threatens to bolt. Nye Republicanism reminds us of the old story that the man who named near-beer was a poor judge of distance.

A more powerful anesthetic has been found. You should patronize home products, so remember the name—Hydrochloride of piperidinopropanediol diphenylurethane. Well, then, diothane for short, if your memory's poor.

The budget will be balanced eventually, but how unnecessary and foolish to have thrown away all the reconstruction momentum, with values reduced in a week as much as the total deficit.

Herbert and Babe are tied at salaries and both have to score a number of hits by November to be sure of renewal contracts.

"Scientist says moon is growing." Probably just puffed up with all the new songs about it.

Since the depression started stockholders in large corporations have increased in number nearly 50 per cent, which doesn't look as though Americans had lost all confidence in the country.

It would be curious that those who charge the tariff with having ruined America's export trade never quote volume figures nor comparative values if it were not that U. S. exports last year were just about equal to those of free-trade England and of Germany working under high pressure, and twice those of France.

Whether they can croon the blues away is a question, but there are meddlers who would be pleased to hear that something blew the croons away.

The attending Capitol physician says congressmen must only work five days a week to prevent a breakdown. But the House has already broken down.

Senator Dill participated in the first broadcast from an express train. He wanted to test the possibility of the radio keeping up with high-speed Senate debates.

Hoover led Roosevelt two to one in the Pathfinder's presidential straw vote, but McAdoo and France were more of a joke than Will Rogers and Eddie Cantor.

If this racketeering keeps up we-all who aren't important enough to require a guard are going to be embarrassed.

PAUL HUDSON.

Too Much Government.

Detroit News.

The one-horse shay days have passed but we still conduct our governmental affairs along the same lines and in the same channels as we did before the advent of the automobile, with its rapid means of transportation, and before the radio, the telephone and telegraph came into general use as quick means of communication. We have made progress in practically everything except in governing ourselves.

If You Can't Help Put Out the Fire, Don't Be Careless With Matches.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

ONE of the chief drawbacks of a free country is the fact that one group can start a fire which another must put out.

Those who are safe by reason of their age or sex can start a war and leave the fighting to others who had no share in causing it.

Consider, for example, the proposed unofficial boycott of Japanese goods.

Most Americans favor China in the present conflict because the Chinese are the under-dogs.

The government's sympathies are with China, also, because a complete triumph of Japanese strategy would close Chinese markets to American goods.

Chinese markets mean much to American workmen. Much of America's future prosperity depends on Oriental markets.

But the problem of preserving these markets is one for the State Department to solve. A firm and dignified policy, in cooperation with other powers that have similar interests, will do all that can be done.

There is no reason or excuse for war.

Yet private citizens, too eager to express their sympathies or exert an influence for peace, can undo every pacific work of the government and make war inevitable. Their irresponsible meddling is like a spark in a powder house.

Suppose Japanese goods are boycotted as a means of exerting "peaceful influence."

Will the Japanese feel no resentment?

Japanese newspapers would be filled with denunciation of all things American. Race prejudice would magnify the wrong. Japanese mobs would destroy American property and attack American citizens.

Then American newspapers in their turn would denounce Japan. Irresponsible patriots would assault innocent Japanese servants and gardeners. Hot-heads would clamor for war.

And war there would be.

A boycott is itself an act of war.

It was a boycott of Japanese goods that started the fighting at Shanghai. A similar unfriendly act by America must have a similar effect.

In the name of common sense and common justice, let those who can't rescue the drowning refrain from rocking the boat.

Gangdom vs. Wilkerson.

Chicago Tribune.

In his telegram to Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate committee now considering the confirmation of Judge Wilkerson's appointment to the circuit court of appeals, the president of the crime commission, Mr. Loesch, has performed another important public service with characteristic courage and public spirit. He has illustrated with force the inevitable relation of organized criminality to the fate of Judge Wilkerson's promotion, and apart from that controversy he has presented again to the law-abiding citizenship of Chicago and the Nation an analysis of the system which so successfully flaunts law and justice.

Muffed Their Chance.

Alexandria (Minn.) Echo.

No party ever had a better chance to win than the Democrats seemed to have when Congress convened. It is history that people have always blamed a depression on the party in power, and history seemed to be repeating itself. But it grows clearer day by day that the Democrats depend wholly on that theory to win. They have no leadership and no ideas; they have had nothing whatever to offer as a cure for the depression. They couldn't even agree to vote aid for the unemployed. In everything they have done they have followed the lead of the President, protesting vigorously from time to time, but still following him. This lack of leadership and lack of ideas (even of wrong ideas) has just about convinced everybody that it would be a mistake to put the Democrats in complete control of the Government. They have had their chance, and they have muffed it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Gentle Spring Brings Hunch That Washington Will Be a World Contender—Box Seat Tells Why.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As the opening date of the baseball season draws near, I have a feeling that the excitement of world series contests at Griffith Stadium will be ours next fall. Of course there are many who will say that it is only the usual training season hunch. Well, when it comes to talking about sports, I think it is a good deal more pleasant to have a good, honest hunch than to be in doubt. Baseball would lose a good deal of its pep if it was not for its hunches.

And how about a hunch with something to back it up? Last year we missed the pennant because the batting offensive was a few points below par. Good pitching was wasted for want of hits.

Take the case of Brown's seven or eight close games lost in spite of airtight box work. It is a good deal more than a hunch that Manush, who provokes the fans if he bats less than .335, will in good condition this year bat up to a pennant-winning mark. Myer, Manush, West, Cronin, Reynolds—if you don't think that is a murderer's row—it at least looks to me convincingly homicidal. And warming the bench there will be two or three at least second degree murderers in a pinch.

When you talk about fielding, up and down the line-up from catcher to right field, the Griffs don't need much apology in the minds of those who know anything about baseball.

What, then, would you have? Would you give me the laugh because I am proud of a hunch so well fortified? It might be to laugh if I said I am certain. Connie Mack and Joe McCarthy can not be dead certain that their Athletics or Yanks will win the pennant. And I don't think their hunches are a very great deal better fortified than mine is.

Steam Turbine Operated in Washington as Early as 1869.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: An Associated Press item in The Post, announcing the death, at Swansea, Mass., of George J. Altman, age 70 years, contains the statement that he is credited with having invented the steam turbine.

As he was only seven years old in 1869, when I saw a steam turbine in operation in Washington, located in a frame shack on the south side of the open canal which ran through what is now Constitution avenue, the Associated Press dispatch is evidently an error. Samuel Harris was operating a small machine shop with his steam turbine. He was a half-brother of Hon. E. W. Harris, of Port Huron, Mich., a law partner of my father, Omar Dwight Conger, and I knew Samuel Harris very well.

Baton Rouge Reader Explains Senator Huey Long's "Fiasco."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Louisiana papers quote Senator Huey P. Long as stating that the impeachment proceedings against him were a fiasco. He was correct in that remark. But why? He was impeached by the house, and it required a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the State senate to convict him. There are 39 members of the senate, and he secured a "round robin" signed by 15 of them to the effect that regardless of the evidence they would acquit him. It was a fiasco for that reason. Many of the signers of the "round robin" have since been given some very good jobs. Refer to the New Orleans States and Times-Picayune and the Baton Rouge State-Times.

Fence at Zoo Park Spoils Beauty of View, Says A. W. P.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A wire fence is being put up, entirely encircling the Zoo Park. The beautiful view from all sides, looking down into that lovely valley, will be completely cut off, as time covers the fences with vines.

We, as taxpayers and beauty lovers, have a right to know why this barrier is being erected. If the animals are not sufficiently guarded, it seems a simple matter, and much less expensive, to strengthen their own cages.

This Zoo Park is for the pleasure of the people of Washington.

The beauty of this park should not be hidden.

THE TALE OF A SCORPION.

We caught him down in Yucatan, a scorpion inky black,
We put him in a bottle for we hoped to bring him back.
It took some time to get him there since pluck is apt to fail
When any healthy scorpion starts lashing with its tail.

Brave Bill, the party naturalist, stepped up and took command,
The ways of stinging scorpions he seemed to understand,
So he thrust the bottled creature in the pocket of his coat,
And we thought no more about it as we started for the boat.

But somewhere west of Merida the lid came off the jar
And the crowd of us discovered just how cunning scorpions are,
For while we jogged along the road, that thing as black as crepe,
Embraced the opportunity fate offered to escape.

We know not when he left us nor just how he got away,
We only know it must have been that insect's lucky day,
But down in Chichen Itza crawls a scorpion again,
Who tells his many children to beware of traveling men.

Their guests were the Ambassador of Chile, Don Miguel Cruchaga Tocornal; the Minister of Guatemala and Senora de Recinos, the Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Abelli, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, Senor and Senora de Pinot, the former being Bolivian delegate to the Chaco conferences with Paraguay; Senor Eduardo Diez de Medina, Bolivian delegate to the same conference with Paraguay; Dr. Jorge Matte, former Minister for Foreign Affairs of Chile; Senor Benjamin Cohen, secretary to the Guatemala Honduras Special Boundary Tribunal, and Senor Carlos Lee, secretary to Dr. Bello Codesido.

The naval attache of the Spanish embassy commander, Frederico Mowreal and Mrs. Mowreal have issued cards for tea Sunday afternoon, from five to seven, at Rossdhu, Braemar Forest, Chevy Chase.

"Nite in Spain" Ball Given for Debutantes.

The debutantes of this and several other years were beautifully entertained last night at a ball at the Mayflower, arranged by Mrs. William Laird Dunlop, which was known as a "Nite in Spain."

The garden of the hotel was transformed for the occasion into a typical Spanish casino with gay-colored awnings of red, yellow and purple, making a most effective picture against the background of out-door scenery that covered the walls of the room. Colored umbrellas were also in evidence at each one of the small tables on the pavillion around the room and lighted candles on the tables furnished the necessary lighting during the supper hour, when a typical Spanish meal was served.

Mrs. Dunlop, who was first to greet the guests, wore an effective costume, a dress of black lace and a Spanish shawl, with a large black Spanish comb in her hair. The other members of the receiving party, Miss Hyde, Miss Carey and Miss Tyner, were likewise dressed in Spanish costumes, with bright-hued shawls.

Flower venders with their gayly laden carts, and the presence of a fortune teller in costume also added to the tropical atmosphere of the surroundings.

Dainty powder jars were given as prizes to the girl wearing the best costume and also to the best tango dancer, and boxes of cigarettes were given to the young men competing in these same groups.

The "bull fight" furnished the greatest excitement of the evening, those taking part being Mr. John Wheeler, Mr. Noel Leggett, Mr. William Laird Dunlop 3d, Mr. Edward Devereux and Mr. John Arnold, with Mr. Binford Valentine as referee.

Another interesting feature of the evening was the dancing of the Cuban habaners by Senor Francis Perry and Senorita Muriel Craven, talented young dancers, of New Orleans. There were also some Spanish vocal selections and a number of accordion renditions.

Among those entertaining at dinner preceding the ball were the Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Abelli, the Naval Attache of the Spanish Embassy and Senora de Monreal, Senator and Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg, Admiral and Mrs. H. I. Cone, Miss Katherine Dubois and Mrs. Anthony Wayne Wirgman.

Miss Carolyn Hyde and her house guests, Miss Gene Kincheloe and Miss Margaret Tullock, were guests at the dinner given by Senator and Mrs. Vandenberg for their daughter, Miss Betty Vandenberg. Others in the party were Miss Marie Smith, of Grand Rapids; Mr. Thomas Snyder, Mr. Felix Hebert, jr., Mr. Frederick Cromwell, Mr. Charles Dotson and Mr. William Hart.

The Resident Commissioner from the Philippines and Mrs. Pedro Guevara entertained at an Easter dinner at their residence in 3106 Eighteenth street northwest. Among the guests were Representative Gilbert N. Haugen, from Iowa, who was recently acclaimed by the House of Representatives for having served 33 years in Congress; the Resident Commissioner from Porto Rico and Mrs. Felix Cordova Davila, who was recently appointed by President Hoover as a justice of the supreme court of Porto Rico; Representative and Mrs. Joseph L. Hooper, from Michigan; Representative and Mrs. John T. Buckbee, from Illinois; Representative Ed. H. Campbell, from Iowa, and Capt. and Mrs. Stephen Massey.

Mrs. John Lawrence, of Groton, Mass., is at the Carlton for several days, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Harding, of Groton, and Miss Janet Sabine, of Brookline, Mass.

Col. and Mrs. Morris E. Locke will entertain at dinner this evening at Grasslands.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler P. Anderson will be hosts at dinner this evening.

Mrs. Russell B. Harrison has with her for the Easter holidays her eldest granddaughter, Miss Sally Ann Williams, who is a student at Smith College. Miss Williams spent the week-end at Annapolis, where she went for the hop Saturday night.

Capt. Winant P. Johnston went to his old home, Indianapolis, Saturday, called there by illness in his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Misley Brown and the Misses Diana and Kathrine Brown spent Easter in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Thomas T. Craven, wife of Rear Admiral Craven, has canceled all social engagements owing to illness.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Strouse, of Minneapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. MacKillican, of Hibbing, Minn., are spending the Easter holidays at the Shoreham.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Williamson, who make their home at the Shoreham, are having a series of dinners there. Last night they entertained at the dinner dance in honor of their daughter, Mrs. William Lloyd Linton, of Jackson Heights, Long Island.

Dr. and Mrs. John A. Clinton, of Newark, N. J.; Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Burton, of Shrewsburg, Pa., and Dr. and Mrs. James W. Downey, of Baltimore, with their young son, are at Wardman Park Hotel for several days.

Mrs. H. Davis Ireland, of New York City, is in Washington for a few days and is a guest at the Mayflower.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Daniel B. Devore have returned to Washington from a trip to the West Indies and will be at the Mayflower for a few days before going to Atlantic City. They will not occupy their new house at 2000 Twenty-fourth street until they return from Europe in the autumn.

Mr. John H. Storer and his daughter, Miss Emily L. Storer, have staying with them at Wardman Park Hotel the former's son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Storer, of Cambridge, Mass., and their daughter, Miss Anna L. Storer.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, of New York City, are spending several days at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes will speak on the Bicentennial Historical Loan Exhibition tomorrow morning at 10:30 in the Auditorium before an audience composed of the D. A. R. regents in the District of Columbia and their friends. The meeting is under the direction of Miss Helen Harmon, State regent for the D. A. R. in the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Hoes has been appointed as one of the three judges of historical window displays, which have appeared throughout the country under the sponsorship of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Hoes is official manager of the Bicentennial Historical Loan Exhibition now on view at the Corcoran Gallery of Art.

Miss Gossette Wed to John D. MacDonald.

The marriage of Miss True Odessa Gossette, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Williams, to Mr. John Duncan MacDonald, son of Judge and Mrs. John S. MacDonald, of Grand Rapids, Mich., took place at noon yesterday in the Bethlehem Chapel of the Washington Cathedral, with the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, officiating. The chapel was decorated with Easter lilies.

The bride wore a gown of flesh color lace, with a lace cap, and tulle veil and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Olive McClintic, wore a frock of pale pink lace, with a lace straw picture hat to match, and she carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. George Douglas Clapperton, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mr. Archibald C. V. Wells, of Washington was master of ceremonies. The ushers were Mr. Burton S. Sibley, of Grand Rapids; and Mr. L. Calhoun Collins, of Washington.

An informal reception was held at the Cathedral following the ceremony and later a wedding breakfast for members of the wedding party was held at the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Williams in the Broadmoor. Mrs. Williams and Mrs. MacDonald stood together to receive the guests, the former wearing a gown of light blue lace and the latter a gown of dark blue lace.

Later Mr. MacDonald and his bride left for a wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride wearing a Navy blue wool beige suit with beige fox fur trimming, a blue Baku hat and veil. They will make their home at 566 Prospect avenue southeast, Grand Rapids, Mich. The bride is a talented musician having studied both piano and pipe organ for several years. Mr. MacDonald is a graduate of the National University School of Law and is practicing law in Grand Rapids, and is United States district commissioner there.

Among the out of town guests were Judge and Mrs. J. S. MacDonald, Mrs. George Clapperton, Mr. Burton Sibley of Grand Rapids.

Among those who entertained at dinner last evening preceding the presentation of "Olivia Bows to Mrs. Grundy," a Professional Players offering, starring Janet Beecher, were Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Beach, and Mrs. Price Whittaker. Mr. Jefferson Patterson will entertain at dinner this evening preceding the play and Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg will entertain at dinner on Thursday evening, later taking her guests to the play.

Miss Ruth G. Lyon Wed to E. E. Colladay Today.

The marriage of Miss Ruth G. Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Galloway Lynn to Mr. Edward Elmore Colladay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Colladay, of Washington, will take place today at 12 o'clock in Emanuel Episcopal Church, Cumberland, Md., the Rev. Henry F. Kloman officiating.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father, and will wear a gown of ivory satin combined with old duchess and rose point lace and a long court train. Her tulle veil will be worn with a cap of old duchess lace and caught with orange blossoms. She will carry a spray of calla lilies.

Her maid of honor will be Miss Evelyn Claybrook, of Cumberland, who will wear a gown of fondant green chanel lace and a hat of the shade of hand-woven straw.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Anna Whiting James, Miss Mary Alice Coulehan, Mrs. Richard Lowndes, Miss Louise Finan and Miss Elsie Warfield, all of Cumberland, and Miss Margery Snyder, of Scranton, Pa. They will all wear frocks of biscotte shade chanel lace and hand-woven straw picture hats of pink orchid with shoes to match. They will carry bouquets of spring flowers.

The best man will be Mr. David C. Colladay, of Washington, brother of the bridegroom. The ushers are: Mr. John Hall Forbes, New York; Mr. Philip Becker, Erie, Pa.; Mr. George Henderson, Cumberland; Mr. Roger A. Black, Mansfield, Ohio; Mr. Howard Hamm, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. Guy Dove, jr., Washington; Mr. George Minor Lynn and Dr. John Galloway Lynn, brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony there will be a reception at the Fort Cumberland Hotel for the bridal party, close friends and relatives of the two families.

Miss Julia S. Keith Bride of Melville H. Bearns, jr.

The marriage of Miss Julia Stuyvesant Keith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Chilton Keith, of Warrenton, Va., to Mr. Melville Henry Bearns, jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in St. James Church, Warrenton, with the Rev. Paul Bowden, rector, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, made along princess lines and falling into a train. Her tulle veil was arranged closely around her head and she carried lilies of the valley.

Mrs. James C. Hamilton was matron of honor and was gowned in powder blue lace, her hat and shoes matching the gown, and she carried talisman roses. The bride's other attendants were Mrs. Robert Johnston, Mrs. Ruth B. Landell, Miss Betsy Keith, Miss Helen Horner, Miss Winifred Maddux, and Miss Frances Robbins. They were dressed in yellow lace, their horsehair hats blue, and blue shoes and they carried blue larkspur. Little Peggy Keith Hamilton, niece of the bride, and Marion Carhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amory Carhart, were flower girls, in dainty frocks of organdie and carried baskets filled with spring flowers.

Mr. Gerard S. Smith, of Brooklyn, was best man and the ushers included Mr. Lucien Keith, jr.; Mr. James C. Hamilton, of Warrenton; Mr. Louis Francke, jr., of Glen Head, Long Island; Mr. George Smith jr., and Mr. Charles Josthe, of Morristown, N. J., and Mr. William I. Keith, jr., of Kansas City, Mo.

A reception at Dunnattar, the home of the bride's parents, followed the ceremony, and later Mr. Bearns and his bride started for a wedding trip, the latter traveling in a brown dress with tweed coat, hat and shoes to match. They will make their home in Warrenton.

Miss Pansy Bloomer Bride of Alfred P. Thom 3d.

Miss Pansy Bloomer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Beale Bloomer, was married yesterday afternoon to Mr. Alfred P. Thom 3d, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Thom, jr. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. G. Freeland Peter. A small company consisting of the members of the two families formed the company. The house was prettily decorated with Easter lilies, Australian ferns and spring blossoms. The only attendant was the best man, Mr. Conway Whittle Thom, brother of the bridegroom. The bride wore her going away costume of rose crepe trimmed with beige color fur and beige color hat, with roses in the back, and her flowers were talisman roses which she wore as a spray on the shoulder.

A reception followed the ceremony after which Mr. and Mrs. Thom started on their bridal trip and on their return they will live at the Westchester. Mrs. Bloomer and Mrs. Thom, mothers of the bride and bridegroom, received with the bride and bridegroom, Mrs. Bloomer wearing brown and white figured silk with brown hat, and Mrs. Thom in black crepe with cream color lace collar and cuffs, and a black hat.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson Ward, of Philadelphia, the latter an aunt of the bride, and their son, Thomas Johnson Ward, jr., and the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Lawrence Peyton, and Miss Betty Peyton, of Staunton, Va.

Maj. and Mrs. Mark E. Guerin will give a small dinner party at their home, 2540 Massachusetts avenue, in honor of Gen. Blanton Winship, judge advocate general of the Army, and Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell Armstrong, of New York, tomorrow evening.

This will be an intimate reunion of friends who served together in the Philippine Islands. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong have just returned from the Philippines, where Mr. Armstrong served on the staff of Gen. Winship when the latter was chief legal adviser to the governor general and when Maj. and Mrs. Guerin were stationed in the islands.

Come From England to Greet Gen. Dawes.

Lord Inverforth, of London, England, and Col. Duncan Neill, of Greenoch, Scotland, are at the Willard. They are in Washington to greet Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gates Dawes, whom they knew in London.

The Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A. are presenting their sixth annual operetta, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," during this week, with a cast of 75 girls.

Mrs. E. H. G. Slater has opened her home on Eighteenth street for the spring months, after three months' absence at her place in Florida.

Mrs. W. A. Pond, of Essex Falls, N. J., is passing a few days at the Dodge and is accompanied by her sons, Mr. William A. Pond, jr., and Mr. Stewart M. Pond.

Miss Leonore Rosenthal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Rosenthal, is the house guest of Miss Helen Walker, of New York City, for the Easter vacation.

The junior dance of the Wesley Heights Club was given at the clubhouse last night with Miss Elizabeth Saunders and Miss Connie Coward in charge of arrangements.

Dr. Robert Peter Tristram Coffin, head of the English department of Wells College, will be the guest of honor at the annual Easter luncheon of the Wells College Club which will be given at the Washington Club tonight. Mrs. George G. Whitney, of Wesley Heights, is in charge of arrangements and her committee includes the names of Mrs. Wilson Perrine and Mrs. Eugene Wilson. Mrs. Horace L. Dawson, president of the club, will preside. It is expected about 30 guests will be present.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

If Not Quickly Checked Blackheads Soon Lead to Worse Complexion Ills.

As I mentioned yesterday, a simple case of oiliness is much easier to treat and overcome than blackheads which usually result. When the little oil ducts are overactive, the moist surface attracts dust and grime. This excess oil and dust soon harden into plugs and close the ducts of the hair follicles and oil glands. And there you have blackheads. Furthermore each blackhead is a potential pimple, for pimples and acne are in reality infected blackheads.

Elsie Pierce.

We shall cover the subject of blackheads and eruptions in combinations at greater length tomorrow. But today let us consider a simple case of blackheads. Often they form on chin or forehead, or they will camp on the wings of the nose or corners of the mouth, and on the back of the neck or even in the ears.

Inner Health of Utmost Importance.

Creams and lotions are excellent to counteract facial blemishes and complexion ills and I heartily recommend the finer ones. But inner health and cleanliness are of utmost importance. No amount of toilet preparations or cosmetics will counteract the damage done by an undermined system and so long as no attention is paid to health fundamentals, to regular elimination, to drinking enough water and eating properly, to getting sufficient sleep and fresh air and keeping the whole mechanism that is one's body in perfect working order, just so long will external remedies prove futile.

But, with good health as a foundation and persistent and proper skin care one can steer quickly and clear to a lovely complexion.

Treatment.

The treatment for blackheads is not a difficult nor involved one, but patience and persistence are necessary toward success.

The first step is through cleansing. A good bland soap of a cleansing cream may be used. If the skin is oily the former is recommended. For a dry skin, use the cream. Following the cleansing apply a little warmed olive oil or a special muscle or wrinkle oil over the blackheads. There are some special lotions on the market for the purpose of softening impurities and making the blackheads easy to remove. Now cover the fingertips with cleansing tissues or with a strip of clean linen and very gently press out the blackheads. Care should be taken not to bruise or break the skin. The next step is closing the pores. There are many pore creams or blackhead creams for the purpose. Or a good skin tonic may be used.

The important things to remember are: First a healthy body; then a cleansed and stimulated skin. Toning up the circulation makes for a healthy, clear skin.

If you have not yet sent for my diet, health rules and exercises, do so soon. They will help your skin to health.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Whose Sweetheart Is This.

DEAR Frances McDonald: My girl reads your column, so may she get this—and get it straight. She comes of a good family, not as well placed socially as my own, but not so inferior as to excuse her. In fact, her folks are all right. She is not. In the first place, all she thinks about is necking. I go up to her house twice a week. One night we go out to dinner and to dance, I like to talk at dinner. All she can discuss is the fellows she has met, or worse still, something she heard on the radio. I discuss things everybody reads and she does not know what I am talking about.

She works in a big department store and runs around with a married woman who works there also. Their idea of being dangerous is making the rounds of a few beer flats and talking about how "tight" they were the night before. This married woman is no better than she might be. And although she has a son 16 years old and lives with her husband, she has no regard for the example she sets her own boy, who is old enough to know that his mother is pretty cheap.

My girl is good-looking, but getting dumber and dumber, and I believe it is the constant association with people of low mentality that is to blame. I know she is no world-beater herself, but if she would go with people who could talk and think instead of people who are not equal to the effort of doing either she would improve instead of going back. At one time I was convinced that I would some day marry her. Now I feel bored after a half hour with her. Always the same thing. I hate a woman to deliberately take the stand that so long as I get plenty of necking I will stick. There may be fellows who would. I am not built that way. I feel pretty disgusted when I am handed a lot of stuff about beer flats and then some necking. I am well placed financially, will inherit considerable money, and I sure want to make no mistake when I marry. I have known her a long time, but am beginning to wonder.

It is no use to tell me to talk to her, for I have. She just beams with delight because she believes I am jealous! Instead I am trying to avoid a break that will be a shock to her. What is your opinion? CARL.

You are doing just what she is doing—spending your time with an inferior companion who makes no demand upon your mental processes, offers no stimulation whatsoever. Why hesitate about the break. No possible happiness could result from your marriage with a girl who is attracted by beer flats! You would leave her before a year was out. So make the break and make it now. It may wake her up and save her from a most unhappy future.

It is difficult to comprehend the girl who thinks it a sign of sophistication to act as this girl is acting. Of course they are aping the ways of what they conceive to be the smart set. And they merely succeed in being the 1932 prototype of the women who patronized the back rooms of corner saloons in the old days. Nothing new or startling about them. Even their conversation is about the same.

Recently in a tea room patronized by just such girls we were urged by a man to "listen in." And it was just as you say. How much Dot drank and how much Fran had before she fell asleep, and all the nauseating drivel that is older than beer itself. There is no future for such girls. The men who hear them catalogue them and exploit them and then discard them.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

NEW YORK, March 28.—It doesn't take a prognosticator to predict the revival of cotton. Cotton having revived, as it were, quietly and surely replacing printed chiffons for summer evening wear, summer afternoons.

* * * *

We've been talking about cottons for some time, but, then, one can be too previous. Now is the time to mention them more in detail, and to sketch a couple of frocks of cotton, even. The one on the larger figure is a gay batiste, embroidered in red to suggest lace, the embroidery massing at the top and wisping off below the skirt. Whilst blue and violine organdy make the draped frock on the little figure, the one-sided bodice drape ending in a skirt section down on one side of the front that is quite flat. . . . shades of "Pomone et de Corinne!"

Gay and youthful are cotton frocks, dainty, quite; quite new, and with their own special charm that the clever woman will take advantage of. And how appropriate they are for summer resort evenings! Somehow, now that we see them at Palm Beach and Cannes, formal evening gown fabrics seem almost out of place. Certainly they seem a bit ostentatious—as though they were trying to tell us that we didn't know that cottons were quite, quite as elegant and expensive as they were!

Lace is the most popular trimming for the cotton frock, braid next, embroidery, and tulle.

And then as to being any economy, don't forget the upkeep, dahrling! Once is the wearing of a cotton frock, and then away to the cleaners, at a dollar a ruffle or something like that! And lingerie, what lingerie one must wear 'neath a cotton frock! Well, that deserves a day all to itself, the new and necessary evening lingerie, so more anon.

* * * *

Well, well, I just thought that the thousands of clever ladies who sent for the six-in-one-dress some weeks ago would like to know how to make an underskirt arrangement for it, one that follows the lines of the dress, you see—and that attaches right to the guimpe to which you baste all your extra sleeve sets, making a perfect costume slip for the dress, comprenez?

'Specially when I tell you that the guimpe and underskirt combined take two yards of material, and most especially, when I tell you that the underskirt alone is just perfect for any of the longer frocks, evening frocks especially, when made without the guimpe at all. So-o-o-o-o-o, I made the leaflet, and all you have to do is send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for it.

* * * *

Always and ever, gray is individual! A gray chiffon evening gown draped beautifully over deep flesh satin caused much comment and many concealed compliments to the wearer, recently. And I, gray always being my favorite, just had to write about it!

Gray is for the individual—the woman with real personality, with poise, with allure. Or else it is gray that gives her all this . . . I don't know. But "La Dame en Gris" is always a romantic figure.

Au revoir!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

DISEASES IN THE CANAL ZONE.

WE are gaining information about malaria and some other semitropical diseases from work that is being done by the Gorgas Institute. This institution, subsidized in different ways by the United States, by Panama and by Venezuela, is working directly on the disease problems of Panamanian territory adjacent to the Canal Zone. Their discoveries are of great service to the Zone and to Panama, but people everywhere get some of the benefit. The institute, in a sense, is subsidized by the Army, the Navy, the Public Health Service, the Bureau of Animal Industry and various universities, in that these organizations detail scientists to tours of duty, to be spent doing research work for the institute.

The work on malaria done by the institute relates to the disease as it is found among Panamanians living in their own villages, within a few miles of the Madden Dam, how being built. Among the discoveries they have made about malaria are these:

Nearly every person examined has some malarial parasites in his blood.

Persons always exposed to malaria acquire a very good immunity to the disease.

As a rule, it does not make them very sick. Rarely are they sick enough to go to a hospital.

Of the parasites in their blood only one-sixth are at the stage where they are capable of infecting mosquitoes.

After malaria treatment, the percentage of the total population having malarial infection is greatly decreased, but the proportion of those infected, who are capable of infecting mosquitoes, increased.

Most people who develop symptoms do so not because of being newly infected, but because of relapse of old infections.

The chief danger of infection lay in being around infected people. Houses in which several infected people lived were more dangerous than houses near swamps and pools, but occupied by only a few people.

In that region drainage and other measures to prevent mosquito breeding are not practicable.

It is the opinion of Dr. Clark that screening of houses and mosquito trapping will not help much in Panamanian villages. He favors compulsory treatment of all the people. It will have to be done by discipline, as the infected people are not very sick, and are therefore rather indifferent.

Babies under 3 months of age do not have malaria. Children older than that have about as much of the disease as do adults.

While monkeys have malaria, they do not get the disease from human beings, nor feed it to them. Wild monkeys are a reservoir for relapsing fever, and are capable of getting it from man and feeding it to him.

Chagres disease it a human malady about which we know nothing in North America, but our neighbors to the south are well acquainted with it. It affects dogs, squirrels, opossums and bats, as well as man. They have found five cases in Panama, and, since we are very well supplied by dogs, squirrels, opossums and bats, the disease seems to be headed this way.

Dr. Clark, reporting for the institute, writes of a disease of horses, a trypanosomiasis, not unlike sleeping sickness, which is making its way across the republic of Panama as road building progresses. Unless proper precautions are taken this disease will be brought to the live stock in countries further north.

Waffles Bring Back Memories of New England.

IT'S hard to realize that this is the end of March, that a whole month has passed since "Leap Day" and that April showers are almost with is, to the end of true spring and May flowers. In thinking of the flowers of May, I always remember New England in the spring of the year with its myriads of arbutus blossoms nestled under wet leaves on the wooded hillsides, and how we used to search for them on the Sunday afternoons, to come home laden with their fragrant pink and white blossoms and come home, also, as it happened almost always, to new maple sirup and piping hot waffles—and sometimes afterward popped corn made over the living-room fire on the hearth. There used to be droves of us at those waffle suppers, home from school for Easter. These days remind one of Easter holidays long gone! but I'm personally always wondering what has become of a certain intangible flavor which went with the food of those days. Was it our youth, and its gusty love of good things to eat, or was it indeed that no other food quite touches that which was of mother's day in a long-gone springtime?

Waffles we shall add to the column today; perhaps you have a new can of this year's sirup, and for tomorrow's dinner a New England dish of homely splendor—corned beef with cabbage!

Coffee

Cream of Carrot Soup.

1 cupful carrots, diced
1 cupful potatoes, diced
1 small onion, minced
2½ cupfuls boiling water
3 cupfuls milk
3 tablespoonfuls flour
1 tablespoonful butter
1 teaspoonful sugar
1½ teaspoonfuls salt
⅛ teaspoonful pepper
2 teaspoonfuls minced parsley

Combine carrots, potatoes, onion and water and simmer for thirty minutes. Rub through a sieve. Add the milk. Rub together the flour, butter and seasonings. Add a little of the milk mixture to this, return to the whole and stir until the mixture boils. Boil for two or three minutes and serve sprinkled with parsley.

Corned Beef and Cabbage.

1 medium-sized cabbage
4 pounds corned beef

Soak beef one-half hour in cold water or place in cold water and bring to boiling point. Drain. Cover with boiling water and simmer or cook below boiling point until the meat is tender—from three to five hours. If a brown scum rises to the top, remove. The last hour add cabbage, cut in eighths. When the cabbage is tender, remove, even though the meat is not yet tender. Heat the cabbage again by adding to the meat just long enough to heat through.

Apple Whip.

4 firm, tart apples.
3 egg whites, beaten stiff
Pinch of salt
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract

Pare, quarter and core apples. Steam until tender, press through a sieve and chill. Beat the egg whites with the salt until stiff but not dry, and gradually add the sugar and apple pulp, beating all the time. Add flavoring. Partly fill individual glasses with soft custard, heap with the apple whip, garnish with a maraschino cherry and serve thoroughly chilled.

Soft Cornstarch Custard.

2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 pint of milk, scalded
3 egg yoolks
½ teaspoon vanilla

Mix together the cornstarch, sugar and salt. Gradually add the scalded mik and stir until smooth. Cook covered in double boiler one-half hour. Beat the egg yolks slightly, add the hot mixture a little at a time, stirring constantly. Cook one or two minutes, strain and serve thoroughly chilled. Flavor with vanilla.

Waffles.

1 egg, beaten
1 cup flour, sifted
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon sugar
1 cup milk, a little more or less
3 tablespoons melted butter

Sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder into a mixing bowl. Sift again. Add the milk slowly, beating with a rotary egg beater. Stir in the well-beaten egg and then the melted butter.

The success of waffles depends largely upon the consistency of the batter. It must be a light batter when finished and one that will run easily and lightly into the waffle-iron from the pitcher. Turn the batter in small quantity into the center of hot waffle-iron. Bake until the waffle is a golden brown and easily freed from the iron.

SIGNALING FOR SLAM.

THEY say that the business of theatrical production is conducted, on the whole, at a loss; more fortunes are sunk in it than are gained. This may or may not be true. But there is little doubt that more points, in the aggregate, are lost than gained by bidding for Slams. The fatal lure of the Slam bonus continually leads to overbidding on hands where four-odd or five-odd can easily be made, with the result that not only are the coveted Slam points missed, but games, worth hundreds of points in the "invisible" balance sheet, are thrown away.

A Small Slam should not be bid unless there is at least an even chance of making it. This principle is based on the mathematics of the case. If the Declarer of the Slam is not vulnerable and has an even chance of making, say, five-odd or six-odd in spades, he scores 980 points if he makes six-odd (assuming that his game is worth 300) and loses 50 if he makes five-odd. His expectation, in the mathematical sense, is thus ½ (980—50), or 465 points. If he declares five-odd only, in the same position, he will score either 500 points or 450, an expectation of 475 points. The gamble for Slam is, therefore, barely worth while. Vulnerable, owing to the Slam bonus being larger in relation to the value of the game, a slightly bigger risk may be taken.

On the other hand, Grand Slam should not be bid unless the odds are at least 3 to 1. This is because one must be pretty certain of one's chance of the Grand Slam bonus to justify imperiling the certain bonus for Small Slam.

Under these circumstances no Slam should be bid unless definite indications have been given that the cards held warrant the risk. "Slam signals" are intended to warn one's partner that such indications may be looked for.

The recognized "Slam signals" are three:

1—A direct overbid of the opponents' bid suit (in the later stages of bidding).

2—A bid for more than game (obviously futile, except as a Slam invitation).

3—A continuation of the bidding after a game bid has been reached.

As an illustration of this third type of "Slam signal" take the following hand from an international match:

	♠ K 4 3 2 ♡ 9 8 5 ◇ Q 10 3 ♣ 6 4 3
♠ Q J ♡ A J ◇ A J 7 6 5 2 ♣ K Q 2	N W E S	♠ A 8 6 5 ♡ K Q 7 ◇ K 8 4 ♣ A 10 7
	♠ 10 9 7 ♡ 10 6 4 3 2 ◇ 9 ♣ J 9 8 5

West—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

Mr. Lightner (East) and I (West) bid this hand as follows:

West	North	East	South
1◇	Pass	3NT	Pass
4◇	Pass	6◇	Pass
Pass	Pass

The "Slam signal" was my bid of four diamonds after a game bid (three notrump) had been reached. This made it clear to Mr. Lightner that I was sufficiently stronger than my minimum to justify the Slam attempt.

In play, of course, we lost only the Queen of diamonds.

TODAY'S POINTER.

Jump Takeout With Two Notrump.

This is not a Forcing bid. It denies a biddable suit, but shows about 2½ honor-tricks in all.

Example:

Opening bid is one heart.

½	♠ K 2	½
1½	♡ A Q 3 2	2½
½	◇ Q J 7 6	1
½	♣ Q J 2	½
3 honor-tricks		4½ tricks at hearts

Response is two notrump.

1½	♠ A Q 4
0	♡ 7 6
1	◇ A 10 2 2
0	♣ 7 5 4 3

2½ honor-tricks.

The Opening Hand, with 3 honor-tricks, will rebid to three notrump.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

I WAS given a primrose a few weeks ago. It has continued to grow very beautifully, now what next? Has the plant a future, or does it die when its present crop of flowers are over? My Johnsonii lily is affected with mealy bug. What do you suggest to rid my plant of this pest? Can I grow an African violet in my garden in the summer? I would take it indoors before frost.

MRS. FRANKLIN D. G.

Your primrose, if properly cared for, will live almost indefinitely. It demands a great deal of water and a warm, sunny, well-ventilated location. Spray the plant once a week with cold water to prevent the appearance of mealy bug. Do not, however, allow the water to collect about the heart of the plant. Florists do not keep old plants from year to year, but each season propagate new ones. Young plants naturally bloom better than old ones. Give your lily the same treatment. Yes, you may plant African violets in the open when the weather permits. Be sure to keep them well watered at all times.

Will you please tell me what has caused the leaves of my entire plant to go as the one I am inclosing? I have only had the plant two weeks. I have given it the same care as all my other plants. This one is commencing to droop and the tips of all the leaves are yellow. I have removed six large leaves which have completely withered. I keep it in a very warm room, but never near a radiator.

MAUDE H. L.

As you do not tell me the care you are giving your other plants, I can not explain any mistake you may be making in the care of this particular plant, which is a species of dracena. This variety should be provided with a light, fibrous soil with good drainage, liberal watering, with frequent showering, and to insure the greatest development of coloring should be given all the sunshine available.

Please tell me when to sow sweetpea seed. I usually do this in the fall, but last year was unable to, due to illness.

MRS. GODFREY F.

Better sow your sweetpea seed at once. The sooner you do so, the earlier you will have the plants in bloom.

I have a large aspidistra plant the leaves of which are turning yellow. Each week I remove the driest of them. My begonia is about in the same condition. I have cut the begonia back and attempted to root the slips taken from the removed top growth. I have planted these slips in soil. Would it have been better to root these in water?

Better transplant your aspidistra, dividing the root into three pieces, planting each one in a separate pot Begonia cuttings will root in either soil or water.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

IT'S SLENDERIZING.

A lovely day dress in crepe silk print in brown and citron coloring that Paris is favoring. The trim is plain citron shade crepe.

Its tricky slimming diagonal lines lend slenderness to the mature figure. The clever low placement of the plaits at the left side of the skirt kick out in graceful flare in motion.

Style No. 301 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Navy blue crepe silk with white trim is another nice scheme.

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF March 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to noon, from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8:45 a. m. and from 6 p m. to 7:40 p. m.

An unsettled feeling and a desire for change will be created by planetary conditions on March 29. Any anxieites will prove to be a mere storm in a teacup. "Stick by your guns" and wait for further development on any affairs of importance.

Children born on this March 29 will learn very easily, which may prove to be their undoing through the easily acquired habit of leaving everything until the last moment. They should be allowed to drift for themselves as much as possible, as they will be by nature neither independent-spirited or self-reliant.

The story of your life, as pictured astrologically for a March 29 person is full of human interest. You will live fully and not always too wisely, but you are out to know what life has to offer to one who is not afraid to dip too deeply into the cup of life. You do not know the meaning of fear and worry is not akin to one of your temperament. You are none too conventional and feel that everyone is entitled to live their own lives in their own way and according to their own light.

You have both imagination and foresight. The former has been said to be the faculty which represents the future and the latter the quality which possesses it. You are not afraid of hard work, but are looking for those things which give big returns.

There are, it seems, certain advantages if and when a doting mother is able to provide a lawful father for her three charming children before they become of marriageable age. Or three lawful fathers, for that matter. But when a condition arises in the home that causes the youngest son to appraise his mother's youthful impetuosity in the sage but not melancholy observation that she was "three times a mother but never a bride," the social problems confronting the older son and daughter about to become betrothed, may be said to grow a trifle acute.

This is the delightfully whimsical premise upon which Mr. Roland Bottomley bases his frivolous contention that chastity, unlike charity, need not necessarily begin at home!

The cold recitation of the bizarre situation upon which all the developments of this sprightly farce are founded lends it a suggestion of daring that it does not altogether possess. Mr. Bottomley has dealt discreetly with materials that might easily have proved inflammable, if not explosive, in less cautious hands.

The revelation of the mother's secret, guarded all these years, and the devastating effect it seems to have upon the future of her children, both are concentrated in the first act, thus fortifying the opening interval of the play with virtually the author's sum total of the elements of surprise, humor and shocks. From the fall of the first curtain, through the two scenes of the second act and the single scene of the third, "Olivia Bows to Mrs. Grundy" coasts down a sharply descending toboggan that deposits it nowhere in particular at the end. The second act is wholly farcical and the third wholly inane.

The author set about his playwrighting with a splendid idea for a daring, but fresh and invigorating comedy, transferring to the opposite sex something of the perplexity of a "Bachelor Father," and then, unhappily, was completely unsuccessful in affording it adequate terminal facilities. A scintillant possibility, thus, becomes merely silly in accomplishment.

This is strictly a matter in which Mr. Bottomley is culpable and not in any sense the fault of Miss Janet Beecher or the excellent company of associates by whom she is surrounded. Miss Beecher's assumption of the role of the mother whose youth was lived in a giddy whirl of rapturous vacillation, and her later years in a difficult effort to remember which of her unmarried swains was the father of which of her children, is marked by a delicacy of touch, a deft turning of the humorous and pithy speeches written into the part and a disarming naivete that lead one to wish that her vehicle might have been more worthy of her generous endowments as an artful exponent of adult and sophisticated comedy.

The three objects of her earlier infatuations, whom she summons to her home in the forlorn hope that one may prove worthy of becoming the legal father of his own child and an acceptable stepfather of the other two, are impersonated with a fine flair for the extravagances of farce by Sydney Greenstreet, the recent Earl of Loam in the revival of "The Admirable Crichton;" Taylor Holmes, absent from the local stages for many months, and Nicholas Joy. Mrs. Olivia Stewart's attorney, and the eventual solution of her pressing difficulties, is played to the part's substantial advantage by Fleming Ward.

The three junior Stewarts—for want of a more authentic name—are splendidly done by Vernon Rich, David Morris and Jane Wyatt, with the juvenile Mr. Morris having a shade the advantage of the others both in the color of his speeches and the spontaneous manner of their delivery. Sam Wren and Evelyn Carter Carrington, as Edward Grundy and his mother, whose escutcheon, by implication, was not entirely blotless, either, complete a thoroughly competent ensemble.

The three acts are the distinct beneficiaries of some excellent staging on the part of Rollo Wayne and it would be a crass digression from fact to suggest that laughs do not abound throughout the movement of the plot's quest of paternalism and propriety. It is at times hilariously and uncontrollably funny. If it could only maintain the pace of that first act and didn't run down so toward the end!

GAYETY

"DAINTY DOLLS." Columbia Burlesque with George Broadhurst, Jack Cameron, Joan Lee and Gladys Smith. Reviewed Monday night by William L. Wright.

The week's attraction at the Gayety, "Dainty Dolls," is rated A-1 and should please the most critical. Songs and dances pepped up with good fun characterizes the program.

The comedy revolves around the person of George Broadhurst, a talented comedian of the old school. George starts slowly but when he gets going there are no dull moments. Also appearing in the comedy scenes are Jack Cameron, Wen Miller, and Luke Howard.

Charming Joan Lee, a shapely blonde beauty, offers several song and dance selections that are a pleasure to watch. Nicely costumed, Miss Lee made a big hit in her last number. You should see this.

Gladys Smith, who demonstrated her ability in several divergent roles, made an enticing Tondeleyo in the South Sea Island scene. Her best song number was "Sleepy Time Down South." A real treat in a show with many excellent song selections.

A beautiful brunette, Mary Noel, and her violin, were much in demand. She has a pleasing voice and could be seen and heard more often without tiring her audience.

The Victor Trio, an adagio dance team, recently of the Folies Bergere in Paris, offer several daring and extremely difficult stunts. Their startling ending of the Chinese Fantasy was exceptional.

At popular request, Manager Lake held Lee Sechrist over from last week. This lad plays a clever accordion.

Man, 74, Seriously Hurt By Hit-and-Run Auto

S. C. E. Brown, 74 years old, of 412 Sixth street northwest, was brought to Casualty Hospital in a serious condition last night after being struck by a hit-and-run car on the Baltimore boulevard near Beltsville, Md.

He was found lying in the road by a passing motorist who called the Bladensburg rescue squad. At Casualty Hospital Mr. Brown was reported to have a fractured skull.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WHILE the nations of the world meet at Geneva in an endeavor to abolish war, Robert C. Sheriff, English author of "Journey's End," is on his way to Hollywood to provide a potent antidote for war in the adaptation of Remarque's "The Road Back," a sequel to "All Quiet on the Western Front."

Attaining a national realization of what war really means is as important as holding disarmament meetings, Mr. Sheriff believes. Books, plays and especially films he considers an effective and far-reaching means toward this end.

It is pointed out by Mr. Ware Torrey, an observant commentator, that since his war play and its later translation into novel form, Sheriff has been recognized as one of the most accurate and most forceful interpreters of war's destructive results. Filming of "The Road Back," he expects to give him a new medium for expressing his attitude toward war and its vicious aftermath.

"Men go to war because it is looked upon almost universally as the thing to do," Sheriff said in a recent interview. "The only effective means, under the present international modus operandi, to bring about a contrary viewpoint, would be for the populations of the nations to pair off, each individual citizen of each prospective belligerent nation saying to the other, 'I won't go if you won't.' But that would require an almost inexhaustible amount of organization."

Films, he thinks, can be made to make a start in the right direction.

In Hollywood, Mr. Sheriff hopes to work in association with James Whale, producer of "Journey's End" in London and New York, in adapting Remarque's book for Universal.

This finished, he will return to Oxford, and complete his studies in modern history. Since he went to war immediately after finishing school, and worked for some time after the war was over, he is now realizing a long-cherished determination to go to Oxford.

"At Oxford," he says, "I write an essay a week, don't get a penny for writing and have to pay for being there. Figure it out!"

Since Maurice Browne, pioneer in the American little theater movement, and later one of the foremost of British producers, at one time had fourteen companies playing "Journey's End" in London, the English provinces and on the continent, figuring it out might not be as difficult as Mr. Sheriff seems to think!

The road seems to agree with Allan Rogers, former master of ceremonies at the Palace, who this week is singing the role of Alexis in "The Chocolate Soldier," at the National. I should hazard the offhand guess, from a vantage point in the third row on the aisle, that Mr. Rogers has taken on a full ten or fifteen pounds since his last appearance on a local stage. And it is by no means unbecoming, although ten or fifteen more. . . .

Speaking of masters of ceremonies, Wesley Eddy will not be here to combine his local popularity with that of Jean Harlow when she makes her first personal appearance at the Palace, beginning this Friday, April 1. In his place, according to present plans, will come Bert Frohman, at one time in the dim past a so-called "permanent" master of ceremonies at the Fox, who has since appeared here numerously as presiding panjandrum of one Loew stage unit or another. This somewhat lessens the threat against the Palace's present attendance record.

Had Wesley put in an appearance here with Miss Harlow, an interesting coincidence might have been observed.

As I recall it, Master Eddy's tenure at the Palace consumed an unbroken period of 72 weeks. Next week will be Maxine Doyle's seventy-second in a similar capacity at the Earle. The mellifluous Maxine is now in her seventy-first week and still going strong.

Within a fortnight she will be in sole possession of the all-time record for continuous service on a Washington stage. More power to her!

It is understandable that George White and his associates, including the Messrs. Flynn and Morley, press representative and treasurer, respectively, should have been a bit disappointed at the gross receipts of the "Scandals" during its week at the Washington Auditorium. Arriving in the National Capital all aglow with the enthusiasm that springs from such weeks as their $44,000 in Boston and $50,000 in Philadelphia, these worthy gentlemen foresaw nothing less than $50,000 or $60,000 as the Washington "take." As a matter of fact, it ran about half that.

The fact that the Auditorium is off the beaten track and not on a line of heavy pedestrian traffic, thus minimizing the chances of boxoffice window sales, probably had a decided bearing on the final result. There is precious little "drop in" trade at Nineteenth and E!

And that flat floor!

In that "Scandals" troupe, by the way, it is Jane of the Gale Quadruplets who looks so much like Joan Crawford that you can't tell them apart. Both on and off, so I am told.

The happiest thing that happened to Eddy Gilmore, the newly appointed director of advertising and publicity for the Loew Theaters in Washington, last Sunday, incidentally, was the arrival of Mrs. Gilmore from Atlanta to make her future home in Washington with her husband. The boy looks ten years younger already!

Two special parties will be entertained at the Fox Theater tonight. The first is a group of 75 boys and girls from various Detroit, Mich., schools, who are making their annual Easter pilgrimage to the Nation's Capital.

The second party is composed of 60 boys from Wilmington, Del. The boys comprise a party made up by the Y. M. C. A. of that city.

Sprig, sprig, gedtle sprig. Bah! And a couple of fooeys!

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Busick were at Atlantic City for the week-end.

Lieut. and Mrs. Ralph S. Barnaby will be chaperons at the Gamma Delta Fraternity dance to be given at the Wesley Heights Club tonight. They have as their guest, Mr. J. C. Junkin, of Louisville, Ky., who is in Washington to secure some patents from the Government. Lieut. and Mrs. Barnaby will leave on Wednesday probably by plane to attend the Annual Air Show in Detroit.

Miss Edith Simpson Married to Carson Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Lee Simpson of Clarendon, Va., announce the marriage of their daughter Edith to Mr. Carson Carlisle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elic Carlisle, of Clarendon. The wedding took place yesterday morning in the rectory of St. Charles' Church, in Clarendon, the rector, the Rev. Father Daily, officiating, at 9:30 o'clock, in the presence of only the members of the two families.

The bride wore a traveling costume of light brown crepe with a small brown hat and veil and a crosage bouquet of lilies of the valley and sweet peas. She was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Katharine Simpson, and Mr. Maynard Carlisle was best man for his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle started immediately after the ceremony for a short wedding trip and on their return will be at home temporarily with the former's parents, in Clarendon.

Visiting ladies at the Four-State Postgraduate Clinic, which will open today at the Mayflower under the auspices of the District of Columbia Dental Society, will be entertained at a luncheon and bridge party today by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Dental Society. A committee of ladies headed by Mrs. Charles T. Bassett, president of the auxiliary, is in charge of arrangements.

The clinic will bring dentists and their wives from Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia to Washington, and preparations are being made for a large luncheon and bridge. Elaborate prizes have been prepared and there will be a prize for every table.

Associated with Mrs. Bassett on the committee are Mrs. Hugh Callahan, Mrs. Clarence Allen, Mrs George Ellis, Mrs. Arthur Crane, Mrs. F. A. Casteel, Mrs. William Ogus, Mrs. Allen S. Wolfe, Mrs. Charles Rice, Mrs. William Sweet, Mrs. Stephen I. Hopkins and Mrs. Mark Bullis.

Dr. and Mrs. Irving H. Pardee, of New York, are at the Carlton for about a week, accompanied by their two children, Miss Margaret S. Pardee and Master S. Trevor Pardee.

Mr. and Mrs. Houghton P. Metcalf, of Providence, R. I., are passing some time at the Carlton, accompanied by their son and daughter, Mr. Houghton P. Metcalf, jr., and Miss Katherine Metcalf. Miss Isabel Doolittle and Mr. George Hurd, friends of Miss Metcalf and Mr. Metcalf, jr., are in the party.

TAX IS CUT 3 CENTS IN PRINCE GEORGES

$1.49 Rate Is Set as One of Commissioners Refuses to Sign Document.

A tax rate of $1.49 per $100 was set yesterday for Prince Georges County in the 1932 budget, which one of the five commissioners refused to sign because he thought the rate could be lowered.

The levy set yesterday is 3 cents lower than the 1931 tax, in spite of additional expenses estimated at $42,000. The reduction was made possible by cutting Government costs wherever possible and by removing some expenses entirely from the budget. The levy is expected to bring in $909,505.24 this year, as contrasted with receipts of $914,929.80 in 1931.

Items removed from the budget are $2,400 for the county social worker, $3,000 for the Maryland School for the Blind, $8,000 for insurance, $1,000 for auditing, and $1,000 for the Washington Regional Highway Committee. New items are $6,490 for the Edmonston road bonds and $1,200 for a stenographer for the State's attorney and the circuit court. The remainder of the additional expense consists of increases required by law for elections and for the volunteer firemen of the county. Social work, insurance, and other items taken from the levy will still be carried on, however, in a restricted form.

Frank Small, jr., one of the two Republicans on the board, refused to sign the levy because he thought the road tax should be cut 5 cents instead of 3 cents. This is the first time a commissioner has refused to sign, and it has aroused some doubt as to the legality of the levy. The law states that "the commissioners shall sign" on a certain day, but does not say that all of them must. M. Hampton Magruder, attorney to the board, gave it as his opinion that three signatures were sufficient to make the budget legal.

Items decreased and the amount cut are: Taxes refunded, $92, a cut of $150; removed cases, $256, a cut of $2,100; county agents, $2,000, a cut of $55; local farm agent, $600, a cut of $100; home demonstration agent, $1,750, a cut of $50; interest on courthouse bonds, $2,300, a cut of $209; interest on school bonds, $53,-$17.50, a cut of $1,000; finatic paupers, $19,000, a cut of $3,000; roads, $121,143.27, a cut of $16,000; defense of criminals, $1,020, a cut of $350; registration of vital statistics, $481.35, a cut of $100, and outpensioners, $1,761, a cut of $100.

Items in which increases were necessary and their amount are: Public printing, $1,355, $385 more; store accounts, $1,247.61, $820 more; stationery, $3,380.53, $100 more; burying paupers, $600, $220 more; miscellaneous, $2,533.54, $66 more; Volunteer Fire Association, $15,000, $10,000 more; local assessors, $1,500, $500 more; surplus for emergency expenses, $6,846.21, $700 more.

Clerk of the Circuit Court, $2,934.90, $500 more; warden to jail, $7,649, $1,-779 more; jurors and bailiffs, $9,000, $2,000 more; sheriff, $6,200, $200 more; almshouse, $5,000, $1,000 more; bond redemption $24,000, $2,000 more; constable's accounts, $2,944.70, $1,600 more; magistrate's accounts, $7,970.20, $2,500 more; jurors of inquest, $1,428, $600 more, and fox scalps, $72, $36 more.

Group Indorses Children on Stage

North Capitol Association Dissents in Federation's Opposition to Bill.

Notwithstanding the action of the Federation of Citizens' Association opposing the law to permit children to appear on the stage at night in Washington, the North Capitol Citizens Association went on record favoring the proposed law at a meeting last night at McKinley High School. The association took this action after Seldon M. Ely, the association's delegate to the federation, reported the action of the federation.

Opposition was voiced in a resolution to the acquisition of land on Allison street by the Board of Education for the purpose of erecting a colored school. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the House subcommittee on District appropriations.

U. S. Credit Body To Refund to Banks

$20,250,000 Is Set Aside for Reimbursement of Subscribers.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—The National Credit Corporation, which was organized last October to assist banks, today set aside $20,250,000 for repayment to subscribing member banks.

The payment will amount to a 15 per cent refund on capital subscribed for the corporation which in its brief period of operation has helped out 1,200 banks and at one time had outstanding $189,000,000 of loans, part of which the corporation obtained by borrowing. Subscribing banks advanced a total of $135,000,000 of the corporation and the initial repayment of $20,250,000 will reduce the balance due them to $114,750,000.

Retired U. S. Clerk Takes Life by Gas

Miss Myra T. Hillman, 72, Found Dead by Nurse, Held Suicide.

Miss Myra T. Hillman, 72 years old, retired Government employe, committed suicide yesterday morning by turning on the gas in the kitchen of her apartment at Clifton Terrace South.

She was found by her nurse, Miss Gertrude Dawes, who has been attending her about a month, at 8:20 yesterday morning, when she reported for work. Dr. A. Magruder MacDonold, deputy coroner, issued a certificate of suicide.

Miss Hillman had been in ill health about a month and had often told friends and her nurse that she was tired of living and might take her life. She attempted to kill herself about a month ago, but was unsuccessful, it was said.

Hoover Indorsed By Virginia Group

Republican Voters Back His Administration; Name Convention Groups.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., March 28.—Republican voters of Charlottesville, in a mass meeting today indorsed the administration of President Hoover as that of a "great President" who, "under many handicaps, has labored for the people of the United States.

"We believe that the Nation is on the dawn of a new and prosperous era, and we hereby pledge him who has come to make his summer home among the mountains of our glorious Virginia faith, confidence and support.

"We predict his reelection as our leader and guide."

House Postpones Action on Trolleys

Mrs. Norton Asks Delay on Merger Bill Until Next Tuesday.

House action on the proposed traction consolidation merger, scheduled for Thursday night, was postponed until Tuesday of next week yesterday at the request of Representative Mary T. Norton, chairman of the House District committee.

Meanwhile Senator Arthur Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, and Senator John J. Blaine (Republican), Wisconson, delayed their minority report opposing the "power clause" in the bill favorably reported by the Senate committee last week, pending return of Senator Blaine from Wisconsin.

Thrown From Bicycle, Boy Suffers Broken Leg

Thrown from his bicycle when its front wheel caught in the rear bumper of an automobile at Fourteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest, Hall Peters, 17 years old, of 723 Eleventh street northwest, suffered a broken leg last night.

Henry Bartoch, of 1411 T street southeast, picked the youth up and took him to Emergency Hospital. He was kept there for treatment.

Thieves Raid Doctor's Home of $250 Valuables

Thieves entered the home of Dr. Charles McEnerney at 2795 Twenty-eighth street northwest, some time during the week-end and made away with $250 worth of clothing, perfume and jewelry, the physician reported to police yesterday.

They gained entrance by climbing over a rear transom, he said.

Nine-Stroy Structure Sold at Auctoin; Assessed for $840,300.

The Printcraft Building, nine-story, fireproof stores, print shops and office structure, at 930 H street northwest, was sold at public auction yesterday for $543,342.48, to Alfred M. Lawson, vice president and real estate officer, Washington Loan & Trust Co., representing that company and the Union Trust Co. The only other bid was an opening one of $500,000 offered by Maj. Julius I. Peyser, Adam A. Weschler was the auctioneer.

The building advertised by Carl B. Prickitt and E. Quincy Smith, trustees, was erected in 1927 by Wetman Construction Co.

The original estimated cost is recorded at $900,000 and the current assessed valuation of the property is $840,300, of which $650,000 is for the building and $190,300 for the site.

Can You Afford to Pay More for Insurance Than Your Competitors?

During 1931 our policy holders in Washington and vicinity received over $125,000 in dividends on fire and casualty insurance. In many instances this represented a saving of over 25% of the premium. It will pay you to place your fire, automobile, compensation, plate glass and other forms of insurance in good Mutual companies.

Mutual management is noted for conservatism, and Mutual corporations for stability, for paying losses promptly and fully, for rendering service ably and generously. If your business or property can qualify as first class in moral and physical risk, and if you would like to know more about our plan of operation—

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE CUT RATE DINNER.

NOW for the cut rate restaurant! Heretofore a medium through which tickets to Broadway plays were sold at low rates, New York ticket agencies are now offering restaurant chairs below the "box-office" price.

* * * *

Two-dollar dinners at well-known supper clubs were put on sale at the cut rate office for $1.25 the other night, and if the idea goes over big the board may carry the following "attractions:"

Paradox Supper Club; $1.50 dinner—99 cents. (Tonight only.)

Roy's Dutch Grill; 6 choice tables at 75 cents a plate. (Regular price, $1.25.)

Billy's Inn; chicken dinner and revue—regular $2 attraction—now $1.

Hotel Wistaria; 80 cents a plate—this week only.

German Gardens; 75-cent tables near stage, now 45 cents; tables at rear 30 cents.

* * * *

"Have you anything for the Smiling Cow Tavern tonight?" the hungry man with a limited pocketbook may inquire at the ticket agency.

"How many?"

"I dunno; how good is it?"

"It's had very good notices. The soup is one of the hits of the season, the entree is as smart as they come, and the main course—a choice between corned beef and cabbage and a small steak with baked potato—got such an ovation opening night that the chef had to take seven bows," the cut rate man will explain.

"How about the dessert?"

"Well, the critics differed on that. Woollcott liked it but Broun said it was inadequate. Anyhow, I understand they've rewritten the menu since the first night and the dinner is so changed you'd never know it."

"How much is it?"

"I've got two fine chairs at a main floor table that you can have for 80 cents. Or I can give you a pair in the basement for a half dollar."

* * * *

You may even see this sort of poster in some of our best restaurant windows:

OUR SPECIAL DOLLAR TURKEY DINNER.
Read What the Critics Say!

Lockridge (Sun).—"One of the most diverting meals of the present season. I couldn't get enough of it."

Garland (World-Telegram)—"Splendid! Glorious! Swell Feed! Should be there all summer."

Anderson (Journal)—"This dinner panicked them. I don't know when I tasted better gravy. Looks like a dinner that is in for a long stay."

Gabriel (American)—"I didn't care for the dressing, but the bird showed careful preparation. Altogether I found it quite satisfying."

Hammond (Herald Tribune)—"Melliferous manna! Superb sustenance!

THE MAIN BOUT.

Ireland and England are on the verge of war again and when it begins the row over in China will seem like a $30 preliminary bout.

* * * *

THOSE WASHINGTON OPTIMISTS.

The House emphasis on inheritance taxes would seem to indicate a curious belief that there will continue to be any inheritances worth speaking about in this country.

* * * *

The will contest for the Ella Wendell millions is on in New York and business has turned the corner for the bus companies that have the contract for transporting all the litigants to and fro.

* * * *

We may soon be hearing of the fellow who has had his salary attached for back payments on his European trip.

Iowa State Society To Dance on Friday

The Iowa State Society will meet Friday evening, April 1, at the Willard Hotel. In addition to dancing, music for which will be furnished by Bernie Schultz' orchestra, there will be cards and amusing incidents suggestive of the date. Another attractive feature of the evening's entertainment will be singing by the Arlington Hall Glee Club.

A number of the congressional delegation will be present, as well as other notable guests.

Card Party and Dance By Lido Club, April 6

A card party and dance will be given by the Lido Civic Club in the main ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel on Wednesday evening, April 6. The club has extended invitations to prominent members of Congress and civic leaders of the District of Columbia.

A unique program of entertainment has been arranged by Joseph M Bonuso, chairman of the entertainment committee. Among the features will be the music furnished by an all female orchestra, "Adrian and Her Aristocrats."

EPISODE 26
ROSE INSTINCTIVELY FELT THAT SHE COULD TRUST WARREN WRIGHT IMPLICITLY, AND SO WENT WITH HIM TO HIS STUDIO
I'M SORRY THE LANDLADY WASN'T IN, BUT YOU WILL BE COMFORTABLE HERE!
WARREN WAS SO GENUINE AND SINCERE THAT ALMOST BEFORE SHE KNEW IT, ROSE WAS TALKING FREELY ABOUT HERSELF
—AND OF COURSE I HAVE READ HUNDREDS OF GOOD BOOKS. THEY HAVE HELPED ME TO KEEP MY DREAMS ALIVE!
AND THOSE DREAMS HAVE KEPT THE LIGHT IN YOUR EYES ALIVE, AND THAT LIGHT IS WHAT I WANT TO PAINT IN MY "CITY CINDERELLA" PICTURE !!
TELL ME MORE ABOUT THIS PICTURE YOU WISH TO PAINT AND ABOUT YOUR IDEAS. I AM TERRIBLY INTERESTED!
WARREN NOW DESCRIBED IN DETAIL HIS "CITY CINDERELLA" IDEA
I WANT TO PAINT IT AS A PROTEST AGAINST THE DISILLUSIONMENT OF CITY LIFE! AGAINST SURRENDERING OUR HOPES AND IDEALS TO HARD-HEADED COMMERCIALISM !!
IT WAS ALMOST DAWN NOW AND WARREN KNEW THAT ROSE WOULD BE TOO EXHAUSTED TO GO TO THE FACTORY WITHOUT SOME REST
YOU MUST GET SOME SLEEP! — I'LL PHONE MR. BLOOM, YOUR BOSS, AT EIGHT O'CLOCK AND EXPLAIN ABOUT YOUR ESCAPE FROM THE FIRE!!

UNCERTAINTY AGAIN RULES TRADE NEWS

New York Reserve Bank Cuts Bankers' Acceptance Rate as Further Aid to Credit.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—The New York Federal Reserve Bank today pursued a step further in its program of gradually making credit more plentiful.

The bank announced that it had reduced its buying rate on bankers' acceptances—a form of commercial credit of particular importance in financing international trades—to 2½ per cent on acceptances up to 120-day maturities. The new rates represent a cut of one-eighth of one per cent for the shorter and one-quarter per cent for the longer maturities.

This reduction, in effect, brings the Federal Reserve's buying rate in line with the open market rates prevailing recently, permitting dealers to sell to the Federal bank without loss.

The Reserve Bank's last reduction was on February 26, following the cut in its rediscount rate from 3½ per cent to 3 per cent.

Federal Budget News Bearish.

Wall street began the day in deep gloom, largely attributable to uncertainty over Federal taxation and balancing the budget, but as leading issues attracted fair support, and advices from Washington grew more encouraging, sentiment improved in time to keep the list, as measured by price averages, from penetrating new ground for the bear cycle.

The new week began with many brokerage statisticians insisting that the market had reached a critical testing area once more. The sag of the rail averages into new low ground for the bear market on Saturday, led chart readers to look for a severe testing of the general resistance level which has formed the bottom of the bear market since December.

Uncertainty over taxation measures and balancing the Federal budget remained Wall street's chief concern, and several brokerage houses advised their customers to maintain an extremely cautious attitude toward the market until the outlook on these matters is clearer. The prospect of a protracted controversy in Congress was viewed with uneasines.

In the meantime, the dollar weakened decisively in the foreign exchange market, which was interpreted in some quarters as indicating a fear in foreign capital markets that the United States may let its budget go unbalanced.

Mercantile Reports Sluggish.

Although there was some increase in the volume of retail trade throughout the country during last week, the mercantile reviews found that the usual seasonal advance was not quite up to expectations.

"While collections in all lines throughout the country are generally very retarded, there seems to be discernible, here and there, slight improvements," says Bradstreet's Review.

Easter retail trade has been considerably smaller than last year, reports from the stores say. Cold weather was partly responsible, but Mr. and Mrs. Public apparently decided to "make the old things do" as far as possible.

R. G. Dun & Co. says general conditions in the industry are less satisfactory than recently, although this may prove only a temporary condition. With the Easter production out of the way, factories have been slowing up, awaiting new business.

Food Prices Decline.

Bradstreet's Weekly Index dropped 2 1-5 per cent last week to its previous low of $1.79. The normal decline for the period is only one-half of 1 per cent.

Standard Statistics estimates that the aggregate of new contracts during the second quarter of the year will be from 35 to 40 per cent below the same period of last year. Credit relief is reported as being effected gradually.

Hide prices made new low records here last week. The decline was attributed chiefly to seasonal slackening in shoe and leather trades.

Youngstown advices say that three furnaces have been placed in operation at the Republic Steel Corporation's open hearth plant there, which has been idle recently. This increases the number of such furnaces melting steel in the Mahoning Valley to 16 of the 68, compared with 11 a week ago.

Most of the European security and commodity markets continued to remain closed today in observance of the Easter holiday. They will reopen tomorrow morning.

Income Tax Collections Are Less Than in 1931

(Associated Press.)

Income tax collections from the first quarter payments on 1931 income for March 25 were $1,076,998, as compared with $3,280,517 for the comparative day a year ago.

For the month, the taxes amounted to $189,941,065, as compared with $327,265,376 for the same number of days last March.

The fiscal year collections to date have amounted to $848,062,408, as compared to $1,498,696,401 for the same period of 1931.

Civic Groups Back Hoover Aid Plans

30 Executives Visit President and Pledge Support in Reconstruction.

(Associated Press.)

Executives representing 30 national and international civic organizations said yesterday after a visit at the White House they had pledged the entire cooperation of their organizations to President Hoover in "any proper reconstruction measure he might propose."

Benjamin A. Ruffin, of Richmond, Va., past president of Lions International, acting as spokesman for the twelve executives present, said they told the President 200,000 jobs had been provided through the efforts of their clubs and "many millions of dollars returned from hoarding."

Mr. Ruffin said the 10,000 clubs represented in the organization would continue their efforts to increase employment and decrease hoarding, and would await any new move proposed by the President.

Mr. Ruffin said the President congratulated them upon this effort. Mr. Hoover was quoted as saying "all problems of this nature are susceptible to ultimate solution by the people themselves—and only by the people themselves." Mr. Ruffin said Mr. Hoover added that the Government was limited in its power to aid the solution of economic problems.

BOND PRICES SLUMP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Session Trading Is Heaviest Since March 9; Sales $13,219,000.

By VICTOR EUBANK

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—The bond market tripped over tax uncertainties today and prices of many securities tumbled to new low levels for the year.

It was the most active session since March 9, sales totaling $13,219,000, par value. The average for 60 corporate loans dropped 1 1-10 points, the largest day's decline since December 15.

The United States Government list was especially weak at the start and heavy offerings of these loans had an unsettling effect on all classes of mortgages. The Federals rallied moderately near the close, however, but only the Treasury 4¼s were able to record a net fractional gain.

The railroad department bore the brunt of liquidation, the average for 20 principal carrier liens falling 2 points. Losses from 1 to around 6 points were the rule, rather than the exception, with low priced speculative bonds suffering the most.

New lows for the year were registered by five of the Missouri Pacific issues and some mortgages of Allegheny Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corporation, Chicago & Northwestern, Erie, Louisville & Nashville, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Southern and Wabash.

The utilities and industrials, while not as hard hit as the rails, generally lowered their prices.

International Match 5s and Kreuger & Toll 5s both reached new lows for 1932, although they rallied somewhat from their bottom figures. Some bonds of International Telephone and Shell Union Oil also descended to new depths for the year.

Firmness was shown by loans of American Telephone, Consolidated Gas and New York traction companies.

The foreign group was mixed, with the Germans falling and then rallying. Argentine obligations recovered moderately and those of Japan steadied. British 5½s advanced fractionally.

New financing in the municipal category scheduled for the current week totals $12,933,188, says the Daily Bond Buyer.

New bond offerings last week totaled $26,106,000, compared with $35,261,000 the previous week and $140,606,000 a year ago.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

STOCKS sold off sharply all along the line, with another new low for the rail average. The close for 90 scattered stocks was 6.2 points below a month ago.

BONDS were extremely heavy on uncertainties over the budget snarl, with U. S. Governments sharing the decline.

CURB stocks and bonds also sold off before a late rally steadied some of the leaders at fractions below Saturday's close.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE operations again worked against the dollar, with the French franc passing the gold export point.

WHEAT showed independent strength on a decrease in the United States' visible supply and lively export demand.

COTTON touched new lows for the year in both futures and spots at New York and New Orleans.

COTTON PRICE DROPS ON HEAVIER SELLING

Decline of $1.75 Per Bale Recorded; May Contracts Close at 6.20.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—There was a decline of over $1.75 a bale in cotton today under a renewal of last week's selling movement and liquidation, stimulated by the early heaviness of the grain and stock markets, and nervousness over the uncertainties of legislation pertaining to taxes and the budget.

Prices for all positions made new low ground for the movement, with May contracts selling off to 6.13, or 37 points net lower, and 106 points below the high price touched earlier in the month. That delivery closed at 6.20, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 26 to 31 points.

The opening was barely steady at declines of 11 to 12 points. Owing to continuance of the Easter holidays abroad, there were no Liverpool cables to influence sentiment here and houses with Liverpool and continental connections seemed to have a few buying orders at the start.

There was also some trade buying and covering but the demand was readily supplied by liquidation of old long accounts which was combined with some Southern selling.

Buying was sufficient to cause slight rallies from time to time during the day and covering was promoted by the steadier tone in the grain and stock markets during the afternoon, but the lowest prices were reached in the late trading when October sold at 6.82, with the general list showing net losses of 36 to 38 points. Closing quotations showed rallies of 7 or 8 points from the lowest on covering.

Exports today were 23,374 bales, making 6,85, 770 bales so far this season.

American Dollar Sags; Pound Rises to $3.82

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—American dollar weakened notably in the foreign exchange markets today.

Leading Wall street banks attributed pressure against the dollar to uneasiness abroad lest Congress fail to balance the Federal budget.

The French franc rose against the dollar to a point which would make further shipments of gold from New York to Paris profitable. That currency was quoted as high as 3.94½ cents for cable transfers, up .01 5-16 of one cent over Saturday's close.

The British pound sterling pushed up more than 5 cents, to above $3.82, a new high for 1932, and such currencies as the Holland guilder, the Canadian dollar, and the Japanese yen also were higher.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Covering in the last quarter hour steadied stocks today after a slow decline had carried them uncomfortably close to the old average lows.

A hair's breadth separated the early afternoon level from the bear market minimum. But with a violation of that figure hanging in the balance by early afternoon, activity diminished to nominal proportions and prices steadied. Shorts finally took in enough sail to effect a fairly spirited improvement, which reduced or canceled declines.

Sales totaled 1,345,135 shares.

Wall street's concern over the national budget appeared to receive considerable support from abroad, for the dollar was weak against foreign currencies, especially sterling and French francs. Construed in the same light was the break in U. S. Government bonds and the much softer tone of the entire investment market.

Relief Expected Soon.

Nevertheless, financial circles were unwilling to believe but that Congress would work out the problem, and it was doubtless with this thought in mind that short commitments were lightened.

Another influence on the late turn may have been word that more light was soon to be had on Ford's car, the supposition being that such information might help clarify plans of the entire automobile industry.

Whatever the reason for the turn, it was notable that several pivotal stocks were under less pressure even when the market wore its gloomiest countenance. American Telephone, for example, which was only a point off at the worst, closed 1⅜ higher. Procter & Gamble profited by a reassuring statement from the management, finishing 2½ to the good. Case and National Biscuit also bore up well. American Can and General Electric fully recovered moderate declines.

In the rails, Union Pacific got back all but a fraction of a 3-point drop and Santa Fe, after making a new low at 68⅜, closed at 69, off ⅝. The rail average was unable to make complete recovery, which meant that last Saturday's bear market minimum was violated.

Selling Depresses Curb.

Persistent selling pressure kept the Curb market largely on the downgrade, despite a better tone in the late trading. This market failed to recover as briskly as the big board did in the last half hour, and generally closed with losses. The turnover of 200,000 shares was 50,000 larger than for the last full day's session.

There were some firm spots. Commonwealth Edison recovered 3½ points, and Electric Bond & Share old stock regained the early sag. Omission of Middle West Utilities dividend, and its annual statement showing current assets of only about $7,500,000, against bank loans of more than $20,000,000 and substantial note maturities this year, had been largely discounted in advance. The stock closed at 1½, off ½.

Niagara Hudson Power sagged a small fraction to a new low, as did American Superpower, which is proposing a capital reduction to permit continuance of preferred dividends. Northern States Power A dropped 4½ points to a new low at 68 in a thin market. Aluminum Co. was a weak feature in the industrials, slumping to a new low at 37¼, and closing at 39, off 3 points net.

DOLLAR STABILIZING URGED AT MEETING

Building and Loan League Aids National Movement for Improving Trade.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Alignment of the United States Building and Loan League with the national movement for stabilization of the dollar was indicated at a meeting of the luncheon group of the District of Columbia Council of Building and Loan Associations yesterday at the Harrington Hotel. H. Morton Bodfish, Chicago, executive secretary of the national league, a guest at the meeting, suggested the interest of the body in this believed method of restoring prosperity.

Mr. Bodfish's suggestion, it was divulged later by H. F. Cellarius, Cincinnati, national treasurer of the league and guest at the meeting, follows a precedent long established, for at the third meeting of the national organization in Philadelphia in 1896, the body adopted resolutions favoring a "sound money" program.

Announcing a study undertaken by the House committee on banking and currency looking toward legislation bringing about the foregoing objective, Representative Jeff Busby, of Mississippi, member of that committee, principal speaker at the meeting, voiced necessity for a plan stabilizing purchasing power of money so that contractors of long-term debts, especially on homes, can have assurance that they will not be called to pay them at three times the original amount.

Inquiring the reaction of local and national building and loan association officials to the present financial situation, he was informed by Mr. Cellarius that stabilization of the dollar was very desirable if such a situation could be realized. Representative Busby was introduced by Edward C. Baltz, secretary of the Perpetual Building Association and past president of the local council.

C. E. Kefauver, of the Columbia Building Association, was in charge of arrangements for the meeting, the third and largest yet held by the group.

RAIL NET EXPECTED TO SHOW INCREASE

Returns to Date Indicate Decided Upturn; B. & O. Income Doubles.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—That February railroad earnings on the whole will make a decidedly better comparative showing than those of January is indicated by the results so far announced.

Twenty of the first 52 carriers reporting showed better operating results in February than for the same month of 1931. Of this group sixteen had larger net operating income and four showed reduced deficits.

The four Eastern trunk lines, Chesapeake & Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio, all made good showings.

B. & O. reported net railway operating income almost double that for February, 1931, and New York Central shows net operating income more than 60 per cent larger than for the 1931 months, together with the lowest ratio of expenses to revenue for any February since the termination of Federal control in 1920.

GRAIN PRICES CLIMB AS SUPPLY DECLINES

Visible Wheat Stocks Lose 3,000,000 Bushels as Demand Improves.

Chicago, March 28 (A.P.).—For the first time in more than a year, the United States wheat visible supply today showed a decrease as compared with twelve months previous. As a result, grain values averaged higher, notwithstanding numerous transient setbacks.

Wheat closed nervous, ½ to ⅛ cent higher than Saturday's finish corn advanced ⅜ to ⅝ cent; oats was up ¼ to ½ cent, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

The final rally in wheat followed announcement that Domestic visible stocks of wheat had been reduced almost 3,000,000 bushels in the last week, and were now 202,369,000 bushels, against 202,497,000 at this time last year.

Fresh enlargement of France's wheat import quota helped to promote rallying power. The new increase was to 40 per cent, compared with 35 per cent, the latest previous limit.

TECH PLAYS SAKS TONIGHT FOR A. A. U. COURT CROWN; JOHNSON TESTS FRIEDRICH AGAINST ORIOLES TODAY

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Biloxi, Miss., March 28.

THE departure of the first rookie from the camp of the Nats to the minor leagues kicked sky high the accepted belief that all of these leave takings by the recruits are sorrowful episodes in their baseball careers, such as have inspired training camp correspondents to scribble stories of hopes shattered, illusions gone, as the forlorn recruit wends his way back to the bushes.

Young Ralph Boyle packed his kit this morning and moved his belongings back to the camp of the Baltimore Orioles in nearby Gulfport after five weeks' stay with the Washington Club. He was the recipient of the first release by Manager Johnson, but sympathy toward Boyle is not only wasted but misdirected.

Young Boyle is glad to get away from the Nats and rejoin his minor league teammates with Baltimore. He whistled a merry tune as the packed his belongings at the hotel this morning, a broad smile greeted all his well wishers and for all that the casual observer might have known he had just been promoted to "clean-up" man in the Washington batting order.

Boyle didn't want to stay with the Washington Club. He was a good ball player, good enough to play 155 games for Baltimore last year and compile a batting average of .315 in the International League, but he knew there wasn't a chance for him to break into the Nats' outfield of Manush, West, and Reynolds, with Sam Rice in reserve.

He wanted to play regularly and he could do that at Baltimore, where he is a prime favorite with Manager Fritz Maisel and the fans alike, but he envisioned only a seat on the Washington bench if he stayed with the Nats and he wants to play ball every day.

He'd go stale with Washington, he confided to this correspondent. He'll be back in the big leagues some day, he said, but he didn't want to sit on anybody's bench. He needed to play regularly and there was the regular right field position awaiting him with open arms on the Baltimore Club. He's only 22 and he was up with the Braves when he was 19, so he has his baseball career still in front of him.

When Boyle came to the Nats at the tag end of last season with Johnny Gill, the best of the Baltimore outfielders, who batted .345, there was no intimation that Boyle was bought on trial. It was revealed while the Nats were in camp here that Boyle's purchase was conditional.

The result of the Boyle deal, however, has been a distinct favor to the Baltimore Club, which is anxious to regain his services. The purchase of Boyle by the Nats on trial protected the Orioles from a possible permanent loss of his services via the draft, to which the young outfielder was subject.

The minor leagues have fought the draft strenuously, claiming that their chances of making money through the sale of players for good prices have been obviated by the rule entitling the majors to draft players for a stipulated price. The rule has been modified in recent years to permit the majors to draft only players who have previously been with the big leagues, and Boyle's brief services with the Braves in 1929 placed him in this category and aroused Baltimore's fears last year during the draft season.

But the Nats proved Baltimore's friend in need by buying Boyle on option and returning him today.

Only Washington's surplus of good outfielders caused Boyle to be returned, for the youth who starred first with St. Xavier College in Cincinnati, is a finished fielder and a fair hitter with much promise of developing his batting average. There have been many worse outfielders on Washington rosters than Boyle.

When Johnny Gill came to the Nats from Baltimore along with Boyle last fall, it was presumed that the former would find a regular place in the Washington line-up, for he had batted .345 in the International League and was a recognized star, but he was shunted to the Nats' farm at Chattanooga.

Gill thus is a victim of organized baseball's complete domination of the individual ball player. He was transplanted through the Washington Club's channels from a starring position in an A. A. league to a lesser berth in the Southern Association, with its cheaper hotels, overnight jumps, dinkier parks and dirtier uniforms, when he had the apparent ability to stay up there.

Johnson to Watch Liska and Masters

Special to The Washington Post.

Biloxi, Miss., March 28.—Manager Walter Johnson, of the Nats, counts upon little assistance from the Washington Club's farm at Chattanooga this season, he said today, asserting that except for Outfielder Johnny Gill, who is on option of 24-hour recall to the Nats he could use no other Chattanooga players.

The Nats will stop at Chattanooga en route North next week and Johnson will watch the performances of Pitchers Walter Masters and Ad Liska, who were released by the Nats last year. If Liska has recovered from his perennial sore arm and shows effectiveness he may be taken North, as will Masters in the same eventuality.

Hurler's Fate Depends on Showing

Nats' Manager Still Believes Rookie to Be Promising.

Griffith May Finish Game; Boyle Is Sent Back.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH (Sports Editor of The Post).

BILOXI, Miss., March 28.—Prof. Walter Johnson will conduct another experiment tomorrow along the lines of his pitching policy when the Washington Club engages the Baltimore Orioles at Gulfport in the sixth exhibition battle between the teams, of which the Nats have already won five.

Prof. Johnson will give Bob Friedrich another laboratory test in the game at Gulfport, with the Chattanooga recruit slated to oppose the Orioles for five innings at least, with the chance that he may go the entire route, if Johnson's theory is sustained by Friedrich's performance.

Friedrich has exploded Johnson's dreams on three previous occasions when the Nats' manager sent him to the mound, with wildness his chief drawback, but Johnson is not yet convinced that Friedrich does not possess the makings of a good pitcher and the acid test tomorrow is indeed the vital chance for the rookie to make good or write himself a ticket to the minor leagues, in which case Prof. Johnson's experiment would fail of success.

Manager's Faith Wanes.

The faith that the Nats' manager has held in the confident little right-hander has been endangered by Friedrich's fine performances in batting practice. He has shown a wealth of curves, fine speed and fair control, but the latter element has deserted him in competition.

Each time after failing in an exhibition game, Freidrich has gone back to work confidently and won the approval of the Nat's entire board of strategy in his warm-ups during practice and his pitching on the mound during batting drill, and his failure to make good in the games proper is a mystery that Johnson is intent upon solving.

If Freidrich does not go the nine inning route tomorrow, Johnson will send another of his select rookie hurlers to the hill to finish the game. Lynn Griffith is the lad slated for action and he, too, has not impressed the Nats' manager by his work in the exhibitions. The game tomorrow will be in the nature of an acid test for Griffnth, too, if he gets an assignment.

Freidrich and Griffith, along with Frank Ragland, comprise the trio of rookie pitchers which Johnson believed would be retained by the Nats unless veteran pitching material was acquired after the season started, but of the group only Ragland has proven his case.

Ragland's latest performance was a three-inning stretch against the Baltimore Orioles on Sunday and he justified Johnson hopes when he held them to one hit during his tenure on the mound. He is 26, the oldest of the trio, and despite the fact that he has spent only one year in organized baseball, has earned many of the wiles and much of the guile of pitching during a long career in semipro and industrial ball.

Lay-Off Unlikely to Hurt Crowder.

The Nationals' pitching staff suffered the temporary loss of Alvin Crowder yesterday when this veteran hurler, who is accounted the ace of the mound corps, was called to his North Carolina home by the illness of his wife. He is expected to rejoin the team in Chattanooga next week. Johnson does not fear the lay-off will effect his condition and still counts upon him to be available for the opening game, if necessary.

The first departure among the rookie talent took place today when Ralph Boyle, promising young outfielder, purchased from the Orioles on option last season, was returned to the Baltimore club. He may be in the Orioles line-up against the Nationals tomorrow. There was little place for Boyle on the Washington Team with the addition of Carl Reynolds.

3 Championship Contests End Post Tourney Tonight

Rockville and Als Girls Clash for Senior Title; Shade Shop Plays Olmsted; Saks Meet Scholastics.

WITH a display of basket ball fireworks which threatens to outdo anything the court game has produced in Washington this year, the District A. A. U.-Washington Post basket ball tournament will come to a crashing finale tonight at Tech High Gymnasium. Second and T streets northeast, when six outstanding basket ball teams, four of them men's teams, battle for three D. C. championships.

Starting at 7:30 o'clock, when Rockville and Als will scrap for the senior girls' title, continuing at 8:30 when Olmsted Grill and Shade Shop fight it out for the 145-pound crown, and breaking into a competitive crescendo at 9:30 when the unlimited men's championship will be decided between the Saks Clothiers and Tech High's Maroon Scholastics, the night will be replete with thrills.

Saks goes into tonight's conflict a 6-to-5 favorite over Tech, but the schoolboys, even more popular than the great independent five, will pack more than 1,000 of its rabid fans into the big Tech gym to cheer Everett Russell, Waverly Wheeler, Frank Daly, Fred Thomas and Bernie Reichardt on to bigger and better feats.

Saks big threats tonight are Johnnie Sherman, Sammy Hook and Bobby Lucas. The teams are matched neck and neck, except on the tapoff, where Big Bill Noonan's 6-foot-3 height is expected to give him the edge over the ambitious and shorter Daly.

Certainly no greater collection of local stars has been gathered together on one court this year, or last, or the year before.

The game in one respect, produces a startling coincidence. Saks wind up their season tonight, and it is their final game in the tournament, and today is the last day that the noble old firm whose name they bear will operate in the world of local business.

Hardly less inviting to District basket-balldom is the conflict which will decide the 145-pound section. Once tonight's battle is ended, either Olmsted Grill or Shade Shop will find lowered upon its collective head the crown which last year was borne by the Saks Clothiers.

Once again the bench experts are

MAT YOUTHS DRAW WITH PLESTINA

Vet Takes on Pair at Bolling; Bartush Bout Features.

MARIN PLESTINA, who spent his palmy days and halcyon nights as a wrestler trying to break into the "trust," wormed his way in just a few years too late, judging from his showing in the massive Bolling Field Gymnasium last night before about 1,500 customers, not necessarily cash ones. The hefty veteran was supposed to take on August Benkert in one of the cofeatures, but the Belgian had not arrived at a late hour last night, so Plestina volunteered to take on Dr. Len Hall and Lee Wykoff and to throw both of them in 20 minutes.

Plestina last week tossed no less than six in a Boston ring in a total elapsed time of seventeen and one-half minutes, but he bit off more than he could chew last night and had to be satisfied with a draw with each. Outweighing each opponent by 40 or 50 pounds and tackling them after each had already done his stuff in previous bouts, the old master, who takes his wrestling straight, did not take kindly to the tricks of the lads and was far from impressive, although there is no question but what he has strength, power and endurance and would be a tough customer in a long race.

Bartush Wins Match.

In the other cofeature listed, rassle fans discovered that the roughness and "dirty" work of the present day bouts does not add to their interest when two good men are applying the holds and doing the grunting and scowling. Billy Bartush, a prime local favorite, took on Marvin Westenberg, and now the latter is a prime local favorite, too.

This pair staged one of the best bouts seen in a Capital ring in years, with Bartush getting the verdict with a sensational reverse backdrop after 47 minutes of toil. It was a thriller throughout. Several times it looked as though the standard finish was near, but each time one or the other wiggled out of trouble. The big laugh of the night occurred near the finish when the two obtained identical holds on each other, with their legs so

County Bars Ring Show; A. A. U. Shifts to Portner's

24 Matches Mark Opening of Championships Tomorrow; Prince Georges Group Opposes Show.

BALKED by Prince Georges County officials in their efforts to stage the annual A. A. U. championship boxing bouts at Ritchie Coliseum, the committee in charge of the bouts has shifted the scene of the fisticuffing to Portner's, Arena, Alexandria, where the titles will be decided in two days of battling. Twenty-four bouts are on tomorrow's program. The contestants then will have the benefit of two days of rest before returning to the ring for the final bouts Saturday night.

Tickets sold for Ritchie Coliseum will be honored at Portner's. The usual price of $1 will prevail, all seats reserved.

The Prince Georges commissioners defeated the motion to grant permission for the bouts at the coliseum by a vote of 3 to 2. H. C. (Curly) Byrd, athletic director of Maryland, applied for the permit in the name of the District of Columbia Association of the A. A. U. The board expressed the opinion that a dangerous precedent would be established should it allow the bouts to be staged.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the affair has announced that a generous portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Alexandria Day Nursery.

A record-smashing field of 42 leather pushers will vie for District titles. Only four defending champions are included in this number. Thus the fans are assured of some brisk struggles for the vacated thrones. Fraternal and patriotic organizations are well represented. The Y. M. C. A., American Legion, Knights of Columbus, Jewish Community Center and National Training School are among those included in this category.

The four champions seeking to retain their titles are Lou Gelvinson, 112 pounds; Jocko Miller, 147 pounds; Mike Tardugno, featherweight, and Mackey O'Connor, middleweight. They have their work cut out for them, for never in local A. A. U. ring history has such a select field answered the gong. Another champion, Leon Shub, will again display his wares, but not in defense of his laurels. Shub was a mere stripling of 118 pounds last year. He has blossomed out into a full fledged lightweight since, and will fight in this class.

Outboard Scandal To Be Investigated

Hearing for Drivers Accused of 'Luring' English Racer Set for April 3.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 28 (A.P.). Commodore V. Mason Weil, of the Florida Outboard Motor Association, announced today he has been appointed to investigate charges that nine American drivers lured C. H. Harrison, of England, across the starting line ahead of the signal in the Biscayne Bay regatta at Miami last week.

He said Chairman C. F. Chapman of the National Outboard Association's racing committee designated him as his personal representative to conduct the inquiry.

April 3 was designated by Commodore Weil as the date for a hearing at Sanford, Fla. Those who represented the Florida association as judges of the Col. Green trophy race, from which the charges arose, will sit as a board to hear testimony.

He said all drivers who participated in the Col. Green race will be asked to testify and the evidence will be forwarded to the American Power Boat Association.

Weil said no drivers would be disqualified from further racing unless the charges were proved.

The accusations, recently placed before the power boat association, named the drivers who are reputed to have tricked the Englishman, leading in points at that time, into disqualifying himself so that William Crawford, jr., of New York and Miami, could win.

KENSINGTON T WORKOUT.

The first workout of the year for the Kensington Baseball Team will be held tomorrow at 5 p. m., on the team's home diamond. All players are requested to report promptly.

Hyattsville Pair Lead in Tourney

Waldrop and Wolfe Roll 776 in National Event at Norfolk.

Special to The Washington Post.

Norfolk, Va., March 28.—Bowlers from Hyattsville, Md., made a spectacular showing in the National Duckpin Bowling Tournament here today. The doubles team, comprised of Hugh Waldrop and Percy Wolfe forged into the lead in their event with a combined score of 776; the team jumped into second place in the team event with a score of 1,772, and young Bob Temple secured third place in the all-

300-Yard Medley Record Decides Meet Against Coast Teams.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—A record-breaking victory in the 300-yard medley relay enabled the New York Athletic Club to defeat the combined Los Angeles Athletic Club-Hollywood Athletic Club swimming team in a dual meet here tonight.

The New York trio of George Kojac, back stroke; Leonard Spence, breast stroke, and Walter Spence, free style, won the medley relay, the final event, in 3 minutes 2 1-5 seconds, compared with the American record of 3 minutes 5 3-5 seconds, set by the Illinois Athletic Club in 1928.

A new American record also was hung up in the 400-yard relay which the New York Athletic Club won in 3 minutes 32 4-10 seconds. The former record of 3 minutes 34 9-10 seconds was set last year by a New York Athletic Club quartet.

In the individual events the visitors split even. Buster Crabbe won the 500-yard free style for the Westerners, Maiola Kalili accounting for the 220-yard free style and Mickey Riley for the fancy dive. Riley was conceded first place in the dive when the New York Athletic Club failed to put up an opponent in this event.

Yankees and Braves To Return to Camps

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 28 (A.P.). The New York Yankees and Boston Braves have completed arangements to return to St. Petersburg next year for the spring training season.

It will be the eleventh straight year in the same camp for the Braves and the ninth for the Yankees.

Killer of Morris To Serve 3 Years

Filling Station Operator Was Peacemaker, Testimony at Trial Reveals.

Brewton, Ala., March 28 (U.P.).—Joe White, filling station operator, was sentenced to three years in prison today following his conviction Thursday of a charge of first degree manslaughter in the knife death of big Ed Morris, Boston Red Sox pitcher, during a fishing party last month.

White immediately served notice of appeal and gave $2,000 bond for his release. Judge F. W. Hare did not set a date for hearing of the appeal. White had been charged with second degree murder in the slaying, but the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter in the first degree, in accordance with a provision of Alabama statute.

Six men were in the party which had gone to a fishing and hunting cabin on the Escambia River near here. They were celebrating a farewell to the big pitcher, who was to leave the following day to join his team in training at Savannah.

Testimony at the trial indicated that Morris and Joe Nolan had quarrelled and that White, the defendant, had attempted to act as peacemaker. As they were sitting about the campfire, Morris suddenly attacked White without warning. The pitcher was unarmed but began pummeling White with his fists.

White was knocked to the ground after which Morris kicked him several times, according to the evidence. Then White grasped a knife and reaching upward from the ground where he lay slashed Morris near the heart as the latter bent over him.

Portney Predicts K. O. Win In Jacobs Fight Tonight

Real Battle Is Likely at Portner's; Van Seeks 4th K. O.

JACK PORTNEY, Baltimore's ambitious left-handed lightweight whom the good right-handers are avoiding, is going out to win by a knockout tonight when he engages Stumpy Jacobs, aggressive little Hopewell (Va.) crowd-pleaser, in the eight-round feature of the Day Nursery's benefit show in Portner Arena. Action begins at 8:30.

Both Jack and his roly-poly manager, Frankie Rice, yesterday expressed the confident opinion that Jacobs will not last the scheduled distance. Stumpy will be beaten down in five or six rounds, they chorused, following the Baltimorean's final workout in the Jewish Community Center.

"This Jacobs is a rough, tough fellow who keeps coming in all the time," Rice asserted, "but he can't do that against Portney and get away with it for more than five rounds. Jack'll cut him to pieces."

Jacobs Also Confident Of Winning.

But the Portney camp is no more confident than that of Jacobs, who finished his training in Hopewell. Messages have been flooding the mails and wires from Hopewell for the last ten days telling of the beating that is in store for Portney.

Jack and Stumpy had an argument in Norfolk last summer, Portner winning by technical knockout in five rounds. The referee halted the milling when Jacobs sustained a deep gash over the eye.

While there are many local fans who agree with Portney's view of the approaching battle, there are many others who string along with the Virginian, who has impressed in two appearances at Alexandria this year. The latter faction believes Jacobs will hand out the same punishment to Jack that he inflicted on Al Gordon and Bobby Burns, both of whom he defeated on points.

YOUNG VAN.

Officials Are Cold on Move To Pick Stars for Olympic

NEW YORK, March 28 (A.P.).—A suggestion that the outstanding performer in various track and field features be arbitrarily picked for the United States Olympic team and thus exempted from the tryouts met with a cold reception today among officials.

"Can't do anything about it," said William England, of Baltimore, chairman of the track and field committee, and the remark was echoed by Daniel I. Ferris, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union. With plans well advanced for holding the trials both thought it improbable the suggestion even would be discussed by the Olympic committee.

The suggestion was put forward by Eddie Farrell, coach of the Harvard track team, who asked why men like Gene Venzke, George Spitz, Ben Eastman and Frank Wykoff, outstanding in their fields, should be forced to go through a tough siege of competitive trials just before the Olympics.

With one man chosen arbitrarily for each event, the other two entries would be decided in the customary trials, he said.

"The very best men we have deserve to be placed on the Olympic team," Farrell said, "so we can have at least one fresh man in each contest on the long program."

Farrell, as well as many others, has felt that the tryout system frequently cost the United States the services of leading candidates for Olympic honors, due to mishaps or "bad breaks." Without abolishing the tryouts they have argued that an athlete's general record, in addition to his performance in the trials, should be weighed by the Olympic selection.

Four years ago, in the final tryouts for the American team, Ross Nichols, Stanford hurdler; Fait Elkins, the University of Nebraska's great all-around athlete, and George Simpson, Ohio State sprinter, lost out through a series of mishaps.

Precedent is all on the side of the Olympic officials because the method of trial and error has been used in selecting United States teams for the last 25 years.

Sectional tryouts will precede the final track and field tryouts at Palo Alto, Calif., July 15-16. Olympic track and field events begin at Los Angeles July 31.

Mrs. Hill Ties for Medal In Women's North-South

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28 (A. P.).—Two Midwestern stars, Mrs. Opal S. Hill, of Kansas City, and Mrs. Charles R. Harbaugh, of Cleveland, kept their shots straight in the face of a driving wind here today and tied at 85 each for the medal in the 18-hole qualifying round of the annual women's North and South golf tournament.

These campaigners put together their rounds in identical fashion, 41 to 44, and were a stroke better than Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J., and Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., and two shots better than Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta.

The scores were regarded as especially low because of the cold, biting wind which kept many pleasure seekers from the links. Rains last night left the sand greens soggy and hard to judge, and these conditions brought failure for several players, including Mrs. Marvin Haynes, of Washington; Miss Bea Gottlieb, of New York, and Mrs. E. B. Morrow, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Morrow had a 95, while Mrs. Haynes and Miss Gottlieb each turned in a 96.

Mrs. Harbaugh, champion of Cleveland, probably shot the best golf and it was a bad seven on the eighteenth green that kept her from winning the medal. She had no three-putt greens and save for the last hole and the sixth where she needed five strokes, she played steadily.

A seven on the ninth hurt Mrs. Hill's card out. She three-putted the thirteenth and fifteenth greens for 6s, but finished with a birdie by sinking a 15-foot putt.

After the leaders, three were tied with 88s for sixth place. They were Mrs. Leo Federman, New York; Mrs. E. F. Eaton, jr., Boston, and Mrs. M. Chapman, Greenwich, Conn.

Mrs. Sarah Fownes Wadsworth, Oakmont, Pa., had an 89, while bracketed at 90 were Mrs. J. J. Lawlor, New Rochelle, N. Y., and Jeannette Hunter, Pittsburgh, and Betty Abernethy, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Harold Soaper, Montreal, and Katherine Braggaw, Orange, N. J., had 91s, while Helen Waring, Pinehurst, and Katherine Singer, New York, barely made the championship flight with 93s.

More than 90 players were entered and five divisions will begin match

Scholastics Beat D. H., 48 to 22

Russell and Thomas Are Stars in Semi-final Victory.

St. John's Annexes 130-Pound Title, Wins, 18-17.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

TECH HIGH rammed its way into the final round of the District A. A. U.-Washington Post basket ball tournament last night by blasting Delaware & Hudson out of the running with a tremendous 48-22 effort, thus bursting out into the final round where Saks Clothiers will be met tonight in a championship-deciding tussle that is likely to cut a definite niche for itself in Washington basket ball history.

Ripping through the Delaware & Hudson defense like buckshot piercing a cream puff, the Maroon scholastics riddled a team of foes who outweighed them by a good 10 pounds a man, and outreached them by a comfortable half a foot or so. Everett Russell and Fred Thomas were the leading lights of the game, Russell giving a scintillating performance by scoring 20 hard-earned and spectacularly thrown points.

Before the Tech explosion, St. John's Victors proved beyond all shadow of doubt that it is the best 130-pound club in the city, by beating out St. Stephen's, 18-17, in a game which showed the Tech-D. & H. tussle a thing or two about the meaning of the term bitterly contested.

Tech began to win after five minutes of the first half. D. & H. went to 5-1 during a listless warming up, but when Russell took the ball all the way down the floor and jammed it through the iron ring, it was a signal for the Tech eyes to sharpen, the Tech feet to grow speedier, the Tech passing to become mores and more confusing, and for Tech hands to propel the old cowhide with a scoring skill which only they and Saks Clothiers can command.

Bing, bing, bing and Tech stood, 13-8, and 18-11, at the half. George Beach and Bob Gaylor threatened a mite at the start of the second half, and Tech held only a 20-15 lead, but after that it was an utter rout for the well-conditioned schoolboys over the team whose play this year brought them titles in the Boys Club and Community Center leagues.

St. John's Five Beats St. Stephen's, 18 to 17

St. John's Victors, winners of The Post's Prep School championship, showed infinite intestinal strength in winning the 130-pound division, beating out St. Stephen's 18-17 in a game that knocked the patrons off their chairs.

Several times the lead shifted back and forth until, with 15 seconds left of a game which had rendered the witnesses as limp as the players, Francis McDonald fired in a potshot that swished down through the cords to produce a howl that was still howling when the timekeeper's whistle sounded.

Seconds before McDonald's shot, which brought his total points to 11, Pick Walker, who put Eastern out of the tournament on a potshot, rifled one in from the middle to give St. Stephen's a 17-16 lead and less than a minute to go.

Manifold performances entered into the St. John's victory. Since 1 point won the game, it could be said that Fred Schaele, who hobbled into the furious fray at the start of the third quarter, was the responsible person, for a second after he entered the game he sank a foul shot Referee Mitchell allowed St. John's when Girton, St. Stephen's guard, talked too soon after coming in the game.

Then Gabby Hartnett, with his whale of a floor game, his beautiful potshot that put his side ahead, 16-15, with 1 minute to play, and the way he guarded the rival club, might well be responsible, along with Johnny Breen, who was in the thick of every organized brawl.

The winners went out to a 6-2 lead at the quarter, trailed 8-9 at the half on fine scoring by Joray, Harvey and Walker, and stood 11-15 behind at the third quarter. Ten of St. Ste-

King Levinsky Signed For Mickey Walker

Chicago, March 28 (A.P.).—Mrs. Lena Levy, sister-manager of King Levinsky, today signed a contract for the Kingfish to meet Mickey Walker at the Chicago Stadium, in a ten-round bout April 29.

Although Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, last week signed a blanket contract for the former middleweight champion to engage in five fights for the stadium, a hitch has developed. Kearns signed a contract calling for 35 per cent of the net receipts, and Mrs. Levy signed with the understanding that Levinsky will get as much as Walker. The stadium corporation, however, will not hand the fighters more than 60 per cent between them, and Kearns must be talked into a 5 per cent cut.

TWO-YEAR-OLDS READY FOR TESTS AT BOWIE MEETING

Well Behaved Crop, Says Freund

Assistant Starter Job Proves Far From Pleasant One.

Leading Stables on Scene of Meeting Opening Friday.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

IN the estimation of many racegoers, the meanest man connected with the track is the assistant starter. Although his work in recent years has been made easier by the introduction of starting stalls and gates his popularity remains at a low level. In fact, as long as every man and woman in the stands feels that the purchase of a mutuel ticket entitles one to a hand in the starting the fellows who pull, coax and oftentimes pray the horses into a line acceptable to the chief starter, will remain the villains of the turf.

Many a horse picker has tried to cover up his own misjudgment by accusing an assistant starter of deliberately taking his choice in hand and not releasing the animal as the barrier rises.

Many are of the opinion that track officials pick up any five or six strong men who are the possessors of a muddy pair of boots and christen them assistant starters. On the contrary, the assistant starters at the big-time tracks in Maryland and elsewhere must qualify for their positions.

Must Know Their Horses.

They must deal with the horses physically and mentally and the ideal assistant starter is the one with that mysterious quality of "it." They are carefully selected men.

Although their chief source of abuse is in the starting of races, some or their hardest hours are at the school, where these men must stage practice starts for the greenest of young horses and the meanest of older horses in the first hours of daylight. A nerve-racking task but free from jeers of the afternoon's crowds.

Until the Bowie meetings opens on Friday, schooling activity at that track is confined to 2-year-olds, the turf babies who are to have their coming-out parties at this meeting.

Pupils Are Doing Well.

Bob Freund has been in charge of the school and has had the youngsters working out daily from the 6-furlong chute. He reports that his pupils have been doing nicely, thank you, and are well-behaved colts and fillies on which fans can wager with confidence insofar as their post manners are concerned. If, on opening day, you buy a ticket on the first race and then see your colt with neck outstretched being pulled to the barrier—well, blame it on the assistant starter.

Not in the seventeen years that the track has operated has Bowie drawn as many high-class racing establishments as have already shipped their stars. There is truly an aristocratic turf representation on the scene of the twelve-day meeting.

Leading Stables on Hand.

Among the well-known stables with representatives are Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, George D. Widener, Edward Riley Bradley, Ral Parr, Howard Bruce, Sylvester W. Labrot, Coldstream Stud, Mose Lowenstein, Max Hirsch, Mayor Frank Hayes of Waterbury, Conn., Belair Stud, Wheatley Stable, W. R. Coe, LeMar Stock Farm, H. Teller Archibald, J. E. Davis, Mrs. John Hay Whitney, Mrs. Charles Minot Amory, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, John J. Farrell, jr., Al Weston and Hal Price Headley.

The early running of the Kentucky Derby this year means that many of the leading 3-year-olds will see action at Bowie. Trainers are anxious to test their charges thoroughly. The handicap division on hand is an excellent one, with Mrs. Hay Whitney's Lightning Bolt, star of the Florida campaign, rated the best until a horse capable of taking his measure shows up.

J. W. (Big Jim) Healy has Lightning Bolt quartered in the Greentree Stable's barn along with the horses which Marshall Lilly is handling for Mrs. Payne Whitney. The latter sportswoman has some fine 2-year-olds quartered here and, with Charlie Kurtsinger coming down from the farm at Red Bank, N. J., to do the booting, the Greentree youngsters should be heard from quite often during the two weeks' sports.

DETECTIVES PLAN FOR BASEBALL

Bureau of Investigation in Government League Race.

WORD has been passed around that the "flatfeet" are coming, coming with a baseball team that is expected to cut quite a figure in local sandlot circles, especially in the Governmental League, in which the club has secured a franchise. The "flatfeet" are the U. S. Bureau of Investigation men, who are at present embroiled in an argument with the Census Enumerators for the championship of the Governmental Basket Ball League.

After winning the court title, for they have it all figured out, the Investigators plan to show the other teams around town just how this baseball game should be played.

Blessed with an abundance of seasoned material, for positions in the Bureau are filled chiefly by college graduates, many of whom starred in sports for their Alma Mater, the team will resemble an All-American diamond aggregation. At the helm will be Ty Rauber, former Washington and Lee star, and later coach at Central High School. Ty's job is made considerably easier by the caliber of players on the squad. Jim Blake, who received a try-out with the Philadelphia Athletics several seasons ago, will head the mound staff. Blake's arm went dead while with the world's champions, but he has regained his form since and appears to be headed for a big year. Les Bowman, former Virginia U. twirler, is another who should deliver for the Detectives. Bowman ranked among the leading collegians while in school and has had the benefit of professional experience since leaving its portals.

A pair of local favorites will grace the infield. Willis Fisher, shortstop on the champion Olmsted Grill team last year is slated to fill this berth on the team. Tommy Connors, former Columbus U. athlete, will bid for the assignment at the hot corner. Nothing need be said about their ability, for they rank with the best of them. The outfield will be built around Charley Caffrey, who learned his baseball at Notre Dame, where his achievements with the old wagon-tongue still awe incoming freshmen. Nick Valenza will handle the business affairs of the team. Now, to win that basket ball title.

Oscar Hiser led the team on to its victory with games of 136, 145 and 93. He was traveling in fine fashion until his final turn on the alleys, when his game completely collapsed. The team's game scores were 569, 500 and 603.

Joe Bauer, of Baltimore, who rolled 1,195, and Bill Arnold, of Annapolis, who collected 1,147 pins in the tournament, are ahead of Temple on the list for the all-events title.

Canzoneri's Pilot Agrees To Battalino Match

New York, March 28 (U.P.).—Tony Canzoneri's manager, Sammy Goldman, has agreed telephonically for the lightweight champion to risk his title against Bat Battalino May 9, Jimmy Johnston, manager of boxing at Madison Square Garden said tonight.

Johnston said he had talked with Goldman on the telephone today and Goldman assured him that Canzoneri would meet the former featherweight champion in a 15-round title bout at the Garden.

Battalino already has agreed formally to the match, and Johnston hopes to stage the signing ceremony shortly.

tangled up that Referee Billy Jones had to consult an anatomy chart when finally called upon to untie the knot.

Hall Does His Stuff.

Hall, who evidently is a nerve doctor and a member of Doc. Wilson's fraternity, threw Mike Miller, American Legion champion, following a series of flying tackles, after 21 minutes of fast and rough work. The good doctor broke many an alien hold by pressing on his opponent's nerves, much to the discomfiture of Miller and to the enjoyment of the fans.

Wykoff ran into a tough customer in Rudy Laditzi and these lads went at it hammer and tongs. The bout ended after fourteen minutes of action when Wykoff, in one of a series of flying mares, went through the ropes, hit his head on a bench and was unable to continue. When he finally came to he was on his feet but out of his head and it was some time before the referee, his foe and several volunteers were able to lead him quietly to the dressing room.

In the curtain raiser Dutch Green, of Washington, and Sailor Seajack earned a 20-minute draw. The bout was both rough and funny, but little real wrestling was shown. When the final whistle blew the boys evidently thought it was time to start work, the result being that the referee had quite a time of it trying to get them to quit.

Bobby Burke pulled up with a recurrence of his sore arm in practice this morning and will be on the shelf for another week.

With Joe Kuhel still nursing his hand injury, Joe Judge will be on first base tomorrow. Judge is putting up a stern battle for the regular post, fielding in all his perennial brilliance and hitting the ball hard.

Tonight was official baseball night in Biloxi, with Mayor Kennedy presiding over a dinner to the officials of the Washington and Baltimore Clubs, and newspaper correspondents. The event, sponsored by Anthony Ragusin, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is an annual institution.

HIGH NINES BUSY THIS WEEK

Central Will Open at Petersburg Tomorrow.

HIGH school baseball rears its much-abused head above the athletic sod this week when three of the local nines get under way. Central starts out actively, with four consecutive games scheduled, beginning Wednesday afternoon against Petersburg (Va.) High.

Business and St. Alban's are the other schools concerned. Business meets Episcopal High Saturday at Episcopal in the closest thing to a game concerning relatively local teams. St. Alban's it is, however, that plays the first game here, meeting Mercersburg Academy Saturday on some diamond yet to be selected.

Central has a new coach this year, Jack Ray, former Eastern High player and an assistant to Chuck Guyon. Ray has a deal of material to work with, and will take a squad of about 15 along. The Central trek, after Petersburg, goes on to Lexington, Va., Thursday, where the team meets Washington and Lee freshmen. The next day the club will walk on the other side of Main street and play the V. M. I. plebes. Saturday the tour winds up at Fredericksburg High.

Business has been hit rather hard this year by graduations. Coach Lynn Woodworth, busy with intramural basketball, has had the team out only a few days. Graduation cut out Duryee, pitcher, and Schneider and Fratantuono, all-high third baseman and outfielder, and both .490 hitters.

Eastern, Western and Gonzaga open their seasons next Monday.

VAN SEEKS FOURTH KNOCKOUT IN ROW

thrown into pandemonium over naming a favorite here. The Olmsted bunch, ideally coached and packing real native talent, bumped off Business High, seeded No. 1, early in the tournament, and trampled over the Centennials, Black Hawks and Boys Club by decisive scores.

Shade Shop has run away with the lower section of the 145-pound draw. It just squeezed through against Northwestern, 23 to 18, but it put out Oakton High, 50 to 22, and swept aside the greatest upset club of the tournament, War Department, by 44 to 29.

While the experts may be in a quandary, that indecision is not shared by either of the two teams—they're both certain of winning Olmsted boasts of one of the greatest shots of the joust, Mike McNally, a streak of a forward, whose 15-point average for three games speaks well for him. Olmsted, in Dantzig, its center, has an able tap-off man, and few better floor players exist in the tournament than Wills and Richardson.

In view of the fact that many of the country's leading lightweights are sidestepping Portney because he is a southpaw, much credit is due Jacobs for taking this match. Such outstanding fighters as Gaston LeCadre and Kid Kaplan went so far as to force Portney to agree to fight right-handed when they met the Baltimore hope in Northern rings. Both defeated him with the aid of this handicap. However, Portney beat Kaplan in another bout fought in Baltimore when Jack tossed 'em from the portside.

Defeat Would Be Most Costly To Portney.

Jacobs can strike a terrific blow to Portney's championship hopes if he manages to win. Jack is seeking entry in the N. B. A. tournament at Grand Rapids, Mich., but if he loses to a comparative unknown such as Jacobs, his efforts probably will be in vain.

An exceptionally attractive preliminary card of six bouts precedes the feature. Patsy Lewis, another Baltimore southpaw lightweight, tangles with Ray Bowen, Washington, in the main prelim of six rounds. Young Van, Washington middleweight, seeks his fourth straight knockout at the expense of Jake Friedman, former South Atlantic light heavyweight champion, while Marino Marini, local lightweight, meets the hardest test of his career in opposing George Esrick, Baltimore. The other clashes present Henry Irving vs. Ray Litton, Billy Essinger vs. Soldier Clark, and Clarence Sloat vs. Sammy Braunstein.

BOXING BITS' SELECTIONS—Portney to defeat Jacobs; Lewis to shade Bowen; Van to outpoint Friedman; Esrick to beat Marini; Essinger to conquer Clark; Irving to check Litton, and Sloat to down Braunstein.

RACE CHOICE LOSES NOSE VERDICT

Homework, 9-1, Beats Allens in Feature at St. Johns.

ST. JOHNS PARK, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—The final lap of Florida winter racing was inaugurated here this afternoon under perfect weather conditions and a fairly large crowd was in attendance. A card composed of claiming events with $400 purses under the new program was offered.

Free complimentary tickets were available at all hotels, restaurants, etc., in Jacksonville, through cooperation of the track and business leaders of the city. In addition to this arrangement, all ladies are admitted free, except for State tax, for the remainder of the meeting.

Allens, Choice, Loses By Nose.

Mike Clancy, the apprentice boy who is leading the local jockey contingent, and the filly Allens carried the hopes of the talent in the fourth event, a 6-furlong dash for 3-year-olds, but they had to be content with second position. F. E. Moore's Homework outgamed the favorite to score by a nose. Nonana was a scant half-length behind in third place. Homework paid $20.40.

Rey Del Norte showed a high turn of speed to the stretch, where she collapsed suddenly and dropped entirely out of contention. Nonana forged to the front, while Allens came fast on the outside and Homework moved up with a rush on the inside. Nonana wavered and Homework got his nose in front of Allens near the finish line and gamely kept it there.

Mat Entry Blanks Out for A. A. U. Event

Entry blanks for the District A. A. U. wrestling championships, to be held at the Boys Club, April 12, were distributed yesterday by the local chapter of the amateur union and may be had at clubs and at Spalding's.

Entries must be in by April 8. The largest entry list in the history of local amateur rassling is expected.

Keppel Will Continue As J. C. C. Court Coach

Davey Keppel, a figure in local basket ball for the past decade, will coach the Jewish Community Center unlimited team again next year. He signed a contract yesterday.

Keppel's work as a coach stood out markedly this year. His Vic's team was a worthwhile professional club, and the big Jewish amateur team went through a strenuous season with but one loss. The club was put out of the A. A. U.—Washington Post tournament by the Saks Clothiers in a quarter-final round, extra period game which might well have gone the other way.

Capital City Tennis Loop Meets Tonight

The Capital City Tennis League will hold its annual meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Tennis Shop, 1019 Fifteenth street, at which representatives of all teams concerned are to attend.

Election of new officers and the appointment of committees to conduct the fourtheason of the league are in order.

The caliber of play in this league has been constantly on the up since it was formed in 1929 from among a group making use of the cement courts at the Acacia Building. Last season the Edgewood team won the team championship of the District, defeating the country club, departmental, suburban and public parks champions.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SERGEANT HILL, $15.50, $5.90, $4.40; LILLIAN Z., $22.20, $5.90; SOCIAL BEE, $16.90.

SERGEANT HILL raced GOLDEN HUE into submission after the opening furlong, drew into an easy lead inside the final furlong and had speed in reserve at the end. LILLIAN Z. worked her way between her field to reach contention, responded to punishment, but could not threaten the winner. SOCIAL BEE, forced to race on the outside, closed gamely when clear. GOLDEN HUE showed speed for the first three furlongs and weakened thereafter. SWEET SIXTEEN, shuffled back directly after the start, came courageously when securing racing room. COLONEL CLOISTER, on the inside early, faltered after racing with the leaders. CUTECLOI and NORMAN were taken up abruptly by their riders following the break.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $400; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:00. Off at 3:05. Winner, J. V. Pons' b. m. (5), by Midway—Sweet Liberty. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $275; second, $75; third, $35; fourth, $15. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 1-5, 1:09 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—JOAN, $36.00, $18.80, $9.60; JIMMIE L., $8.20, $5.20; TAT, $9.70.

JOAN K., outpaced early, gained stoutly on the outside in the final stages and, finishing in bold fashion, wore JIMMIE L. down in the final seventy yards. JIMMIE L., a stout factor from the start, raced GUFFLE into defeat, was kept under stiff urging when taking command, but faltered approaching the finish. TAT, well placed, sayed around and fought it out with good energy. GUFFLE displayed good early speed and held on better than usual after losing the lead. TALENTED PRINCE could not improve his position in the final issue. CHATTAHOOCHEE was outrun. DODIE LEIGHTON quit. APT and SUNVIEW were left flatfooted.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $400; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start fair. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:34½. Off at 3:40½. Winner, R. J. Moran's br. m. (6), by Trojan—Prodigious. Trained by A. E. Van Ree. Value to winner, $275; second, $75; third, $35; fourth, $15. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 1-5, 1:09 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—STUPENDOUS, $4.90, $3.50, $3.30; HIGH COLOR, $9.40, $6.30; BOUNDER, $3.80.

STUPENDOUS, kept within striking distance of the leaders, was put to strong pressure when approaching the stretch turn, swung to the outside and, disposing of HIGH COLOR inside the final furlong, drew out at will thereafter. HIGH COLOR went into a commanding lead when entering the home stretch, saved ground, but tired rapidly in the final quarter mile. BOUNDER, prominent throughout, continued gamely to outstay JUDGE DIXON. Latter, very slow to get going, circled his field and made a bid for the lead. LADY M'NEIL could not reach the leaders. RONALD GREY broke fast, but dropped back at once. UNLUCKY weakened when the final drive came. MISS RUNANTELL stopped.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $400; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:13. Off at 4:18. Winner, F. E. Moore's ch. g. (3), by Broomstick—Marchesa II. Trained by H. K. Brown. Value to winner, $275; second, $75; third, $35; fourth, $15. Time, 0:24 4-5, 0:49 4-5, 1:16.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HOMEWORK, $20.40, $5.30, $3.50; ALLENS, $2.80, $2.80; NONANA, $4.70.

HOMEWORK, working his way up on the inside and securing clear passage, came determinedly through the home stretch and, shaking off NONANA inside the closing furlong, just lasted to stall off ALLENS. Latter, in early trouble, was taken to the outside for racing room and, coming with belated speed under punishment, would have been winner in a few more strides. NONANA, hard ridden from the start, raced REY DEL NORTE and MARTHA D. into defeat, but hung after taking command. BOB UP was next. WILD CRESS showed a good effort. BOKIE B. slow to get going, was in very tight quarters all during the stretch run. BILL SOUTHAM closed a big gap. MARTHA D. quit, as did REY DEL NORTE. INDIAN GAME stopped to a walk.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $400; claiming. Hotel Seminole Purse. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:45. Off at 4:47½. Winner, T. J. Carroll's b. g. (7), by Campfire—Star Spangle. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $275; second, $75; third, $35; fourth, $15. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:48 4-5, 1:14 4-5, 1:42 3-5, 1:47 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BRIGHT SPANGLE, $38.70, $14.90, $16.30; TANTALIZING, $5.10, $3.90; ESTIN, $4.80.

BRIGHT SPANGLE, slow to settle in full stride, was forced to race on the outside for racing room, moved up fast after six furlongs and, staging a bold rush through the final three-quarters, came up in the final few strides. TANTALIZING, following in near pursuit of LITTLE GYP, displaced the latter midway of the far turn and, responding stoutly to punishment, fought it out stubbornly until the end. ESTIN, rated along early, went into a good lead when shaken up, but hung during the latest stages. COCK ROBIN finished strong from a slow beginning. CORBEAU, sluggish and a trailer early, closed a big sap. LITTLE GYP tired in the final three furlongs. SI RELIEF had no mishaps.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $400; claiming. For maiden 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:18. Off at 5:23. Winner, I. Glasscock's ch. f. *Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HARUM SCARUM, $5.80, $3.30, $2.90; BO BALLOT, $5.90, $3.20; PAL TO PAL, $3.30.

HARUM SCARUM, restrained off the pace until well settled on the back stretch, reached the leaders with good speed, drew into an easy lead entering the home stretch and held sway thereafter. BO BALLOT, sluggish in the early racing, finished with a rush through the final half mile while securing racing room on the inside. PAL TO PAL, taken up sharply when the break came, entered contention rounding the far turn and, coming to the outside, finished full of run. SHABBY SHOES, stoutly ridden throughout, weakened when put to a drive in the final stages. BLANKET BAY and NARDO were used up in the early racing. MARBURY quit badly.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $400; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:52½. Off at 5:54½. Winner, E. McCuan's b. m. 20,000 CROWD AT GARDEN BOUTS

Golden Gloves Show Is Sell-Out Before Matches Start.

NEW YORK, March 28 (U.P.).—Before a near-record crowd which filled every one of Madison Square's 20,000 seats and overflowed into the aisles, the cream of the Middle West's boxers tonight fought the stars of the East in the fifth annual intercity finals of the Golden Gloves tournament.

The boxing show, staged by the New York Daily News A. A. and the Chicago Tribune A. A., is an intercity meeting of finalists of "Golden Gloves" tourneys staged by each newspaper in its respective city.

The popularity with New York fight fans was indicated by the complete sell-out of tickets long before the bouts got under way.

A unique method of introducing the fighters was used. Instead of being announced from the center of the ring by the referee, each fighter had a spot light thrown on him as the rest of the house was plunged into darkness. His name, weight, &c., were announced through electrical amplifiers and with the last word the ring lights went on and the bell rang.

The attendance was officially announced at 20,841, and receipts were $41,043.

Results:

112-pound class, first string—Louis Salica, New York, defeated Albert Soukop, decision. Second string—Julie Katz, New York, defeated John Balzer, decision.

118-pound class, first string—John DeFoe, New York, defeated Leo Rodak, decision. Second string—Jimmy Martin, New York, defeated John Ginter, decision.

126-pound class, first string—Richard Carter, New York, defeated Joe Roman, decision. Second string—Sedgwick Harvey, New York, defeated Geno Salvatore, decision.

135-pound class—First string, Bill Hogan, New York, defeated Henry Rothier, decision. Second string, Sal Resinol, New York, defeated Dan Neenan, decision.

147-pound class—First string, Johnny Phagan, Chicago, defeated Sam Kanterwitz, decision. Second string, Barney Smith, New York, defeated William Celebron, decision.

Hitting The Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON

"IT all depends on the kind and number of breaks we get," said Reds Megaw in discussing the chances of his Temple pinspillers in the national tournament at Norfolk. "I'm sending two teams down. There are capable men on both, but as I said before, the breaks will decide it."

Reds was reluctant to say anything cheerful about his chances in the tournament, whether they be with the team, with Ollie Pacini in the doubles or in the singles. "You know, I'm kind of superstitious. Just can't help it. I'd hate to say I felt great and expected to set the world on fire and then do a nose dive. You can bowl record-breaking scores or be worse than the worst dub, regardless of how you feel."

Megaw disposed of the query as to how he thought some of the other leading doubles teams would fare with the response, "They all look good. It's really going to be a grind, and the winner will deserve all he gets." He hit the nail on the head that time. Barnes and Askew, Rosenberg and Harrison, Bild and Blakeney, all are formidable and potential champions.

Gene Hargett crashed the headlines at Arcadia last night when he tickled the tenpins for a record-smashing game of 180 in the Men's Federal League. The game failed to save his Commerce Team in its fight to retain the leadership, however, Public Buildings and Parks gaining the odd-game victory. Postoffice rolled high team set, 1,703, to regain its position at the head of the parade. Day Boston, a member of the latter quintet, turned in the highest individual set recorded, 388. Commerce's 634 game was good for another prize.

Mattare's work was outstanding in the Engineering Reproduction League at Arcadia. He lassoed the pins for a game of 116 and set of 324. The Lithos clamped down on the team-game honors with a 517, and the Photos took the set laurels with their 1,479.

Temple is scheduled to meet the Connecticut Blue Ribbons on its home alleys in singles, doubles and team matches. Friday the two clubs drift down to Richmond, where the feud will be continued, and then they leave Saturday for Norfolk and the big stakes.

"Seth" Parker's 159 game and Hyde's 390 set topped the individual scoring in the Typothetae League at Lucky Strike. Columbia Printing's 671 smashed the league team game record, but its 1,743 set was quite a number of pins short of the mark in that classification.

McLure and Crosswhite furnished the highlights in the Men's Agriculture League at Columbia, the former rolling a 145 game and the latter contributing a 346 set. Grain's 574 and Horticulture's 1,579 captured the team laurels.

A chap by the name of Lechlider ran off with the prize money in the Petroleum loop at Columbia by virtue of his 130 game and 358 set. Gulf Refining took the five-man honors with a 573 and 1,601.

A great fight for the individual honors was stirred up in the King Pin Business Men's League last night. Johnny Staley, of Lansburgh, No. 1, started the ball rolling with a 143 game and 377 total for three. "Pop" Logan added a bit of fuel to the fire with a 361 set, and then Pete Giovinini tossed them both into the discard by paddling the pins for a 144 game and 378 set. Well, it only takes one pin.

Joe Pricci was head man as the Rinaldi Tailors turned Barnes Autos over its knee and spanked a three-game win out of the latter at Lucky Strike. Joe rolled a 145 and 392. Schecter's 132 game was best for Barnes.

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 28 (A. P.).—Surviving a bad fourth inning, in which Walter Brown was slugged for seven runs, the New York Yankees today defeated Indianapolis, of the American Association, 12 to 8. The victory was the Yanks' ninth triumph in fourteen games.

After Brown had been driven to the showers in the fourth, Paul Andrews set the Indians down without a run while the Yanks were tying the score in the fourth and going out in front in the sixth frame.

Sam Byrd, subbing for Babe Ruth, led the Yankees' attack with four of their thirteen hits. One of the blows was a triple. Earl Combs and Ben Chapman also came through with timely home runs.

Avon Park, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—Jerome ("Dizzy") Dean, the Cardinals' eccentric right-hand pitching recruit, showed the class which made him the hurling sensation of the Texas League last season when he blanked the House of David Team in the five innings he was on the mound this afternoon. The Cardinals won, 2 to 1.

Dean had his bearded opponents fanning the air as he sent strike after strike over the plate. Starr, who succeeded him, also deserved a shutout, but misplays gave the House of David its only run in the ninth inning.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia Athletics said farewell to Fort Myers and the 1932 training season here by dropping a game to the Boston Braves today. The score was 4 to 2.

It was Connie Mack Day in Fort Myers. The tall leader was escorted in front of a crowded grand stand and presented with a blue dressing gown.

The Braves pounced on Rube Walberg in the ninth inning and kept it up until they had four runs across.

The Athletics started north with several exhibition games on their schedule as they proceed.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 28 (A.P.). Although reinforced with the services of Al Simmons and George Earnshaw, Manager Frank O'Rourke's Yannigans were defeated today by the regular Milwaukee Brewer Team, 8 to 6. Alex Metzler, who registered two more home runs off Earnshaw, gave victory to the regulars with his heavy clouting. Simmons, on leave from the Athletics' camp, contributed two home runs to the Yans.

Dallas, Tex., March 28 (A.P.).—The Dallas Steers spoiled Red Faber's first pitching effort of the training season today, but folded up and took a 9-to-7 beating from the Chicago White Sox.

The dean of American League pitchers used his spitball effectively until the fifth inning when a four-run assault caused Pat Caraway to be called to the rescue. The Sox scored six runs in the seventh to win.

San Francisco, March 28 (A.P.).—New York's Giants got in some healthy batting practice here today in defeating the San Francisco Seals, 22 to 12.

The Giants smacked out 26 hits off the Coast League club pitchers and every one on the team but three late replacements got at least one safety. A 9-run rally in the third inning was one of the highlights. Fred Fitzsimmons, starting hurler for the Giants, lifted a homer over the left field fence with two on in the second.

Eddie Moore, third baseman, and Koenecke, left fielder for the visitors, led the batting attack, the former getting five out of six and Koenecke, four for four.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

ONE of the rarest woods known to man lies hidden deep in the jungles of western Panama. G. Proctor Cooper, forestry expert of Yale University, risked his life penetrating tropical jungles to bring to civilization samples of this precious product of nature.

Before Cooper's daring adventure, there was only one small sample of the wood available—a piece smaller than a cigar. Many were the rumors of a "magic wood," credited by natives with curative powers, but only this mere fragment could be found. It was obtained by a native, who could not explain where he found it.

Across rivers, through almost impenetrable swamps, over mountains, suffering practically every hardship known to the tropics, Cooper pushed on his quest. His job was to find Bloodwood Cacique, pronounced Kayseekey, and even after his pack mules and most of his assistants had been lost, and most of his own energy gone, he continued. He plowed onward and onward, sleeping when he fell in his tracks.

Thousands of logs were overturned and examined in vain. But finally the searcher's trail ended—beside two rotten logs that were on the verge of falling apart.

Underneath the surface of these apparently worthless, worm-eaten logs lay hidden a deep ruby red wood, reflecting a brilliant gold when exposed to the light.

"Kayseekey," which the natives call "magic wood," is thus one of the rarest woods in the world. One of the logs discovered by Cooper was presented to Yale University; the other is on exhibition at the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago.

COMMUNISTS PLAN 2 MORE PARADES, AUTHORITIES LEARN

Justice Agents Say Huge May Day Demonstration Is Projected Here.

TRIALS OF 21 ARRESTED AT EMBASSY ARE BEGUN

Cases Heard Separately on Rumor of Attempts to Start Disorder.

While Washington police courts were busy with the aftermath of the last radical demonstration here, the Communist party and its sympathizers were planning two new parades in the Capital, agents of the Department of Justice and Immigration Bureau told Metropolitan Police yesterday.

A huge May day celebration in Washington is being planned as a protest against the action of police Saturday in breaking up an attempted parade past the Japanese Embassy. In this skirmish between police and the radicals, 21 persons were arrested and one policeman and several of the demonstrators were injured.

The undercover agents said that leaders of the May day demonstration will begin to gather here this week and will make arrangements for a parade either in front of the Capitol or the White House for a group of Eastern college students who will protest against the reception they received in Kentucky when they attempted to visit the Harlan and other troubled mining sections.

2,500 Expected May Day.

About 2,500 are expected to attempt to take part in the May day demonstration.

As Washington police were receiving this information from undercover agents, six members of the Trade Union Unity League went on trial in two branches of Police Court on charges growing out of the battle with police Saturday.

Hearing of testimony in these six cases was completed yesterday, but no final decisions were made pending hearing of all of the 21 under arrest. It was decided to hear all of the cases separately, because of rumors that the defendants would attempt a demonstration in the courtrooms.

Most of those arrested face charges of parading without a permit and disorderly conduct. These cases were heard by Judge Ralph Given. Three entered pleas of not guilty to assault charges when they were arraigned earlier in the United States branch of Police Court. They pleaded not guilty and demanded jury trials when arraigned before Judge Isaac R. Hitt.

Two Still in Hospital.

The trio, Joan Hardy, of Baltimore, and James L. Kennedy and Albert Suskin, both of Philadelphia, were held under $500 bond and their trials were set for April 6.

Ivan Kostrow, who is in Gallinger Hospital nursing wounds he received in the battle, and Ivon Ignatoff, said by Department of Justice agents to be the real leader of the Saturday demonstration, will also be arraigned on assault charges. Both of these men are from Baltimore.

Albert Sylvester, another of the demonstrators, with Kostrow was transferred from a cell in a police precinct station to Gallinger for treatment, it was learned yesterday. Kostrow's wrist was broken and Sylvester has a skull injury.

Those arraigned before Judge Given were the Hardy girl, Suskin, Rose Smith, of Philadelphia, Walter L. Johnson, colored; Mary Grossman, no address, and Dorothy Dare, of Baltimore, all charged with disorderly conduct and parading without a permit.

Validity of Arrests Attacked.

Validity of the arrests was attacked by Charles Ford, defense attorney, on four grounds. He contended police regulations did not make it necessary for each parader to have an individual permit; that the "parade" in this case was not a parade; that regulations governing parades was arbitrary, and that there was no authority in the police to make arrests, because they were not endowed with jurisdiction over the land where the arrests were made.

Judge Given said he wanted to consult authorities before he made known his decision in the case. The trials will be resumed this morning. Those to be arraigned include:

Donald E. Plymouth, Baltimore; Louis Williams, Washington; Walter G. Woods, South Washington, Va.; W. H. Barragoss, Baltimore; Burdett McKinley Brown, Philadelphia; Walter Johnson, Philadelphia; Pete G. Stergion, Charles A. Edward, Elva Grayson, of Baltimore; Stephen J. Ralejezak, of Philadelphia, and Ella Tyler, no address.

Mid City Group Praises Police Handling of Parade

Members of the Police Department and particularly Inspector Thaddeus Bean, Capt. Edward Kelly and Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, were highly commended for the manner in which they handled the demonstration by radicals in front of the Japanese Embassy, in a resolution adopted last night by the Mid City Citizens Association.

The resolution declared that cities should fight back at Communists when groups march into them and violate their laws. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the White House, District Commissioners, the Federation of Citizens' Associations, Secretary of Labor Doak and both Houses of Congress.

Assistant Traffic Director M. O. Eldridge was a guest at the meeting and promised traffic lights at Fourteenth and I streets northwest, Thirteenth and Massachusetts avenue, Twelfth and Massachusetts avenue and possibly Eleventh and Massachusetts avenue. Mr. Eldridge said traffic counts showed lights were needed at these corners.

Gen. Glassford also dropped in on the meeting. He explained the brush with the Communists Saturday and said that the police only did their duty.

The association approved the Capper old-age-pension bill and the new boiler-inspection bill. The proposal to abolish the Public Utilities Commission was strongly disapproved.

Scenes Around City Following 2 Days of Rain and Wind

Post Staff Photos.

The heavy rains Sunday and yesterday contributed many unusual scenes to the Washington picture and also caused some damage in the city. The usually placid waters of Rock Creek are shown whipped into a torrent in the upper left-hand photo. The picture was taken at a point which is usually a ford. In the upper center damage to the new road under Massachusetts avenue in Rock Creek Park is shown. The road has been open only about two weeks. At the upper right are white caps on the Tidal Basin at the outlet point. Lower left, the strong wind supplied plenty of "free wheeling" for these two pretty misses, who set sail around the Lincoln Memorial. Left to right: Jean Shuler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kent Shuler, and Louise M. Erk, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Edmund F. Erk, of Pittsburgh, Pa. At the lower right Park Policeman Frank Kain is inspecting the coupe of Lester McCleary, of 3236 Thirty-eighth street northwest, which the owner was forced to abandon when it became stuck at the Blagden avenue ford. When policemen found it yesterday morning it had been washed 100 feet downstream and had been completely submerged by the rushing waters.

GROUP ASKS RAZING OF AGED BUILDINGS

Georgetown Citizens Would Demolish Structures Between Bridges.

Razing of all buildings south of M street between Key Bridge and Aqueduct Bridge, with the exception of the Francis Scott Key house, was recommended last night by the Georgetown Citizens Association.

The association recommended that this property be converted into a park, and that the Key house be repaired and restored to its original condition. The parks and reservations committee, headed by B. H. Myers, will confer with Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, relative to the recommendations.

Approval was given the proposed merger of street car companies under certain conditions, the details of which are to be presented by the legislative committee at the next meeting. A lively debate was evoked by the presentation of consideration of the proposed old age pension law for the District, and it was tabled for action at the next meeting.

The association favored the bill providing for creation of a joint committee for study of law and government of the District, but opposed any legislation that would give the District suffrage. Satisfaction with the present form of municipal government, and commendation of present District Commissioners was expressed.

Report was made of progress on the new bridge across the canal at K street and Pennsylvania avenue. Complaint was reiterated over the dangerous condition of the Wisconsin avenue hill into Georgetown.

The commissioners will be urged by the association to pave the approach to Calvert street from Wisconsin avenue so that the new Stoddard School may be opened at an early date to relieve congestion at the Eaton and Filmore Schools.

Convicted Slayer Loses in Appeal

Court of Appeals Holds Sentence of Policeman's Slayer Must Stand.

The District Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the conviction of Alfred Scott Aldridge, colored, who was twice convicted of the murder of Policeman Harry J. McDonald. May 6 has been set for his electrocution.

The court said that it was asked to set aside the conviction on the grounds that the trial judge in the District Supreme Court had improperly instructed the jury on probable guilt. The Appellate Court found that there had been no error in this charge. Another error that was cited as a basis for a new trial was the failure of Justice Peyton Gordon, who was the trial justice, to instruct the jurors as to manslaughter.

The Appellate Court said that there was no evidence tending to show that such a charge was necessary and thus, it was held, it was not necessary for the judge to instruct along those lines.

Ascetic Asked To Name Sum For Utica Job

Dr. Frederic Wolter received another offer last night from the same Utica, N. Y., business man who offered him a $600-a-year job to teach in Utica. Dr. Wolter refused the first offer on the grounds of insufficient compensation.

Nathan J. Sonne, Utica jeweler, the maker of the offer, said that if Dr. Wolter will indicate what sort of an offer would induce him to end his hunger strike he and an unnamed Utican might increase the offer of $600. The other Utican, who refuses to divulge his name, said that if he knew more about Dr. Wolter's ability he might place him in a suitable position.

While Dr. Wolter admitted last night to having received $10 a week to read the Bible five hours a day from a Seventh Day Adventist, the church denies any knowledge of such a transaction. Dr. Wolter said the man who is paying him the money is doing so as an individual and not as an official.

In his fifth week of fasting as a protest against unemployment conditions here, the German-born scholar and agnostic was in a much weaker condition last night and had difficulty in talking. If he dies, he says he will ask that he be cremated.

In relating his transaction with the religious worker in regard to the $10 a week, he said that the money was not a salary and that reading the Bible was not a job, but merely an agreement or bargain. He says that he has not touched meat in 25 years and that Seventh Day Adventists are interested in vegetarians.

TRADE GROUP PLANS DRIVE FOR $75,000

Greater National Capital Committee Will Seek Fund to Continue Work.

Plans for an intensive two-week campaign, starting April 4, to raise $75,000 to carry on the work of the Greater National Capital committee of the Washington Board of Trade, were announced last night at the first annual dinner of the committee at the Washington Hotel, which was attended by leading business men of the city.

Robert V. Fleming, president of the Riggs National Bank, pointed to the work accomplished in the first year of the committee's existence as an indication of the probable profit that would be returned for the investment. During the year, Mr. Fleming said $10,000,000 worth of new business has been brought to Washington through the work of the committee in bringing conventions here, contacting tourists and distributing publicity throughout the country.

Fifty-five conventions have been scheduled for the Capital and contact is being made for 200 others, it was shown. Tourist booths of the committee have handled 45,000 visitors, each of whom has been sent a personal letter thanking him for his visit to the Capital.

Frank J. Hogan, local attorney, one of last night's principal speakers, painted a glowing word picture of the sweeping strides of Washington toward the goal of becoming the leading Capital of the world. "Seeing Washington first should drown out the cry of 'see America first,'" he declared.

Other speakers included Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the board of District Commissioners; E. C. Brandenburg, legal adviser of the Board of Trade, and Lloyd C. Wilson, president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. George Plitt presided in the absence of A. C. Case, chairman of the committee, who was called out of town because of illness of a sister in Kansas City.

Banks Again to Receive Community Chest Funds

Washington banks collected $102,767.67 for the Community Chest last year, according to a statement issued yesterday by Andrew G. Landrus, auditor of the Chest. These collections were handled in the same manner that the banks handle payments to the public utilities, the contributor being given a receipt and the money deposited to the credit of the Chest in the collecting bank which sent a duplicate deposit slip to the Chest.

Dr. McCormick Talks on Prisons.

Dr. Austin H. McCormick spoke on the American prison system last night at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club in the Hay-Adams House. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Dr. Perkins to Address Jewish Center.

Dr. Frederick W. Perkins, of the National Universalist Church, will be the guest speaker of the Round Table of the Jewish Community Center tonight at 9 o'clock. "The Americanism of Washington" is the subject to be discussed.

Rains Threaten to Cause Potomac to Leave Banks

Streams in Rock Creek Park 7 Feet Above Normal and Many Benches Are Hurled Into River; Autos Swept From Highways.

Torrential rain that partially inundated roads and fields in the entire area of the Potomac River Basin may cause the river to rise above the seawall at Haines Point if the rain-swollen waters of tributaries meet at high tide flow as they approach the vicinity of Washington today.

Streams in Rock Creek Park yesterday rose to about 7 feet above normal, due to the precipitation. The road in the Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway underneath the arch at Massachusetts avenue was lifted off its foundation by swirling flood waters, and the new Lyons Mill Bridge, forming the bridle path above Q street, was badly damaged. The rising waters carried off a number of park benches from the Rock Creek Park down into the Potomac.

The River and Flood Division of the Weather Bureau is watching a possible shift of wind direction that may heighten the flood menace. Velocity of the storm winds yesterday reached a peak of 49 miles per hour at about 2 p. m. The strength of the high winds caused a number of automobiles to be blown off the roads, and ditched in gullies filled with the rain waters.

The area of the Potomac Basin above Washington that was drenched with more than 2 inches of rainfall measures 11,500 square miles. Houses along the roadway in less elevated districts were vacated as the water level rose into the first floor of the building. No casualties, due to wind or rain have been reported in Washington or in nearby districts.

The damage caused by the recent blizzard and heavy rains will require at least two months to repair, according to Frank T. Gartside, chief of the Park Division of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks. He described the storms as the most destructive in recent years. More than 1,200 trees were killed by the freak winds, and much work will be necessary to take out the tree stumps and haul them away, he said.

A large number of small trees were blown over and will have to be straightened, and drainage systems stopped up in the heavy rains will have to be cleared. Early yesterday the caprice of the wind blew over a tree which slid down a vertical embankment of about 40 feet, and left the tree standing upright in the middle of the roadway above the Q Street Bridge. About one-sixth of the years work will be lost due to the reconstruction program made necessary by storm winds, and rains, according to Gartside.

The emergency work necessitated by the storms will cut the appropriations of park maintenance by about 10 per cent, First Lieut. F. B. Butler, assistant director of Public Buildings and Public Parks said yesterday.

The storm came up from the southwest, according to Weather Bureau officials, and took a northeasterly course passing over Nashville, Washington, Baltimore Philadelphia, New York, and continued toward the St. Lawrence River, where it is expected to reach today. Snow precipitation of from 6 to 13 feet was recorded in cities in the path of the northern trek of the storm. A small snow flurry fell here during the height of the wind and rain.

School officials visited the Hugh M. Brown Junior High School yesterday morning to view the damage done to the building which has remained unoccupied due to the numerous catastrophies that have occurred while the building neared completion. The officials found that District repair shop workmen were tearing up the corridor floor because it had been burst upward for its complete length from the pressure of the rising water. A six-inch flood was in the basement of the school.

Staff and pupils ready to give the school an academic housewarming, numerous delays have prevented the opening, and the Jonah among temples of learning presents an enigma to school officials.

Hoover to Review Flag Day Parade

Will Have Place in Capitol Stand on June 14 as Marchers Pass.

President Hoover yesterday accepted the invitation of Dr. George C. Havenner, executive head of the District Bicentennial committee, to review the Flag Day parade on the night of June 14.

The Chief Executive will sit in the stands which will be erected on the east front of the Capitol. He had previously said that he would review the parade on April 6, which will be part of the ceremonies incident to Army Day.

The Flag Day procession will start at Seventeenth street and Constitution avenue and reach the Capitol at 8 o'clock at night. It will include military and patriotic marching groups and floats from the 48 States.

Tests Will Settle Doubts on Suicide

Glorius' Death Natural; Wife Thought to Have Killed Herself.

Unless blood analyses by the District chemist result in some unforeseen finding, a certificate of suicide will be issued in the death of Mrs. Freda Glorius, who was found dead with her paralyzed husband in their gas-filled home at 1629 Third street Saturday, according to Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald.

It was thought at first that the couple had died together in a suicide pact, but an autopsy showed that the husband, Frank Glorius, had died about twelve hours before Mrs. Glorius succumbed. A certificate of death from natural causes was issued in the husband's case.

Each was apparently between 75 and 80 years old. At one time they were quite wealthy, but recently they were destitute, according to the police.

STAGGER HOUR URGED BY COMMISSIONERS

Letter Says Mail Program Will Greatly Enhance Traffic Problem.

The District Commissioners yesterday raised the moot issue of staggered hours for Federal Government workers as a means of alleviating traffic congestion in Washington.

Transmitting a resolution recently adopted by the traffic advisory council to Edward W. Libbey, chairman of Chief Clerks Association of the Federal Departments, the Commissioners suggested that the organization bring the proposal to the heads of the various Federal departments.

The advisory council in its resolution had recommended that the Commissioners "use their good offices with Federal authorities in an effort to effect some plan for staggering office hours of the Federal departments." The letter of the Commissioners recalled that the council had accumulated statistics to show that 71,693 Federal workers, 8,500 District government workers, and 75,881 nongovernment workers "pass through the central retail district and the adjoining Mall triangle between 8:30 and 9 a. m. and between 4:30 and 5:30 p. m.

ANTI-INJUNCTION LAW INVOKED HERE

Federal Employes Federation Would Dismiss Lawsuit of 13 Members.

The National Federation of Federal Employs yesterday asked the aid of the District Supreme Court in invoking the provisions of the recently enacted anti-injunction law in a motion to dismiss a suit for injunction brought by David R. Glass and twelve other members of the association who last week tried to prevent the association from withdrawing from membership in the American Federation of Labor.

The anti-injunction bill was signed by President Hoover last week. It limits the authority of Federal courts to grant injunctions in labor disputes.

The present case, according to Attorneys William E. Leahy and William J. Hughes, jr., is a labor dispute between employes and an association of employes. It involves the personnel classification bill, for which those who wished the Federation to withdraw from the union were willing to forego their American Federation of Labor affiliations.

The claim is made that the court is without power to force the members to rejoin a labor organization from which they have seceded. Those members who are seeking to drop their membership in the American Federation are doing so because they wish, it was said, to continue their advocacy of the personnel classification bill, which the Federation opposes.

Attorney James S. Easby-Smith charged that the suit to restrain the employes from leaving the Federation is not based upon any grounds that would place jurisdiction within the District Supreme Court, and he asked Justice Jesse M. Adkins to dismiss the move that would nullify the injunction request, which would, if granted, prevent the Government employes from leaving the Federation. Justice Adkins took the motion under advisement.

Epstein Remanded By Coroner's Jury

Baltimorean Is Accused of Killing Wilson in Hijacking Dispute.

A coroner's jury Monday held Henry Epstein, 30, of Baltimore, for action of the grand jury in the fatal shooting of James Wilson, 30, in an argument over liquor last Friday night in an apartment at 225 Maryland avenue northeast.

Epstein, who has been living at 1480 Girard street northwest, surrendered to police through his attorney Sunday night. Detective Sergt. John Dalglish, accompanied by a lawyer, went to Baltimore and questioned Epstein for about an hour. The three then returned to Washington and Epstein was locked up on a charge of murder.

ESTATE TAX HEARING SET TO START TODAY WITH MAPES ABSENT

First of Four District Bills to Increase Revenues Are to Be Discussed.

MEASURE IS DESIGNED TO PRODUCE $750,000

Author Too Busy With House Duties to Attend Session of Senate Group.

Hearings on the proposed estate tax for the District, first of the four Mapes measure for raising $4,000,000 in additional local revenues, will open this afternoon before the Senate District committee, without benefit of testimony from Representative Carl F. Mapes (Republican), Michigan, author of the measure.

Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee, called Representative Mapes yesterday, and invited him "to sit in at the meeting if he liked."

Mr. Mapes said he thought he would be "too busy" in the House to attend.

Will Represent Commission.

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, and William P. Richards, District tax assessor, will represent the Commissioners at the session, and representatives of virtually every interested local civic body will be present.

Although Washington civic groups are almost as one in opposition to the Mapes tax program, the proposed estate tax has incurred less wrath than any of the four proposed taxes.

This measure alone would raise $750,000. But as the Federal Government permits an 80 per cent credit on local estate taxes, it means that virtually $600,000 of this total will be transferred from the Federal Treasury to the District's account, proponents point out.

Hope to Conclude Today.

Senator Capper hopes to conclude hearings today on the estate tax, and take up the proposed auto weight and increased gasoline levies Friday afternoon. From the auto weight tax, $1,500,000 would be raised, and from the gas tax an additional $1,600,000.

The Bureau of Efficiency has submitted reports substantially amending each of the three measures, but has not yet completed hearings on the proposed local income tax, which would yield an increase of $750,000 over the present tax on intangibles, which it replaces. Thomas F. Murphy, assistant chief of the Bureau of Efficiency, will represent that unit at the hearings.

Flour Available for District Needy.

The chapter officials have advised the Commissioners of the District and the director of the Community Chest that flour may be made available from the Government wheat supply if it is thought to be necessary for the needy of the District of Columbia.

Jewelry Worth $1,000 Stolen.

James Brundage, of Indianapolis, Ind., stopping at the Atlas Hotel here, reported to police yesterday that jewelry and watches valued at $1,000 were stolen from his room Saturday. He furnished police with the name of a suspect.
